TIME TRAVEL?

NEW PROPOSAL TO ALTER PROVINCIAL TIME ZONES WOULD MEAN HUA HIN ONE HOUR DIFFERENT TO CHA AM

■ HUA HIN THAILAND

A Thai government 'think tank' has made radical proposals to help with energy saving, fuel conservation and the easing of road congestion in the Kingdom. The most striking of these is a proposal to divide the country into two time zones, north and south, with the dividing line between the two being the border between Phetchaburi and Prachuap Kiri Khan provinces. The northern time zone would continue to operate on the existing 7 hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time, while the southern zone, including Hua Hin, would be an hour ahead of that, placing it in the same world time zone as Kuala Lumpur in Malaysia.

Reaction to the proposal has been mixed; AWOL interviewed tourists and expats on Monday and Tuesday, and the responses ranged from those like expat Alan Foolman, an Australian, who said, 'This is typical of the stupid things governments do, just making jobs for the boys.' to tourist April Ungo, from South Africa, who thought it was a good idea, 'and might even encourage more tourists'.

Thai and foreign business owners who travel regularly between the two provinces are not at all impressed however, and one, Arnold Frikinjok, a Dutch exporter, was almost incandescent with rage, saying 'I will have to change the time on my watch, a very nice one I got in the Night Market, my mobile phone, and the clock in my brand new Mitsubishi Pajero, about five times a day! I have heard of some foolish ideas in my time but this one is right up there with building a nuclear power station in an area that has frequent powerful earthquakes!'

The government, meanwhile, have not made any official comment on the proposals, but sources are suggesting that it is being looked on favourably, mainly due to the fact that it will distract people from a lot of other measures that they want to bring in at the same time.

Ironically enough, this is one meaure that the so-called Red Shirt movement supports, and an unofficial spokesman, who would only give his initials 'A.F' to identify him, said that the reason they supported this was because all the people in the north would be able to see the Manchester United and Liverpool matches an hour earlier than their southern rivals.

If the meaure is adopted, it is not expected to become reality until next year, with a one time clock change in the south taking place at midnight on 1st April 2012, which would of course become 1am.

Do you think this measure should be adopted?
How would it affect you?

BILLY'S LAST JOURNEY

FORMER HUA HIN BAR OWNER FINALLY SUCCUMBS TO HEALTH PROBLEMS; REMEMBERED HERE BY LONG TIME PARTNER MAGS

■ BARTON ENGLAND

"Everyone who knew Billy will realise just how much he loved Thailand.

His first visit to the Land of Smiles was in the 1980's, when he won a holiday for two in a Telegraph newspaper crossword competition, and made the trip which was to change his life with whichever of his wives he was married to at the time!

Born in 1950 and brought up on a farm in East Yorkshire, Billy always worked for himself. In true 'Arthur Daley' style he bought and sold cars, before moving into printing. The businesses were never anything 'flash' - but always profitable enough to indulge his passion for cars, which included a beloved Muscle Mustang.

By 1997 the lure of Thailand had completely taken over. After too many return flights to count Billy finally sold up in the UK and settled at a small bar off Pattayas' Beach Road - 'Tois Place', before moving to the Britannia Bar on Soi Yamato, which he changed to 'Billy and Da Bar'. (Yes - yet another wife!)

His sojourn in Pattaya was happy and busy. He ran fishing trips, and joined in some of the many darts, pool and quiz leagues there but, as is the way of the world, and all too often of Thailand, by 1999 the marriage failed and he moved to Hua Hin.

It was a somewhat 'stick a pin in the map' decision, helped a lot by the fact that a beach resort was essential for the purpose of fishing. Our first bar in Hua Hin was the 'Little England' on Soi Kanjanomai, which was re-named the Hare and Hounds. And it was there in the early days that Billy met so many of the wonderful old - and new - timers who were to become such good friends over the years. It was also where he became renowned for passing on his advice on Thailand in his blunt Yorkshire way. Not all of the advice was positive, far from it in fact, and quite a few new expats must have been reluctant to believe it. Nevertheless it was always honest, well meaning, and based on experience.

