IT'S A RIOT IN HUA HIN - FOR ALL THE RIGHT REASONS

HUA HIN, THAILAND

Few can have escaped the news of riots and looting on the streets of UK cities and towns this week, but thankfully most of you reading this (with the honourable exception of our dedicated online readers) have already escaped the problems that are cropping up all over the rest of the world, and will be able to enjoy a riot of your own with the events and activities ongoing or coming soon to Hua Hin.

Currently there is the Golf Festival of course, in it's tenth year with ten courses offering 800 baht green fees until the end of September; also celebrating it's tenth anniversary is the King's Cup Elephant Polo which celebrates a decade by returning to Hua Hin after a three year hiatus in Chiang Rai, and this is taking place at the Anantara Resort from Monday 4th to Monday 11th September; with a 3,000-seat stadium being built and the games free of charge for everyone, this year's event promises to be the biggest ever.

Squeezed in between these two in the last weekend of August (Friday 26th and Saturday 27th) we have the world renowned Hua Hin Jazz Festival bringing 'Jazz On The Beach' also for the tenth time, although for the first time in August. Planning for this year's event has been disrupted by a number of things, not least the Thai General Election, but thousands will flock to the town to soak up the sun, sea, sand and sax.

AWOL is producing a Jazz Festival Special Edition for the occasion which will have all the essential information plus the usual AWOL twist; if you want to advertise in this issue get in touch with us soon as space is running out fast - email sales@awolonline.net or call us on 081 649 8361 to book your spot. Deadline for bookings is Friday 19th August. Please note that this issue will be in addition to our regular Friday paper and will have a much larger than normal print run.

JUSTICE

MURDERER OF ALLEN QUICKE SENTENCED

■ PRACHUAP KHIRI KHAN, THAILAND

Allen Quicke was the editor in chief of Asia Times Online and was brutally murdered a year ago. On 9th August 2011 it was announced by the Prachuap Khiri Khan Court that the accused, Mr Ake-pot Kaewpeng, did not lodge an appeal prior to the extended deadline of 5 August 2011 and consequently the case is now considered finalised.

Kaewpeng was found guilty on all charges: Murder, theft at night and theft with an act of violence. He has been sentenced to life imprisonment, reduced from the death penalty taking into account his acceptance of the charges. He was arrested on 21 August 2010 and is currently still remanded in Prachuap Khiri Khan Prison.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Walk the walk
Back up one's talk with action.
'Walk the walk' is almost always said in combination with 'talk the talk', for example, "if you're going to talk the talk, you've got to walk the walk", or "walk it like you talk it". This is a 20th century American alternative to various old sayings which epitomise the notion that 'talk is cheap', for example 'actions speak louder than words' and 'practice what you preach'. The context for the use of any of these expressions is in response to what is seen as empty boasting. People who are accused of such are said (in the USA) to 'talk a good game' or (in the UK) to be 'all mouth and no trousers'.
The disdain that unproductive bragging is held in was carried a little further by no less authors than George Bernard Shaw and Shakespeare. They both implied that 'talking' was itself an ineffectual alternative to 'walking'. In Man and Superman, 1903, George Bernard Shaw suggested that:
"He who can, does. He who cannot, teaches."
Shakespeare's Richard III, 1594, includes the character known simply as 'The First Murderer' - clearly not a man to be trifled with:
Fear not, my lord, we will not stand to prate;
Talkers are no good doers: be assured
We come to use our hands and not our tongues.
Benjamin Franklin is reputed to have coined the proverbial saying "Well done is better than well said". While that phrase is certainly in Franklin's style, there appears to be no hard evidence to link him to this phrase. The earliest usage that can be actually verified is a citation from the Ohio newspaper The Mansfield News, June 1921:
"Although he has no gilded medals upon his bosom, Howard Herring of the North American Watch company, walks the walk, and talks the talk, of a hero today."
More recently, and especially in the UK, where 'walk the walk' has never caught on, the phrase is sometimes condensed to 'walk the talk'. This appears to have derived in the UK as a simple mishearing of the American original. The earliest example of it that is found in print is in an article in The Times (London), from May 1993. This came in an interview with Gordon Roddick, co-founder of The Body Shop cosmetics chain:
"Some of the less friendly observers have determined that we will abandon our principles and reveal ourselves as shallow cynical exploiters. We must disappoint them... quite simply put, we walk our talk."
An even more recent term, 'walk and talk' has been coined for a storytelling device which has been widely used in US television dramas, like The West Wing and ER. It is a tracking shot of a primary character who is approached by various underlings in order to obtain a rushed 'on the hoof' conversation. Usually filmed using the rather inappropriately named 'Steadicam', the scenes are intended to make the exchange more visually interesting and to imply the busyness and importance of the main character.

