Hua Hin spared as tropical depression hits south

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

A few weeks ago AWOL reported on the heaviest rainfall known in this area for ten years, but this week we can all be thankful for avoiding, and feel great pity for the poor souls who have been battered by, the tropical depression that passed through the southern provinces in the last week.

Millions of baht have been pledged by the Thai Royal Family and other generous donators, plus millions more have already been spent in the rescue work in areas such as Hat Yai (pictured) and Ko Samui, with many areas being without power for many days. Estimates are that 50 billion baht will be needed to repair the roads and other damaged infrastructure in all flood affected areas of Thailand. Thankfully the depression has now passed across Thailand and has been downgraded to a storm, and it must be hoped that no further weather systems follow, to allow the area to recover. Latest figures are that 142 people have died due to the flooding in the last few weeks.

Despite being spared the direct affects of the extreme weather, the indirect affects will make travel and transport to and from the areas tricky for quite a while yet - for example the airport at Ko Samui was still closed at time of writing, and anyone planning a trip down south or up north in the next few days may have to rethink their plans. Bus and train station phone numbers can be found on page 4.

■ PRAGUE, CZECH REPUBLIC

Nude cleaning agency launched by hard-up Czech students

A nude cleaning agency has been set up by a group of Czech students who lost their temp jobs during the credit crunch.

The Crazy Cleaners business in the Czech Republic charges £150 per hour for its services, which include a choice of operatives in their underwear, topless - or full frontal.

Economics student Katka Kopecka explained: 'We needed to find work and couldn't find it so we thought of this.'

'Nobody likes cleaning and everyone likes to look at a good body,' added the 21-year-old, an alumnus of Charles University in Prague.

Don't go presuming the agency offers cleaning services by ladies only, by the way - the firm currently has a mixture of 15 male and female students on its books. And it's emphatically not sexual in tone, as our friend Katka pointed out: 'Quite often the people asking for our services are busy business people who want to relax.

'Watching someone clean your house in underwear is a nice way for them to relax. But this is not a prostitution service, it's just a cleaning service.'

■ COLORADO, USA

Man shoots himself in knee while sleepwalking

Police say Sandford Rothman, an American chap who woke up to 'a bang' and realised he'd incurred a gunshot wound to his knee, is likely to have shot himself while sleepwalking.

The 63-year-old from Boulder, Colorado, told investigators that he had no clear recollection of the incident, which happened when he was alone in his house. According to police, Rothman keeps a 9 mm handgun near his bed and takes prescription medication for pain, but no alcohol or illegal drugs played a role in the shooting.

The nocturnal mishap comes not long after the curious case of the hiker who accidentally shot himself in the bum after putting a handgun in his back pocket.

Having placed the gun there because he thought it would be a more 'comfortable' position than in its holster, 52-year-old Darrel Elam - from Washington's colourfully named Snohomish County - fired a bullet from the .40-caliber weapon down his left buttock and left leg before it came to rest just above his knee.

Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. The dark side

The evil and malevolent aspect of human personality or society, often referred to in a lighthearted or comic context.

The wide adoption of the term 'The Dark Side' certainly came about as a result of the plotline of the 1977 film Star Wars Episode IV: A New Hope, written and directed by George Lucas. In that context, Lucas portrayed the 'dark side' concept as the evil aspect of the the underlying controlling power of the Universe - which he called 'The Force'. The Star Wars series has often been compared with the classic good versus evil metaphors found in earlier Hollywood films. In a parallel with early cowboy films, the film's principal antagonist, a.k.a. the bad guy, was the Dark Jedi Darth Vader. Lucas had other cultural influences to draw on when creating the 'dark side' concept. In the Christian imagery of the mediaeval mind, the 'light' and dark' sides of God' were Heaven and the angels and evil, sin and the Devil respectively. The radical theologian Jacob Bauthumley (a.k.a. Bottomley) wrote about this as early as the 17th century in The light and dark sides of God, 1650: 'Some live in the light side of God, and some in the dark side.'

The enormously successful Pink Floyd album Dark Side of the Moon was released in 1973, just when the Lucas's film was in preparation. That may have influenced the name but what is more likely to have influenced the concept was Jungian psychology's model of the shadow aspect of personality, i.e. the unconscious or 'dark' side of personality. Carl Jung's work Psychological Types was translated into English by H G Bayness and published in 1923: "For the sake of understanding, it is, I think, a good thing to detach the man from his shadow, the unconscious... One sees much in another man which does not belong to his conscious psychology, but which gleams out from his unconscious."