There are too many tales from the Hare and Hounds to recount here, but it was fun in those days to run a frankly tatty looking bar with regulars like Peter (Willo) and where Billy celebrated his 50th - almost missing it due to a late morning start to the celebrations.

By the end of 2000 the Hare and Hounds was left to the bulldozers, and we set up The Ship (now the Diamond Bar) on Thanon Poolsuk. Ever the wheeler dealer Billy made a deal with Tim, who had All Nations at the time, and who happened to have a large bar unit surplus to his requirements. The deal involved about 60 bottles of beer. It proved almost impossible to keep track of Tims' consumption rate, and he was probably overpaid on the deal, but in those days there were no hard feelings.

By then Billy had become quite well known for his endless jokes, puzzles and magic tricks - one of which involved an accomplice and a few coins - (which he remembered again just 5 months ago in Chiang Mai and fooled a few backpackers with, much to their delight.) But even Billy had to admit defeat now and then, but when he did it was with good grace - usually signified by silence and a wry smile.

Health problems though were beginning to take their toll at the Ship. He had been poisoned by chemicals in his printing days, and had a badly damaged knee as a result of a motorbike accident when he was 16, which had almost killed him. By the end of 2004 Billy reluctantly agreed that it was time to return to the UK, where extensive tests showed that he had suffered several small strokes.

Expat life often makes people re-assess what is important to them, and Billy no longer wanted the cars and lifestyle he had previously enjoyed in the UK. A (by then) much needed mobility scooter took the place of what would one time have been a Jag, and he was content to save for the much longed for flights, and to have enough for his daily 'pound each way' bets on the horses. He became a devotee of charity shops, often finding books about classic cars, magic tricks, or pristine packs of playing cards. I will never know how some of those card tricks were done, but his thrift paid off and he was able to make two quite lengthy trips back 'home'. First in 2008, and again last year for ten weeks.

His health remained poor but stable until mid March this year when he took a sudden turn for the worse, and deteriorated rapidly. He knew that he didn't have much longer in this world, and didn't want any fuss, but to the end was still doing his puzzles and watching his horses lose. His mantra was 'nothing matters', and it is only now that he is no longer here I realise fully what he meant. Sabai sabai. We arrive on this earth with nothing and we leave it with nothing, save for a lot of love and happy memories.

Chok Dee Billy."

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Peeping Tom

A voyeur. A man who furtively observes naked or sexually active people for his own gratification.

The name comes from the legend of Lady Godiva's naked ride through the streets of Coventry, in order to persuade her husband to alleviate the harsh taxes on the town's poor. The story goes that the townsfolk agreed not to observe Godiva as she passed by, but that Peeping Tom broke that trust and spied on her.
The ride is still commemorated (clothed) in the city each year, but there's no longer any taboo about watching it.
Gleaning the elements of fact from this story isn't straightforward. Lady Godiva was an actual historical figure and is mentioned in various ancient records, including the Domesday survey of 1085. There's some justification to regard her as a patron of the town, although some accounts dispute this. She married Leofric in 1040 and in 1043 she persuaded him to build a Benedictine monastery at Coventry.
This is a translation from a Latin text, written a century or so after the supposed event - the Flores Historiarum, by Roger of Wendover, who died in 1236.

"Ascend," he said, "thy horse naked and pass thus through the city from one end to the other in sight of the people and on thy return thou shalt obtain thy request." Upon which she returned: "And should I be willing to do this, wilt thou give me leave?" "I will," he responded. Then the Countess Godiva, beloved of God, ascended her horse, naked, loosing her long hair which clothed her entire body except her snow white legs, and having performed the journey, seen by none, returned with joy to her husband who, regarding it as a miracle, thereupon granted Coventry a Charter, confirming it with his seal.

