AWOL CAMPAIGN: ORIGINAL SOUNDTRACK MOVIES IN HUA HIN
Add your name NOW! Go to www.ipetitions.com/petition/English_movies_in_Hua_Hin

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

The petition set up by AWOL to try and persuade Major Cineplex in Hua Hin to have regular screenings of original soundtrack movies has accumulated just less than 400 signatures to date. While this number is indicative of the demand the cinema is failing to supply, it is some way less than was expected, given the estimated 4000 foreigners said to live here as well as the Thai population that lives and visits.

However, even if only the people who have signed visit the cinema an average three times in a year, spending an average 250 baht each, that is still 300,000 baht of revenue being lost to the cinema from them alone. There is, of course, still almost two weeks of the petition to run, so if you haven't signed it yet, or haven't persuaded others to, then maybe if you want the impact of the petition to be greater, and have a greater chance of success, then you should think about doing so soon!

Above: Homer was an outcast when it was discovered he hadn't signed the petition ahead of the Springfield vacation to Hua Hin

Do you really want original soundtrack movies in Hua Hin? Then sign the petition!

Tellyourfriendsandcolleagues! If you are a computer dummy, drop a note into Sabai Bar (see ad p 15) with your name, nationality and whether you live here or not and we will do the rest.

English Speaking Rotary Club coming to Hua Hin?

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

More than 40 people attended an informal gathering at The Lost Café in Khao Takiab on Friday 11th September 2009 in an endeavour to start an English-speaking Rotary Club in Hua Hin.

Members from The Rotary Club of Hua Hin, including District Governor Special Representative Suvit Reanroongruang (below, right) and club President Naht (below, second right) attended the meeting together with several Rotarians from the Rotary Club of Bangkok South.

Bangkok South is Thailand's largest Rotary Club and is one of the few where English is used.

Bangkok South Past President Al Mavro and District Chair Preecha (both above, left and second left respectively) addressed the audience and explained the objectives of Rotary International, followed by a question and answer session.

A number of local residents, both Thai and foreigners, who are interested in piloting the new club also attended. The picture below shows some of them mixing with the Bangkok South Rotarians.

The meeting included a buffet lunch, plenty of relaxing beverages, and an informal gathering with participants discussing the next stage in developing the club.

Rotary International is a worldwide volunteer organization that brings together professional and business people in communities to work voluntarily to assist the needy. The clubs are self-financed by their members' activities and all proceeds are donated in their entirety to their chosen service projects.

The next meeting will be held at noon on Friday 9th October 2009 at The Grand Hotel in Hua Hin for a luncheon. Anybody wishing further information can contact Mike Smith on 084 376 9834 or mikesmiththailand@gmail.com. Thai speakers can contact the Secretary at RC Hua Hin on 032-522500.

AWOL's Birthday Competition

There is now only two days left to enter our birthday competition and the chance to win two tickets worth 3,000 baht to the next Punchline Comedy Club night at Hot Property (see p 9). All issues of AWOL feature a hidden message, and all you have to do is give us the origin of as many of those as possible (who said or sang it plus song title where appropriate) up to the end of August and complete the tiebreaker, "I go AWOL every week because..." in 10 words or less. The most original or humorous answer will be chosen by the staff at AWOL as the winner. Send your entry to awol@huahinmedia.com. The winner will be announced next week. Go to www.huahinafterdark.com/forum/awol-s-first-birthday-competition-t13002.html for details and clues; back issues are available to download from www.huahinmedia.com/awol.

When Karolina Kurkova first appeared on the cover of Vogue at the age of 17 (in 2001) everyone knew she was bound to be a star. Eight years on her magazine cover appearances are at 60 and counting. She is revered as much in the fashion world for her personality, which is described as intense and energetic, as for her looks. This attractive attitude left little doubt that Kurkova would emerge as a legendary supermodel; and she is now destined to be a 'supermum', expecting her first child later this year. Yummy mummy indeed!

Climate change presents a threat to beer

Whether global warming is a man-made phenomenon or part of Earth's natural cycle is a question that needs to be put to one side now. Great brains must focus on the real impact of the global temperature change, especially now that the world's beer supply is under threat.

Scientists in the Czech Republic have announced that the quality of Saaz hops - the variety used specifically to make pilsner lager - has been decreasing in recent years. Climate change in the form of increased air temperature is, the scientists say, the main culprit. According to the New Scientist the team from the good beer?*

 is, how do

Czech Hydrometeorological Institute have used data from the past 60 years to research their study. They looked at weather patterns, crop yield and hop quality to make their findings.

The delicate, bitter taste of pilsner comes from the five per cent of alpha acid found in the best quality Saaz hops. The study found that the level of alpha acids in the hops has fallen by 0.06 per cent since 1954. Models for hop quality predict a larger drop in coming years.