The current use of 'the dark side' in everyday language isn't taken as seriously as Jung, or even Lucas, might have intended it. It has the same linguistic feel as a phrase like 'be afraid, be very afraid', which is never used in circumstances that are actually frightening . Someone might humourously be said to be 'going over to the dark side' if they opt for something that is not a social group's accepted preference - like a Londoner supporting Manchester United, for example.

Your STARS

Capricorn Dec 22 - Jan 19
In a wacky horoscopic mix-up, you'll encounter a mysterious stranger who takes you on a journey over water just as you're trying to start new projects at work.

Aquarius Jan 20 – Feb 18
Keep extra apples and bandages around the house next week, as your lover seems to be going through a William Tell phase.

Pisces Feb 19 – Mar 20
There will be nothing you can do to avert the disaster of next week, although there will be plenty that a reasonably bright and competent person could do.

Aries Mar 21 – Apr 20
Your last hope of finding true and unconditional love ends this week when your ideal mate is executed by the State of Texas for unspeakable crimes against humanity.

Taurus Apr 21 – May 21
This week's revelations will be especially mortifying for you, seeing as how you've been insisting for years that life is not some sort of big pie-eating contest.

Gemini May 22 – June 21
When the moment of truth you've been praying for all these years finally arrives, you'll reject it out of hand rather than admit it's all been the cat's fault.

There's a curry in your future at

Soi 94 S & S
INDIAN RESTAURANT

Eat in or Takeaway 081 455 5298

Cancer Jun 22 – Jul 22
You'll suddenly be torn away from your friends and cast out of the only home you've ever known by the authorities, who will insist your sentence is over and you're free to go.

Leo Jul 23 – Aug 22
Just as you've always suspected, it is in fact a crime to use your particular method of "getting girls."

Virgo Aug 23 – Sep 22
Next week will be a time of magical romance and unending joy for you, thanks to your boundless talent for self-delusion.

Libra Sep 23 – Oct 23
You're going to need a lot of Epsom salts and lip balm this week. No, honestly, you can trust us. This isn't like the time with the horse laxatives.

Scorpio Oct 24 – Nov 21
Someday you may learn that it is indeed possible to take a fun thing too far, but not before next week's experimentation with autoerotic asphyxiation.

Sagittarius Nov 22 – Dec 21
Your inclination towards paranoia and depression surface when you realise a race of alien lizard-people are controlling the world.

Your Problems SOLVED

to Mary Ann Cotton on submissions@awolonline.net

Mary Ann is once again indebted to her 10 year old niece Betsy Jane for stepping into the breach after another ~~booze sodden night at the Hilton~~ one of her turns...

■ DEAR MARY
My girlfriend and I have enjoyed a healthy, active sex life for several months now, but I am still feeling somewhat unsatisfied in the bedroom because we haven't yet fulfilled my ultimate fantasy. Essentially, I would like to dress up as David Cameron, and her as Nick Clegg, and penetrate her vigorously in the rectum while I tell her how I'm going to reduce her shopping budget by a significant percentage. Although I feel it is my right to demand this special favour, I have a sneaking suspicion it might not go down too well. Can you offer any suggestions as to how I persuade her?
Iain, Nakhon Somtam

Dear Iain,
From what I can gather, November the 5th seems to be the one day of the year when you can do bad things and not get a spanked bottom and sent to bed with no supper. When else can you ruin your dad's favourite suit by stuffing it with straw and attaching a sinister pumpkin head, and then roam the streets scrounging money off strangers? Or build a massive scary bonfire and stand about eating hotdogs and watching it burn higher and higher, whereas this is a terrible thing if it's the middle of summer and you and a few friends have 'accidentally' set fire to a pile of mattresses down the old quarry to see how long it takes for the Fire Brigade to turn up? Even Guy Fawkes got a better deal than poor old Osama Bin Laden because he chose November the 5th to try and kill everyone. It's not like we all set off fireworks and eat toffee apples on September the 11th is it? So whatever it is you're planning on doing to your girlfriend, just surprise her with it on November the Fifth, and the chances are you'll get away with it.

Fixtures and Predictions (all times Thailand)

Saturday, 6 November 2010

Bolton v Tottenham, 19:45
The Trotters' lack of a cutting edge in attack let them down last week but will Spurs have another off day after Europe? Draw.

Birmingham v West Ham, 22:00
Both will be hopeful of a win; draw.

Blackburn v Wigan, 22:00
Rovers to edge this one.

Blackpool v Everton, 22:00
Blackpool continue to surprise but Everton are in form - away win.

Fulham v Aston Villa, 22:00
Two hard to beat teams, so a draw.

Man Utd v Wolves, 22:00
Can't see Wolves threatening much - a home win here.