Whatever the truth of the ride through the town, there are no accounts of this story which mentioned a 'Peeping Tom' character until the 18th century and that has to been seen as a later invention. Why that embellishment was given to the story isn't clear.
The name 'Peeping Tom' is first recorded in the Coventry city accounts in 1773, recording a new wig and paint for the effigy of Tom the Tailor (which clearly must have existed for some time prior to that).
The first record that alludes to his dubious habits is in Grose's Classical Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, 1796:

"Peeping Tom, a nick name for a curious prying fellow."

Peeping Toms aren't of course restricted to mediaeval times. Towards the end of the 20th century they got a new activity to partake in, or at least a new name was given to an old activity. The term dogging was coined in the UK - meaning 'spying on couples having sex in a car or some other public place'. The meaning of dogging has since modified somewhat to include the practices of engaging in or viewing in sex in public.

■ THE REVEREND WOMEN.A woman's husband had been slipping in and out of a coma for several months, yet she had stayed by his bedside every single day. One day, when he came to, he motioned for her to come nearer. As she sat by him, he whispered, eyes full of tears, "You know what? You have been with me all through the bad times. When I got fired, you were there to support me. When my new business venture failed, you were there. When I got beaten and mugged, you were by my side. When we lost the house, you stayed right here. When my health started failing, you were still right here by my side. You know what?" "What dear?" she asked gently, smiling as her heart began to fill with warmth.

"I think you're a bloody jinx"

■ NEW BABY I went round to my mates house last night.... his wife was sat there with their new born baby. She asked me if Id like to wind it.
I thought that was a bit harsh ..... So I gave it a dead leg instead.

■ SISTERS OF ST FRANCIS A man is driving down a deserted stretch of highway when he notices a sign out of the corner of his eye....It reads:
SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS
HOUSE OF PROSTITUTION
10 MILES
He thinks this is a figment of his imagination and drives on without second thought...Soon he sees another sign which reads:
SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS
HOUSE OF PROSTITUTION
5 MILES
Suddenly he begins to realize that these signs are for real and drives past a third sign saying:
SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS
NEXT RIGHT
His curiosity gets the best of him and he pulls into the drive. On the far side of the parking lot is a stone building with a small sign next to the door reading: SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS
He climbs the steps and rings the bell. The door is answered by a nun in a long black habit who asks, "What may we do for you my son?"
He answers, "I saw your signs along the highway and was interested in possibly doing business...."
"Very well my son. Please follow me."
He is led through many winding passages and is soon quite disoriented. The nun stops at a closed door and tells the man, "Please knock on this door." He does so and another nun in a long habit, holding a tin cup answers the door...
This nun instructs, "Please place $100 in the cup then go through the large wooden door at the end of the hallway." He puts $100 in the cup, eagerly trots down the hall and slips through the door pulling it shut behind him. The door locks, and he finds himself back in the parking lot facing another sign:
GO IN PEACE.
YOU HAVE JUST BEEN SCREWED BY THE SISTERS OF ST. FRANCIS.
SERVES YOU RIGHT, YOU SINNER.

THERE'S A CURRY IN YOUR FUTURE AT S&S

Soi 94 S & S
INDIAN RESTAURANT
Curries from only 75 baht
Eat in or Takeaway 081 455 5298

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

You will be granted an uncommonly long life, though an uncommonly large part of it will be spent getting into bus accidents.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

There will be a brief cease-fire in the age-old war between the sexes as both sides cooperate in hunting you down and trying you for war crimes.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

The flaw in your plan was the part where your accomplice would start a fire, and in the confusion, you would sneak into the philosophy department and finish writing your dissertation.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

It's important, as Kipling said, to treat triumph and disaster both the same, but it seems all you ever get are mild satisfaction and vague disappointment.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

You're trying to live healthier, but you'll continue refusing to give up cigars, since they're still the best way to light the dynamite you throw into children's hospitals.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

