GOING FOR A SONG

BARS HIT FOR THOUSANDS OF BAHT AGAIN BY 'MUSIC POLICE'

■ HUA HIN THAILAND

It was only a matter of time before this subject hit the AWOL front page again, and as disappointed as we are at having to report it once more, we will continue to highlight what most bar owners are calling a scam until this perennial persecution ends.

Over the last few weeks, and most notably last weekend, bars in Soi 102 and Khao Takiab have been visited by a group of about five or six Thais, mostly male but with one female also reported; they have been entering bars claiming to be police and attempt to seize equipment such as laptop computers which they say are playing music illegally in the premises.

AWOL has had reports from three bars of this, and in two of them large amounts of money were demanded, and paid, for the items to be returned and for the bar, and it's staff (who feel intimidated by the manner of these raids and the frequent threats that they will go to jail) to be left alone.

No warrants or identification are presented, and if they are asked for, as in one case, the scene turns ugly, and one bar owner was assaulted; however he then used reasonable force to eject these unidentified 'officers', as was his legal right. This particular raid was also apparently filmed by a security camera. The entry and search of a premises, and the seizure of items from that premises are illegal unless the people carrying out such actions are in possession of a warrant signed by a judge and present it and identification when asked.

The way these raids occur have the hallmarks of organised crime, but no one in this community knows who these people are, or what they can do when faced with this situation. While most agree that they should be challenged, when confronted by this mob it is not so easy. AWOL hopes this is the last time we hear of it, but fear it is not. Be warned.

Return Bar is one of only a few bars in Hua Hin that has a full size (9 feet) pool table, as well as a more standard size table for the pool hackers amongst us!
They have a team entered in the Hua Hin Pool Billiards League which plays every Friday (see page 24 for current standings, results and fixtures) and new players are always welcome.
Open every day from late afternoon, Return Bar is a great place to relax away from the hassles of the town centre, and somewhere you will find yourself coming again and again!

WEBB'S WINING

FROM THE PEN OF LORD WEBB

The Lord Webb
Bar & Restaurant
089 049 2141 (Tui)
or 089 548 8003 (Robert)

Once again welcome to this new and occasionally informative section about wine, written for AWOL (the thinking man's guide to alcoholism). For this third edition some more entries from the Dictionary of Wine.

First, a pick up line for a wine bar: "Hi! Would you like to corkscrew?" or "wine drinkers make grape lovers"!

From where we left off last time....
Balloon: A device for filling with Brandy, which your partner steals for flower arrangements.

BBQ Red: A robust purply red liquid which should not damage the top of the BBQ but of sufficient corrosive power to marry with the gristle of the carbonated chops and sausages.

Baume: Not to be confused with Beaune, the region. One degree is equivalent to 1.8 percent of sugar. You hope that your loved one will be at least 55.5% baume before the end of the evening.

Wine is like opera. You can enjoy it even if you don't understand it!!

Beads: The bubbles in a glass of wine, especially Champagne. Educated wine snobs always refer to them as beads; Bubbles is the name of the bargirl.

Beaujolais: A public relations exercise by the French. They had a race every year (and may still do) to get the first Beaujolais on to the tables of London, San Francisco, Sydney and New York. It's the one chance to produce your wine which is infinitely younger than your girlfriend.

Women's T-Shirts
Nice Rack.
Kiss My Glass.
Pick me, Squeeze me, Make me Wine

Bin: Back in the "Good old days" of civilized, pre-discount times, a bin was a dark cool area where one kept one's classic wines. Now it's a cardboard box where the wine merchant has halved the price of the junk he hasn't been able to sell for two years.

Samuel Johnson
"One of the disadvantages of wine is that it makes people mistake words for thoughts".

And so until next time. Au Revoir!

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Run rings around
To easily outrun or outclass and opponent.
'Running rings around' originated as an English hunting term. It was used by fox-hunters but more often by those indulging in hare-coursing, which is now banned in the UK. The circling runs made by the hare in its attempts to outrun the chasing greyhounds were called rings. The first person to refer in print to rings with that meaning was the Member of Parliament for Ipswich, William Churchill, in 1717:
"Hunt circling Hares, or wily Foxes chase, Their mazy Rings, and fly Meanders trace."
'Running rings' came a little later. The first example found of the expression in print is in the hunting text Stable Talk and Table Talk, Charles Brindley, 1846:
"Was it a bad scenting country, or were foxes scarce?" He said, "Neither: but the foxes were apt to run rings."
'Running rings around' is found later again, in the 1875 Coursing Calendar: Ace-of-Trumps was immensely her superior, making rings round her, and winning all one way.
The figurative use of the phrase, which refers to people being outwitted or outclassed rather than outrun, began being used in the late 19th century. Several of these early uses come from Australia and New Zealand. For example, this piece from the New Zealand newspaper The Waikato Times, November 1880: Failing Mr Clark's acceptance of the invitation to become a candidate [for election as Mayor], there are several other well-known citizens who could "run rings" around Mr Larkins.
The alternative form of the expression is 'run circles around', which came into being later again, around the turn of the 20th century. This form is entirely disassociated from the source hunting context and was coined in the USA and is still used there, whereas most other English-speaking countries prefer the original ;run rings' version. An example of it is found in the New York newspaper The Syracuse Standard, July 1897:
The speedy Herreshoff flyer... could run circles around any of the craft running between Clayton and the Bay.

