Ban The Berks!

French example inspires local campaign

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

Following the controversial legal moves in France to outlaw the 'burqa', the full face veil worn by some Muslim women, moves appear to be afoot in Hua Hin to make some new laws here to combat what is seen as a growing problem. However the targets for the proposed law changes are not the veiled Islamic women, and the demands are not for anyone to be uncovered; in fact it is quite the opposite.

The 'Ban The Berks' campaign has been instigated by a group called 'We Hate Overweight Rude EuropeanS' (WHORES), who have long campaigned for European holidaymakers and expats to follow certain modes of behaviour and dress, such as;

- Always wear something to cover the torso;
- Never wear Speedo style swimming trunks;
- Never speak in a voice above 50 decibels;
- Never query the price of a lady drink or bar fine;
- Never wear socks with sandals.

Emboldened by the success in France of the campaign against the veil, WHORES have just issued a new list of demands which include:

- The right to refuse entry to anyone who can't see their toes when standing up straight;
- Anyone who clicks their fingers to get service can lawfully have their bill doubled;
- Claims made by foreigners to have once served in special forces, acted as spies or to have vast wealth to result in an immediate 'ringing of the bell'.

WHORES have also announced that they are planning street campaigns where anyone exhibiting any unwanted behaviour or dress will be kidnapped, drugged and will wake up on stage at the Blue Angel cabaret show. A spokeswoman for the group said, "These foreigners cannot continue in the way they have; they come over here expecting to shag our girls (and boys) while showing absolutely no respect for our customs and culture. Next thing you know they'll be demanding one year money back guarantees for faulty goods! We see ourselves as being on the front line and this is just the thin end of the wedge."

Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Motley crew

An assorted and ill-disciplined group of ne'er do wells.

Since at least the 14th century, 'motley' (with a variety of spellings) has been the name of a type of cloth made from two or more colours and, in later years, the name of clothing made from such cloth. There are several citings of motley in the late 14th century, including this from the Prologue of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales:

"A marchant was there ... In motlee, and hye on hors he sat."

The best-known wearers of motley were jesters or harlequins and the patchwork costume became their standard style of stage dress.

From the 17th century onward, any miscellaneous ragbag of undisciplined ne'er-do-wells might find themselves described as a 'motley crowd', 'motley herd', 'motley assembly' etc. Added to this list, but with no especial significance came 'motley crew'. It may be that this was in reference to the crews of sailing ships, with the 'motley' being used to distinguish between an assortment of types, as distinct from a crew of disciplined and uniformed sailors. The earliest citation that found of 'motley crew' in print certainly refers to sailors. That's in George Anson's Voyage Round the World, 1748:

This ship they resolved, if possible, to carry to Europe... but their great difficulty was to procure a sufficient number of hands to navigate her. They endeavoured to supply this defect by pressing many of the inhabitants of Buenos Ayres, and putting on board besides all the English prisoners then in their custody, together with a number of Portuguese smugglers whom they had taken at different times, and some of the Indians of the country. With this motley crew (all of them except the European Spaniards extremely averse to the voyage) Pizarro set sail from Monte Video.

With the associations of a 'motley crew' with indiscipline and garish costume, what better name for a heavy rock band? Mötley Crüe formed in 1981 and adopted the name. In the fashion of the time, like contemporaries Siouxsie & the Banshees and Enuff Z'nuff, they indulged in a deliberate misspelling. That fashion has passed now, but it's unlikely that their bass player Nikki Sixx will revert to his given name of Frank Carlton Serafino Feranna, Jr.

Kung fu sisters stage combat tournament to find men to date

A pair of deadly kung fu sisters have given traditional dating the chop - to hold a challenge tournament where only the survivors will get the chance to date them.

Marital arts experts Xiao Lin, 22, and little sister Yin, 21, are to stage a three day fighting festival in Foushan, south east China, where only the toughest suitors stand a chance of getting through.

First contestants must show off their archery skills, then they must carry a heavy weight over sharpened bamboo spears, and finally they have to defeat one of the sisters in full contact combat. Only then will contestants earn the right to remove the girls' masks and propose to them.

'They can chose open hand or any weapon they wish but we won't be holding back. If they can't beat us they aren't worthy," explained Lin. 'We tried dating agencies but the men we met were all too weak. We could beat them easily,' said Yin. 'So we went back to ancient ways called Bi Wu Zhao Qin - which was the way warrior princesses would find their men.'