A European Commission report has also indicated that hop-growing regions in eastern Germany and central Slovakia are facing similar problems.

Has the time come to stop the climate change bickering and to focus on what needs to be done to save the planet from running out of beer?

English corner brought to you by huahinreport.com

Have you ever wondered where a certain phrase comes from, or what it really means?

Send your suggestions to us at awol@huahinmedia.com and we will do our best to find the origin of them. Every week we will expand your knowledge of English and its etymology with a different word or saying. This week it is...

Raining cats and dogs

Raining very heavily.

This is an interesting phrase in that, although there's no definitive origin, there is a likely derivation. Before we get to that, let's get some of the fanciful proposed derivations out of the way.

The phrase isn't related to the well-known antipathy between dogs and cats, which is exemplified in the phrase 'fight like cat and dog'. Nor is the phrase in any sense literal, i.e. it doesn't record an incident where cats and dogs fell from the sky. One supposed origin is that the phrase derives from mythology. Dogs and wolves were attendants to Odin, the god of storms, and sailors associated them with rain. Witches, who often took the form of their familiars - cats, are supposed to have ridden the wind. Well, some evidence would be nice. There doesn't appear to be any to support this notion. It has also been suggested that cats and dogs were washed from roofs during heavy weather. This is a widely repeated tale. It got a new lease of life with the e-mail message "Life in the 1500s", which began circulating on the Internet in 1999. This is nonsense of course.

The much more probable source of 'raining cats and dogs' is the prosaic fact that, in the filthy streets of 17th/18th century England, heavy rain would occasionally carry along dead animals and other debris. The animals didn't fall from the sky, but the sight of dead cats and dogs floating by in storms could well have caused the coining of this colourful phrase. Jonathan Swift described such an event in his satirical poem 'A Description of a City Shower', first published in the 1710 collection of the Tatler magazine. We do know that the phrase was in use in a modified form in 1653, when Richard Brome's comedy The City Wit or The Woman Wears the Breeches referred to stormy weather with the line: "It shall raine... Dogs and Polecats".

The first appearance of the currently used version is in Jonathan Swift's A Complete Collection of Polite and Ingenious Conversation in 1738: "I know Sir John will go, though he was sure it would rain cats and dogs".

The fact that Swift had alluded to the streets flowing with dead cats and dogs some years earlier and now used 'rain cats and dogs' explicitly is good evidence that poor sanitation was the source of the phrase as we now use it.

Dec 22 - Jan 19

This week's prediction for your star sign lies somewhere between last week's prediction and next week's. Celestial bodies shift slowly, you know? So do fortunes usually.

Aquarius

Jan 20 - Feb 18

There's not much to say for you this week. This is largely because your fate towards the end of the week depends on what you're doing in the beginning of the week.

Pisces

Feb 19 - Mar 20

Fish, fish... Large fish, small fish, cat fish, and my personal favourite: water fish. Yes, any kind of fish is going to play a large role in your frequent toilet visits come Wednesday night.

Aries

Mar 21 - Apr 19

There is some good news for you this week. True love is foreseen in your future. Whether or not you live long enough to find it, remains to be seen though. This is not the time to let yourself go. Keep to yourself, or it may get you killed.

Taurus

Apr 20 - May 20

Remember last week? It's amazing that you don't even learn the hard way, and go back to the same establishment. Come Sunday night you'll find you tied to a concrete block thrown in a dam-spill canal.

Be happy it's been very dry recently.

Gemini

May 21 - Jun 21

The more you try to avoid it, the faster your fate finds you. So you'd better just do what you do best. And that is split whenever a relationship becomes challenging.

It's time to let your hair down, and show your true colours. Uh, well... On second thought, I'm doing the reading upside down. It should say:

Libra

Sep 23 - Oct 23

The coming week is a good week to go through some massive digital changes. Overhaul your computer thoroughly; I don't mean just emptying the trash, no I mean get rid of your current OS, and install a new one. This will keep you off the street, and prevents you killing a 5 year old boy with your car.

Scorpio

Oct 24 - Nov 21

Your wife of ten years will share with you her happy news; you are going to have a baby soon! However, as you are infertile, this entails quite a bit for your relationship: she'll be moving in with the father some time during these coming 9 months.

Sagittarius

Nov 22 - Dec 21

It's not that Spanky the Monkey hates you or anything. He's quite a loving character actually. This week he's adamant however, that you refrain from sex, drugs and pineapples. Rock and roll shouldn't do any harm.

LITTLE OLD LADY (thanks to Patrice)

A farmer stopped by the local mechanic shop to have his truck fixed. They couldn't do it while he waited, so he said he didn't live far and would just walk home.

On the way home he stopped at the hardware store and bought a bucket and a gallon of paint. He then stopped by the feed store and picked up a couple of chickens and a goose.. However, struggling outside the store he now had a problem - how to carry his entire purchase home.