■ BIKER A biker went to a bar and ordered a drink. As he sat sipping his whiskey, a young lady sat down next to him. She turned to the biker and asked, "Are you a real biker?" He replied, "Well, I've spent my whole life on Harleys. My momma was pregnant with me when she rode on the back of my Daddy's Harley, then as a little boy I rode on the back with my Daddy until I finally got my own Harley. I've been riding a Harley ever since. So yes, I guess I am a real biker."
She said, "I'm a lesbian. I spend my whole day thinking about women. As soon as I get up in the morning, I think about women; when I shower, watch TV, eat, whatever, everything seems to make me think of women." Then she got up and left.
The biker was thinking about what just happened when a man sat down next to the biker and asked, "Are you a real biker?"
He replied, "I always thought I was, but I just found out I'm a lesbian."

■ YELLOW 24 A man goes to the doctors feeling a little ill. The doctor checks him over and says, "Sorry, I have some bad news, you have Yellow 24, a really nasty virus. It's called Yellow 24 because it turns your blood yellow and you usually only have 24 hours to live. There's no known cure so just go home and enjoy your final precious moments on earth."
So he trudges home to his wife and breaks the news. Distraught, she asks him to go to the bingo with her that evening as he's never been there with her before.
They arrive at the bingo and with his first card he gets four corners and wins £35. Then, with the same card, he gets a line and wins £320. Then he gets the full house and wins £1000. The national grid comes up and he wins that too getting £380,000.
The bingo caller gets him up on stage and says, "Son, I've been here 20 years and I've never seen anyone win four corners, a line, the full house and the national grid on the same card. You must be the luckiest man on Earth!"
"Lucky?" he screamed. "Lucky? I'll have you know I've got Yellow 24."
"Stone me," says the bingo caller. "You've won the raffle as well."

Thanks to Jimmy!

■ CLOSE SHAVE A man enters a barbershop for a shave. While the barber is foaming him up, he mentions the problems he has getting a close shave around the cheeks. "I have just the thing," says the barber, taking a small wooden ball from a nearby drawer. "Just place this between your cheek and gum."
The man places the ball in his mouth and the barber proceeds with the closest shave the man has ever experienced. After a few strokes the client asks, "What if I swallow it?"
"No problem," says the barber. "Just bring it back tomorrow like everyone else does."

YOURSTARS

THERE'S A CURRY IN YOUR FUTURE AT S&S

Soi 94 S & S
INDIAN RESTAURANT
Curries from only 75 baht
Eat in or Takeaway 081 455 5298

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

You really hate it when people say "let's get out of here" in disaster movies, which is hypocritical given how it's usually the first thing out of your own mouth during a disaster.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

The stars apologize for the lack of detail in last week's horoscope about being seduced by a tall, dark stranger, but you must admit you had never seen that horse before.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

You'll have a hard time finding inner peace, but frankly, you're snorting so much large-animal tranquilizer the stars figure you don't really care.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

Sometimes the exact right thing falls right out of the sky and hits you between the eyes, which will be the case next week after the bowling-ball plant upwind from you explodes.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

You'll worry about your mental health when your dog suddenly begins speaking to you in a commanding voice, but all it seems to want is food, water, and the occasional walk.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

You'll set off on an unnerving romantic adventure with a new partner who shares your unhealthy interests and reflects all the things you like least about yourself.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

Soon you will reach the halfway point of your life, allowing you to look back on past triumphs as well as forward to the time when you'll be old enough to legally buy alcohol.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

They'll say you died of a broken heart, but that's only because no one wants to explain autoerotic asphyxiation to your poor mother.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Demanding excellence from yourself and your colleagues is not enough. Demand excellence from yourself and excellence, cash, and valuables from your colleagues.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

Everything will go just fine next week except for the part with the truckload of carpet tacks, which doesn't really come when you'd think the part with the truckload of carpet tacks would.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

It's true that just one more cookie won't hurt, as the volcanic activity that will soon render all your earthly concerns irrelevant has been building up for months now.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

You'll have difficulty making yourself understood next week, and for quite a while, even though the people who found you frozen in that block of ice are extremely intelligent scientists.

UPCOMING

Yale Whiffenpoofs at Vic Hua Hin on Sunday, 26. June 2011, 7.30 pm
Each year 14 of the finest male singers in Yale's senior class are chosen to be members of the Whiffenpoofs, the world's oldest and best-known a cappella group. Over 100 years after the group's founding in 1909, the Whiffenpoofs esteem their proud tradition of outstanding musicianship and exceptional entertainment. Each year, the "Whiffs" perform over 200 concerts worldwide at a wide range of venues and their diverse repertoire which includes everything from Yale songs to contemporary pop and jazz favorites—guarantee a dynamic and exciting performance for any audience.
This performance is supported by the United States Embassy Bangkok. Tickets for 900, 700 and 500 Baht (students 50% discount) are available at Vic Hua Hin: 032-827-814 to 815.