But so far, only a trickle of brave contestants has come forward. 'I'm a very good martial artist - but I'd want to see them with the masks off before I decided if I wanted to fight for them,' said one doubtful suitor.

10 out of 10 for baby's arrival

A baby scored 10 out of 10 as she was born on the 10th second of the 10th minute of the 10th hour of October 10, 2010, it has been reported.

Niamh Bond was not due for another eight weeks when she popped out on Sunday weighing 3lb 7oz at the Good Hope Hospital in Sutton Coldfield, West Midlands. Mum Keelie Hearne, 20, told reporters: "When I looked at the clock and even saw the 10 seconds as well I was gobsmacked."

BOYS IN BLUE

(Thanks to David)

How do you tell the difference between a UK Police Officer, an Australian Police Officer and an American Police Officer?

By posing the following question:

You're walking down a deserted street with your wife and two small children. Suddenly, a dangerous looking man with a huge knife comes around the corner, locks eyes with you, screams obscenities, raises the knife, and charges. You are carrying a Glock .40, and you are an expert shot. You have mere seconds before he reaches you and your family.What do you do?

Answer from a UK Police Officer:

Well, that's not really enough information to answer the question! Does the man look poor or oppressed? Have I ever done anything to him that would inspire him to attack? Could we run away? What does my wife think? What about the kids? Could I possibly swing the gun like a club and knock the knife out of his hand? What does the law say about this situation? Does the Glock have appropriate safety built into it? Why am I carrying a loaded gun anyway and what kind of message does this send to society and to my children? Is it possible he would be happy with just killing me? Does he definitely want to kill me or would he be content just to wound me? If I were to grab his knees and hold on, could my family get away while he was stabbing me? Should I call 9-9-9? Why is this street so deserted? We need to raise taxes, have a paint and weed day and make this a happier, healthier street that would discourage such behaviour. If I raise my gun and he turns and runs away, do I get blamed when he falls over running away, knocks his head and kills himself? If I shoot him, and lose the court case does his family have the opportunity to sue me, cost me my job, my credibility, and will I lose my family home?

Answer from an Australian Police Officer:

BANG !

Answer from an American Police Officer:

BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! click... (sounds of reloading) BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! click. Daughter: "Nice grouping dad, were those the Winchester Silver Tips?"

Your STARS

Capricorn Dec 22 - Jan 19
Love magick is strong in Taurus this week, leading those lucky enough to be born under that sign far, far away from you.

Aquarius Jan 20 – Feb 18
Your death will be painful, but it will give a notorious femme fatale a chance to say "I'm afraid I've always had a rather…sharp tongue."

Pisces Feb 19 – Mar 20
Your life will soon lose all direction, which, considering how it has been going, should come as a vast relief.

Aries Mar 21 – Apr 20
Venus is in retrograde in your sign this week, which you'd think would mean problems in your love life but actually indicates imminent botulism.

Taurus Apr 21 – May 21
Avoid making decisions based on ambiguous advice from questionable sources this week, even if she was in labor with you for 38 hours.

Gemini May 22 – June 21
Change will come to your area when you annoy an air traffic controller who knows your home address on the same day his ex boards a 747 to Maui.

Cancer Jun 22 – Jul 22
You've never been the sort of person who lets all kinds of supposed "signs" tell you how you should drive your car.

Leo Jul 23 – Aug 22
You're starting to think that maybe the funny nose and glasses won't actually be enough to hide you when Jesus returns in all his glory.

Virgo Aug 23 – Sep 22
Sometimes it feels as if your life's long, empty hours are all beginning to blur together, but take heart. There really aren't very many left.

Libra Sep 23 – Oct 23
Although the doctors want to do all they can to help ease your recovery, they cannot legally allow you to make a cool chair out of your severed limbs.

Scorpio Oct 24 – Nov 21
Scorpio is a water sign, with all that implies, but this week it will be much more important for you to pay attention to fire-exit signs.

Sagittarius Nov 22 – Dec 21
You'll continue to be baffled by people who expect you to be their friend and call them just because you have previously said the words "we're friends" and "I'll call you."