While he was scratching his head he was approached by a little old lady who told him she was lost.. She asked, "Can you tell me how to get to 1603 Mockingbird Lane ?"

The farmer said, "Well, as a matter of fact, my farm is very close to that house. I would walk you there but I can't carry this lot."

The old lady suggested, "Why don't you put the can of paint in the bucket. Carry the bucket in one hand, put a chicken under each arm and carry the goose in your other hand?"

"Why thank you very much," he said and proceeded to walk the old girl home.

On the way he says "Let's take my short cut and go down this alley. We'll be there in no time."

The little old lady looked him over cautiously then said, "I am a lonely widow without a husband to defend me.. How do I know that when we get in the alley you won't hold me up against the wall, pull up my skirt, and have your way with me?"

The farmer said, "Holy smokes lady! I'm carrying a bucket, a gallon of paint, two chickens, and a goose. How in the world could I possibly hold you up against the wall and do that?"

The old lady replied, "Set the goose down, cover him with the bucket, put the paint on top of the bucket, and I'll hold the chickens."

QUICK WITTED (thanks again to Grahame!)

A man in Tesco's tries to buy half a cauliflower. The very young produce assistant tells him that they sell only whole cauliflowers. The man persists and asks to see the manager. The boy says he'll ask his manager about it. Walking into the back room, the boy said to his manager 'Some prat out there wants to buy half a cauliflower.' As he finished his sentence, he turned to find the man standing right behind him, so he added, 'And this gentleman has kindly offered to buy the other half.'

The manager approved the deal, and the man went on his way. Later the manager said to the boy, 'I was impressed with the way you got yourself out of that situation earlier. We like people who think on their feet here. Where are you from, son?'

'Liverpool , sir,' the boy replied.

'Well, why did you leave Liverpool ?' the manager asked. The boy said, 'Sir, there's nothing but whores and footballers up there.' 'Really?' said the manager. 'My wife is from Liverpool.'

'You're kidding?' replied the boy. 'Who'd she play for?'

■ DEAR MARY,

I have been a fairly high achiever throughout life and have worked hard to prove my capabilities. I have found this somewhat fruitless. I went to university but have failed to start a career and ended up washing dishes in a kitchen. I have little self control and seek the short term fix constantly. I smoke, drink and take drugs and want to stop and I seek constant female attention and I'm not getting any. I am a generally good hearted person who gets taken advantage off because it's almost like I'm frightened of conflict. I am generally unorganized and make no plans for the future and live day to day. I want to change all this; what should I do?.

Gordon, Phuket

Mary says: Dear Gordon,

You're a complete and utter waste of space and the whole world and his mum knows it. Do yourself a favour and just top yourself. You know you want to. But do the dishes first. There's no need to leave the place in a mess, is there?

DEAR MARY,

i am a 22 year old teacher and one of my year 11 boys who is also in my form is always getting detentions with me and i didn't know why he was always in so much trouble until the other day he told during a detention that he wanted to take me into the english supplies room and give me a good shagging he also asked me to give him 'head' i was flattered that he liked me as he is a good looking young boy but if any one found out if we had done the dirty then i would get sacked please help me i don't know what to do?

Honey, Cha Am

Mary says: Dear Honey,

You are a silly young woman who is clearly incapable of handling young boys. I suggest you become a prostitute. Not only will this provide you with the sexual experience you lack, but prevent any more vulnerable children having to put up with a teacher who hasn't a clue how to construct a properly punctuated, grammatically correct English sentence.

Sudoku Hints For Beginners

Look for the obvious. Is there a row, column, or region that has one cell unsolved? If there is you can quickly find the solution. Count from 1 to 9 locating each number in that row, column, or region. The missing number is the solution for that empty cell.

Where do you start? It is better to have a systematic approach to solving Sudoku. A good way to start is by first looking for a number that has the most "givens".

Look for the only possible choice. Sometimes you will encounter the situation where there is only one place a number can possibly go. This is discovered by working systematically through each line and box in turn. Good luck!

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY FOR RESTAURANT/TAVERN OPERATORS

A three storey, three units building located on a main soi to several housing sub-divisions; one of the units is double size.

The Restaurant/Tavern occupies the double unit and has been operating since 2007 with steady positive growth. The core clientele are resident farangs with Thai families, thus the business is not dependent on high season and the tourist trade. The second floor consists of six rooms plus three baths and storage areas. The entire third floor is a two bedroom, two bath townhouse with deck.

The staff are completely trained and capable of total operation. This is a walk-in takeover opportunity for a select investor.

This chanute property is open to sales offers and business proposals.

Please call 083 317 3008 for more information.

Burnley v Sunderland, 18:45

Contrasting fortunes last week for these two, as Burnley were given a harsh wake up while Sunderland crushed Hull. This will be much tighter but we can still see the away side nicking it.