You will soon be judged by a jury of your peers, which is a good thing, as people who weren't also self-centered drunken idiots are likely to want you dead.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

You'll ask the tool salesman for a drill press that can bore all the way through a bowling pin the long way, but he'll know what you really want it for.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

You'll be asked to give up your destructive patterns of behaviour by concerned people who love you but don't understand how much fun it is to destroy things.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

The blessed arrival of a baby in your life would be greeted with a lot more joy if you could figure out who mailed it to you.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

Investigators on the scene of the accident will say there was nothing you could have done, unless you count not stomping on the gas and driving straight into the huge tanker truck.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

Someday, people will have healthy, well-adjusted attitudes toward sex, but until then, you can still have it occasionally.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

Your ravenous hunger for human flesh will be quashed when you find out how it's made and how much artificial crap is in it.

■ TEXAS, USA Fat Ho Burgers owner defends controversial name

Fat Ho Burgers might seem to some like an unusual name for a restaurant, but its owner has defended her choice after coming under fire from local businesses.

Lakita Evans is the mastermind behind the burger joint and its unconventional name, and said she had no intention of causing offence.

'It's not calling people a ho. It's just like they say, "Oooh that ho is big," or, "That ho is tight!"' she told Fox News.

Other local business owners don't see it that way and the 23-year-old entrepreneur has come under criticism from the nearby Gospel Cafe, an eatery and bookshop run by religious volunteers.

Pastor Marsha Martie said: 'Would've been nice to think a little more sensitively.'

However, Ms Evans has defended the Fat Ho Cafe, which counts Sloppy Ho Brisket and Supa Dupa Fly Ho with Chz among its specials.

'Look what's going on in Japan. It's like clear this world is not gonna get any better. Why cry and be depressed? The economy is bad. Somebody gotta keep a sense of humour around here,' she said.

■ SHAANXI PROVINCE, CHINA Sheep 'gives birth to dog' on Chinese farm

A sheep gave birth to a dog on a farm in China, claims its owner Liu Naiying, who has had people flocking to see the woolly 'lamb-puppy'.

Liu says he came across the lamb-dog in one of his fields shortly after it was born.

'I was herding the sheep, and saw a sheep licking her newborn lamb on the grassland. The lamb was still wet,' he said. 'When I went up close to check on the lamb I was shocked because it looked so weird, like a cross between a sheep and a dog. I was a bit frightened, as I've been raising sheep for 20 years and had never seen such a creature.'

Though it has wool like a lamb's, the creature's mouth, nose, eyes, paws and tail are most definitely dog-like.

Liu says the creature even plays like a puppy.

Vets, oddly enough, have stepped in and pointed out that it's impossible for a sheep to give birth to a dog, but that hasn't stopped the lamb-dog tourists rocking up to the farm in Fugu County, Shaanxi Province, in their droves.

THE AWOL POOL LADDER

The AWOL Ladder is a new individuals only pool competition which is free to join at www.freeonlineleague.com/myleague/awolpoolladder - you will be contacted when the ladder is ready to start, planned to be when enough players sign up.
The idea of the ladder is to provide all levels of pool players the opportunity to play over a longer period of games than the team leagues allow, thus giving a better chance to both improve and enjoy a longer stint at the table. You will be able to play at a time and place of you and your opponents choosing.
You challenge players above you in the ladder and if you beat them you swap positions (maximum positions above that can be challenged is two). Once the ladder is established a knockout competition will also be introduced.
If you are having any problems accessing or signing on to the website or for more information please email info@awolonline.net. More details next week.

Go to www.freeonlineleague.com/myleague/awolpoolladder to sign up now!

FIXTURES

(all times Thailand)
SATURDAY, 2 APRIL 2011
West Ham v Man Utd, 18:45
Always an intriguing tussle and this is no exception; the Red Devils are still top but only by virtue of their fine home form and their rivals inability to take advantage of their slips away from home. The Hammers are on a vital unbeaten run and their draw at Spurs showed that they can compete with the top teams. They have often put a spanner in Sir Alex's works and we think they may well do again - home win.