■ DEAR MARY

I have been suffering terribly recently because of a lack of sleep which is caused by a recurring strange dream I have been having. I don't know if it is of any relevance, but I own a bar in the Hua Hin area although I don't believe the dream is caused by my excessive alcohol consumption. The dream starts with me walking along a road near the sea, like an old fashioned promenade, with the sun setting over the water. As I am walking along, a tall policeman comes towards me, but he is wearing a very old style British uniform complete with helmet. In one hand he is holding a long straight stick, while in the other he is grasping a large white bird by the neck. He motions for me to follow him, which I do, and he leads me to a small door in a wall and we go through into an explosion of flowers, trees, small streams and ponds. There is one larger pond at the centre of the garden with a smooth green appearance, which we move towards, and as we do ripples start to emanate at the centre of the pond and a hand and then an arm appear out of the water, as I imagine in the legends of King Arthur, but rather than a sword there is a small black circular object being held by the hand. I move even closer to see what it is, and I am just putting my hand in my pocket to get my glasses when the hand throws what turns out to be a black ball, which hits me on the head. It is at this point I always wake up with a thumping headache, unable to sleep again. What do you think is the meaning of this dream Mary?
Bruce, Khao Takiab

Mary says Dear Bruce,
I feel this dream possibly represents a failed relationship where you seemed to have a perfectly good situation that has been somehow soured by the other person, but rather than you breaking up with them, they have beaten you to the punch, which has left you feeling rather unsatisfied, and has made it difficult for you to move on. Or it could be due to your penchant for eating cheese and onion sandwiches before you go to bed.

Fixtures and Predictions
(all times Thailand)
Saturday, 16 October 2010

Arsenal v Birmingham, 21:00
The Gunners have been scoring a lot of goals at home and we don't expect much different here - home win.

Bolton v Stoke, 21:00
On paper an unattractive fixture but there will be plenty of endeavour that we think will end in a draw.

Fulham v Tottenham, 21:00
Draw specialists Fulham will once again look to stymie their opposition and we think these two injury hit sides will draw.

Man Utd v West Brom, 21:00
Surprise package West Brom will be hoping to get something from this game but we can't see them succeeding - home win.

Newcastle v Wigan, 21:00
Wigan have been pretty tight on the road so we have a horrible feeling this will be a goalless draw.

Wolves v West Ham, 21:00
The bottom two battle it out and it will be an interesting game, with the Hammers likely to counter attack at speed after being battered for long periods. Away win.

Aston Villa v Chelsea, 23:30
Villa have been solid at home but this will be a big test for them; there will probably be only one goal in it and we are predicting Villa to get it.

Sunday, 17 October 2010

Everton v Liverpool, 19:30
What a moment for the Merseyside derby, as Liverpool reel from crisis to crisis, and both clubs in the bottom four; we expect stirring stuff and an away win..

Blackpool v Man City, 22:00
A surprisingly tricky match to predict after some great results for the home side. However City, we think, have the quality to win.

Tuesday, 19 October 2010

Blackburn v Sunderland, 02:00
This will be a real thriller, end to end stuff with loads of goals...NOT! Our money is on a dull draw.

Montenegro not even a real place, claims FA

Hopes rise for a win to be awarded to England instead

■ LONDON, ENGLAND

ENGLAND'S football chiefs have declared last night's 0-0 draw null and void after failing to find Montenegro in their 1959 Atlas Of The World.

They have called on UEFA to investigate where last night's team actually came from, amidst fears of a repeat of last year's calamitous tour of SuperMarioLand.

An FA spokesman said: "This is all a ruse by a collection of Eastern European countries to make us look like a bunch of tits.

"'Montenegro' doesn't sound remotely like a real country. It sounds like a Dick Emery character they'd never get away with on television any more."

Suspicions were first raised when team manager Zlato Kranjcar was unable to confirm the correct term for somebody from Montenegro, alternating between 'Montenegrecians' and 'Monte-'N'-words'.

The flag given to Wembley staff

The makers of Gefürtstänner Export will be understandably furious appeared to be the crest from a bottle of German beer and the CD of the national anthem, entitled 'Oj Svijetla Majska Zoro', later turned out to be a Polish copy of the soundtrack to the 1998 film The Mask Of Zorro.

Fabio Capello also feels that England struggled to overpower their opposition as the players were unaware of what racial slurs to mutter at them during corners and free kicks.

He added: "We were unprepared and did not know whether to insult their food, their weather or their implied institutional homosexuality. We were also expecting them all to be black. It will be much easier in our next game against the sheep-raping dwarves."

"Did I just say 'sheep-raping dwarves'?"