Arsenal v Wigan, 21:00

Last week's defeat will have hurt the Gunners, and we think Wigan, who were slightly fortunate last week, will get a heavy backlash. Home win.

Aston Villa v Portsmouth, 21:00

Villa have been getting results that their performances may not deserve, and the same could be said of Pompey. The same is likely here, with a home win the end result.

Bolton v Stoke, 21:00

Bolton were lucky last week, while Stoke continue to impress. Both will be going for the win here and we think the away side can edge it.

Hull v Birmingham, 21:00

This might be an important game come the end of the season, and both will be looking for three points. Hull's form and confidence is poor, and we think the Blues can take advantage of that to win.

West Ham v Liverpool, 23:30

Traditionally a game that the home side get nothing from, and following a patchy performance last week Zola will be looking for better. Liverpool may be jaded after European action, and we think the Hammers may get a shock win.

Sunday, 20 September 2009

Man Utd v Man City, 19:30

The Manchester derby is teed up nicely with it being 2nd vs 3rd, and promises to be a fascinating game; Tevez (below) will be desperate to start, and we expect him to show Ferguson why he should have used him more last season if he plays. City to claim another Big Four scalp.

Wolves v Fulham, 20:00

Wolves defeat and defensive performance last week does not augur well for them, and Fulham will be on a high after their last gasp win. Not many goals but the away side to grab the points.

Everton v Blackburn, 21:00

Everton played quite well in defeat last week but lack a cutting edge. Blackburn finally scored and played well against Wolves. Again not many goals and we think a draw is most likely.

Chelsea v Tottenham, 22:00

Huge London derby that will test if Spurs really are ready to join the boys at the top. Chelsea have been impressive but derbies are strange animals, and we think it will produce a shock result and an away win.

South Africa Ready To Rumble!

England fans look for suitable venues

■ DURBAN, SOUTH AFRICA

ENGLISH football fans were scouring South African guide books last week as the search began for the best places to fight and urinate. England's emphatic 5-1 victory over Croatia ensured qualification, with pundits predicting the country may finally have a squad that could keep its fans fighting and p*ssing all the way to the final.

Travel writer Tom Logan said: "South Africa is an exciting country with a breathtaking landscape, friendly people and vibrant cities that are just crying out to be covered in broken glass and completely drenched in English urine."

Meanwhile some England fans are using Google Earth to home in on Johannesburg, Durban and Cape

Police training in South Africa

Town, allowing them to quickly home-in on tree-lined squares and other open spaces where they could get a good run at some Dutch people who have been minding their own business.

Stephen Malley, a grade-four bastard from Doncaster, said: "I hope we get Venezuela in our group. I've always wanted to meet someone from Venezuela, compare the finer points of our two cultures and then put the fer in hospital." Roy Hobbs, a veteran public urinator from Grantham said: "Durban looks like it might have a couple of very quaint, colonial-style fighting squares and, according to Lonely Planet, it also has some really lovely antique shops that you can p*ss against."

He added: "Hopefully we'll have time to go on a safari. I want to get as close as I can to South Africa's magnificent wildlife and then smack it in the face with a chair." South African policeman, Dirk DeVeldt, said: "Oi am very glad that England have qualified for the finals. Oi haven't shot someone in the beck for a long, long time."

WAGS Demand £100m To Stay Clear of World Cup

Furious soccer WAGS today slapped a £100million bonus demand on the FA as their price for staying away from next summer's World Cup in South Africa.

In response to Fabio Capello's sex ban at next summer's tournament, a WAG summit was hastily convened in a conference room above Jimmy Choo's shoe emporium. "That Capello's got a fin' cheek", stormed 'uber' WAG Alex Curran. "If I don't get to shag my Stevie twice a day every day, and free times on Saturday morning - he don't score goals an he don't look happy an it all goes pear-shaped", she complained. "Yeah" growled Carly Zucker and Abi Clancy in unison. "We're not having it. At least we will have it - but if we have to get it somewhere else that'll be down to Fabio", they threatened. Infamously dim racist, Danielle Lloyd agreed. "Although I am not currently escorting one of the top players I was planning to be with the girls next summer in order to offer my full support to any of the boys who are early risers and need someone who knew exactly how to relieve the enormous tension in the groin that comes with feeling homesick", she explained.

An FA spokesman read out a list of WAG demands; "Basically, they want £5million each for staying away. Another £1million bonus if England get to the quarter finals. And the same again all the way through. They want loyalty bonuses, add-ons, merchandise tie-ins, signing-on fees, signing-off fees, pension rights and the freehold to a luxury flat in Dubai". When asked if that was all, the spokesman continued: "Victoria Beckham does not wish to be involved in these sordid negotiations. She has E-mailed to explain that she only wants whatever everyone else is getting - but double".