Birmingham v Bolton, 21:00
Birmingham need to do something about their league form quickly, but Bolton are not the easiest side to grapple a result from. This is likely to be a bit grim and dour, with the home side desperately wanting to avoid defeat. Draw.

Everton v Aston Villa, 21:00
The performances of the Villa players on England duty this week seems to indicate that Villa's problems are not with the quality of the squad, but their reaction to their manager. Everton looked in trouble a couple of months ago but Moyes has steered them into a shout of European qualification. We think another home win.

Newcastle v Wolverhampton, 21:00
Despite the seven places separating them, these two sides are pretty evenly matched; however the home side will likely be the more relaxed as they are all but safe. Wolves have been picking up some good results though, but we are still picking the Geordies to win.

Stoke v Chelsea, 21:00
Not many teams enjoy visits to the Brittania Stadium, but Chelsea are on a strong run and will fancy getting all the points. Stoke are a physical side and do have some quality but we have to go for an away win here.

West Brom v Liverpool, 21:00
This is a fixture that could well sum up the season, as these two teams are very unpredictable. WBA are capable of beating Liverpool but it depends on which versions of both sides turn up. We've stuck a pin in and come up with an away win.

Wigan v Tottenham, 21:00
Spurs will have been irritated at their goalless draw last time out and we suspect that Wigan are going to bear the brunt of that irritation. Convincing away win.

Arsenal v Blackburn, 23:30
Arsenal have missed so many chances to reduce Man Utd's lead that it is beginning to look like another trophyless season for them. They will not have given up though and we expect them to turn it on here with a solid win.

SUNDAY, 3 APRIL 2011
Fulham v Blackpool, 19:30
A win for Fulham here should just about end any lingering relegation worries they might have, while Blackpool would be in deep doo-doo. A draw will not do for either and we think that is on the cards.

Man City v Sunderland, 22:00
City have not been in great form and have missed Tevez badly when he hasn't played. It is not clear if he will be available for this one - if he is we expect a home win, if he is not this is likely to be a draw.

BOYCOTT TO OPEN THERAPY CENTRE

MEN ONLY CLINIC TO TEACH PATIENTS HOW TO BE LIKE A YORKSHIREMAN

■ YORKSHIRE, ENGLAND

GEOFF Boycott is to open Yorkshire's largest psychotherapy clinic, with a pledge to cure a patient every eight seconds.

Treatments will include sock-pulling-up lessons and an automated face-slapping machine that will simultaneously shake patients by the shoulders while buying them a pint of bitter.

Boycott said: "You might be an absolute bloody disgrace of a man right now, but I promise I can stop you from crying like some old grannie and do it with my eyes shut.

"Before you know it, you'll be burying all those useless feelings under a steady diet of alcohol and bluster about car maintenance.

"I'm no psychiatrist, as every scrap of evidence clearly points to, but I do know that there's nothing that can't be cured by taking the dog for a walk while somebody tells you to pack it in because you're a damned embarrassment to the game."

Boycott and his patented Pull-Yourself-Together Hat

The Geoffrey Boycott Depansification Clinic will not treat women because who really wants to listen to some bloody female going on about her emotional void and her dodgy waterworks?

But psychiatrist Dr Nikki Hollis said: "Boycott should try to understand that not everybody is from Yorkshire and as such may not have an unshakeable and wholly unjustified belief in their own brilliance.

"Most humans are prey to bouts of introspection and self-doubt rather than loudly telling anybody who'll listen that they come from the greatest piece of land on the planet and that therefore, by some inexplicable transitive property, they are also unquestionably superb.

"Depression is a complex and debilitating illness that sometimes requires therapy and medication rather than simply grinding out an unbeaten 152 against Worcestershire."