Sunderland v Stoke, 22:00
Last week was a major blip for Bruce's side but a win here.

Sunday, 7 November 2010

Arsenal v Newcastle, 20:30
The 'Toon's style of play may suit Arsenal we think, so a comfortable home win.

West Brom v Man City, 22:00
Last week's defeat may signal an end to the Baggies good start, and City should win here.

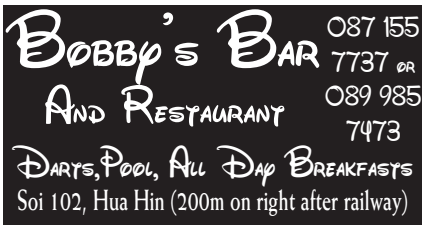
Liverpool v Chelsea, 23:00
The sort of game that could galvanise the slumbering stars of Merseyside, and a shock win.

Wednesday, 10 November 2010

Stoke v Birmingham, 02:45
Almost a local derby; Stoke to nick it.

Tottenham v Sunderland, 03:00
Europe will be out of their system now, so a home win.

kicked off by



Thursday, 11 November 2010

Aston Villa v Blackpool, 02:45
Villa need to pick up home wins and we think they will.

Chelsea v Fulham, 02:45
West London derby; home win.

Newcastle v Blackburn, 02:45
A cold night oop north, thousands of topless Geordie fans = home win.

Some Newcastle fans (apparently)

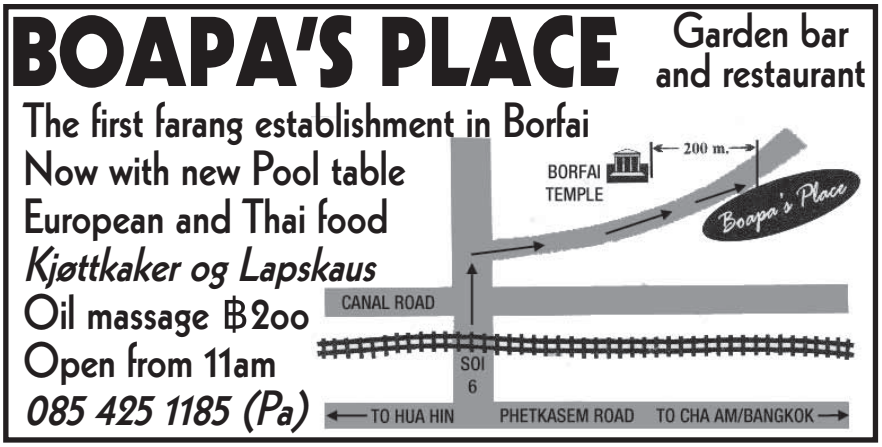
West Ham v West Brom, 02:45
A must win game for the Hammers and we think they will.

Wigan v Liverpool, 02:45
The Liverpool revival rolls on with an away win here.

Everton v Bolton, 03:00
Very tight game but a home win.

Man City v Man Utd, 03:00
This should be a belter in every respect, and hard to predict. Draw.

Wolves v Arsenal, 03:00
Unlikely to be a lot of goals but we still fancy the Gunners to win this.



English Rugby Team Messes Itself

'Bloody colonials' look likely to wipe up

■ LONDON, ENGLAND

After watching an awesome display of powerful, fast, dynamic and highly skillful rugby by the Wallabies and All Blacks last week, English rugby manager Martin Johnson looked less than confident.

Johnson, in fact, had taken on a deathly pallor and was visibly trembling in his size 14 boots. He also appeared to be clenching his buttocks, in an attempt to compensate for a hopelessly overwhelmed anal sphincter. He admitted, "Me and the boys watched the game last night. At half time we collectively shat ourselves. We have to face these bloody colonials over the next few weeks. What the hell are we going to do?"

Johnson went on to say, "We have been concentrating on the basics. We can now, almost, throw a straight ball into the lineout. We have also boosted our fitness so that we can go a whole 60 minutes. I know its an 80 minute game, but we are working up to that".

Meanwhile, it seems the old farts at the RFU are seeking to avoid yet another utterly embarrassing humiliation at the hands of the Aussies and Kiwis. Herbert Araldite, Chairman of the Playing Committee, said "We are in negotiations and may, instead, opt for a game of ping pong, rather than needlessly send England's finest to the slaughter".

Johnson checks the buttock clenching of the English team

Johnson was last seen searching the job section of the London Evening Standard.

Hua Hin rugby fans meanwhile, so often starved of the opportunity to see England humiliated by their Commonwealth cousins, have been boosted by the news that the Lost Cafe in Khao Takiab is in the process of setting up coverage of the games ahead, including the friendly internationals this weekend.