■ CHIANG MAI, THAILAND Thai chef claims record for dipping his bare hands into boiling hot cooking oil

Meet Kann Trichan, the Thai chef who can dip his hands into a pot of boiling hot cooking oil and escape without harm every time.

Mr Trichan from Chiang Mai in Thailand is a deep fried chicken specialist with a hands on approach that in no way conforms to health and safety regulations.

None-the-less, 50-year-old Mr Trichan, who regularly forgets his cooking utensils, can dip his hands into a boiling hot wok of oil and bizarrely suffer no blisters or burning whatsoever.

It's party trick that has even earned him a Guinness World Record for pulling 20 pieces of chicken out of 480 degree oil in a minute.

Mr Trichan discovered his talent seven years ago when he was splashed with searing hot oil after a feasting squirrel knocked a mango into his frying wok.

'The fat flew everywhere, all over my head, arms, hands. It should have seriously hurt me,' he said about the initial oil bath. I remember looking in the mirror, expecting to see blisters and red blotches, but there was nothing. Now I can fry rice, chicken, and many things with just my bare hands. When I put my hands into the oil it feels hot but it doesn't burn or blister my skin.'

Scooping his deep fried delicacies out from the wok has earned Mr Trinchan world-wide acclaim and people travel far and wide to visit his food stall which lies near the Chiang Mai technical college, 470 miles north of Bangkok.

'The people were loving it. They've never seen anything like it before,' he said. 'People were coming from all over just to buy my chicken and watch me spoon it out with hands. It's crazy, but my stall gets busier and busier every day with tourists and customers wanting to see me.'

KHAO TAKIAB GOLF SOCIETY

Dear AWOL, Over recent weeks the society has had a lot of fun with one of our members who recently had his knee replaced. He has been searching (without success) for sympathy. He has asked repeatedly for a special handicap during his recuperation, so the committee met over many beers in BOB & NOKS and voted to allow it, but he must wear a skirt and play off the ladies tee.
He had the operation in India of all places, and to get a visa his long suffering wife had to go as a 'carer', which she did very well; last week he asked her to make him a cup of tea to which she replied 'we are not in India now and the visa ran out weeks ago so make your own'. He has been a member of the society for several years and with his dulcet Scottish tone and songs of yesteryear you would lose him in thick fog. He knows who he is and I would just like to say we all enjoy the crack that we have when he is around.
yours Bob from BOB & NOKS Khao Takiap Golf Society. For anyone wanting to play enjoyable golf with sociable guys please contact Bob at the bar opposite Ban Sansook Khao Takiab, after 4pm most days.

UN INTERVENES IN FIFA FIASCO

RESOLUTION PASSED TO USE 'ALL NECESSARY MEASURES' TO BRING DEMOCRACY TO FIFA

■ ZURICH, SWITZERLAND

The UN has stepped into the crisis at FIFA by backing a resolution to use 'all necessary measures' to bring democracy to the world governing body.

Security Council Resolution 1982 was passed with a 13-0 vote in favour with only two countries, Russia and Qatar, abstaining.

A spokesperson for the UN said, "This is about bringing free and open elections to FIFA. For too long it has been run as a one-party dictatorship with no real choice being offered to the voters. It is absolutely not about regime change."

The chairman of the FA said, "It is absolutely about regime change. The problem is Sepp Blatter and until he's gone there's no hope of changing FIFA for the better."

He issued these comments from the standard British UN position of hiding behind the US delegate while shaking his fist angrily.

Despite the announcement, it is not yet clear what form these UN measures will take, or when they are to begin.

However, it is expected that countries will soon escalate from their current policy of 'being all nice to Mr. Blatter's face hoping they'll get what they want then saying nasty things behind his back when they don't'.

Blatter stands defiantly in a staring contest with the chairman of the English FA

This all follows the desperate moves made by Blatter this week to restore credibility to both himself and FIFA, by drafting in a 'council of wisdom', comprising of Henry Kissinger, Placido Domingo and Johann Cruyff. Apparently Billy The Fish was also approached but declined the offer as he was too busy training with Fulchester United F.C. Plus he said it was all a bit too fishy for his liking.

There are two possibilities currently being discussed as to what the next steps are. One is to enforce a 'no-fly privileges' for FIFA executive members by revoking their gold membership status for all major international airlines.

The other is to insist on playing 'You've got to pick a pocket or two' from the musical Oliver! every time Sepp Blatter walks on stage.

A defiant Mr. Blatter promised to fight on and he released a statement that said, "Sure I'm the only person you can vote for, but if I didn't stand again you'd have nobody to vote for and that's not very democratic is it?"

Mr. Blatter insisted that nothing should be read into the fact he now wears full military uniform for all public appearances and that giant 100 metre high statues of him that have been erected around Zurich.

Kissinger (above right) gets the Russian contribution and uses his own special diplomacy to ease tensions within world 'soccer'