■ UK RIOTS

I heard one Conservative MP on the radio today blaming Blackberrys for organising this trouble in London.
I thought he should be a little more careful, using racist language like that.

One of the rioters threw a brick through our kitchen window and hit my wife on the head, knocking her out. I ran outside and chased him down. I dragged him back to the house and pointed to my bloodied wife in a heap on the floor.
I pulled out a knife and said, "It's time to face the consequences of your actions."
Shaking, he said, "What are you going to do?"
"Me?" I replied, handing him the knife. "I'm not going to do anything. YOU'RE going to finish making my sandwich."

I can't believe what's going on in London! Is it real?! I'm still in shock!
Arsenal have signed an English player?!

London riots, Kenny Dalglish at Liverpool, Tory government ruining the nation with massive cuts - we just need the Specials at Number 1 in the charts and my kids can grow up in the eighties just like I did!

Apparently Spurs have signed a new striker, a local lad with Italian roots. Harry is claiming it is a steal, pinched from under the eyes of Juventus scouts.
His name is Grabatelli.

After rioters loot and destroy Carpet Right, Police say Tottenham now has Rug Dealers on every corner.

Following the uprising in London, Colonel Gaddafi has today declared the rioters as the official government of Great Britain.

So there I was, throwing things at police, destroying cars and robbing shops.
Then I stopped playing Grand Theft Auto and went to work.

I'm a glass half full kind of person. I always wanted to own my own home in London and now finally I can afford a mortgage on a nice little place in Tottenham.

I was thinking of somewhere safe to hide in London, somewhere with nothing valuable worth stealing, nothing new and shiny that will attract anyones attention. I found the perfect place, and at least the Arsenal trophy room is warm.

Police in Manchester say the looters are not from Manchester. Must be United fans then.

I was driving through Liverpool and it was awful. Youths threw bricks at my windows, tried to steal my tyres, I saw several people looting from a electrical shop and gangs of hoodies roamed the streets, looking for people to mug.

God knows what it will be like now that there's riots.

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

In retrospect, you should have paid more attention to the obvious warning signs, which were of course placed there by the Department of Transportation for just that purpose.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

After fooling yourself for so long you've lost track of your sense of identity, your joy in life, and which one is actually the real Shroud of Turin.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

If you somehow magically had the chance to do it all over again, you'd do everything in your power to make her happy. You don't, though, because that's not the way it works.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

You'll feel a strange mixture of pride and terror when NASA announces it will replace the space shuttle with you in launches starting late next year.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Considering how easy it is to get them these days, you're starting to regret choosing "hugs" over any number of things that rhyme with them.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Your theory that your life eerily echoes the events in Casablanca is disrupted even further by the disparity in people's emotional involvement with their endings.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

Every marriage is like a little nation unto itself, and the failure of yours is a textbook example of how investment in education, the arts, and maybe a puppy are desirable goals for civilization.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

Often it feels as if everything is too hard for you and that anything you try ends in failure, but take heart: Those feelings have to be wrong eventually.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Sometimes we find amazing things in places we least expect them, whether it's true love, peace of mind, or, in your case, a pack of furious marauding cannibals.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

You have no idea why you've been experiencing laughter, tears, a sudden desire for fried chicken, or an impulse to call the law offices of Marvin Falbaum, but it's probably the TV.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

Decent people everywhere will be shocked and appalled by the treatment you received and the conditions under which you were held, but it's not like their jobs are any better.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

You'll be curiously unfulfilled, if not a little frightened, when you finally learn the answer to the question of who watches the birdwatchers.

Vic Hua Hin October Camp 2011
For more than twenty years, Patravadi Theatre in Bangkok has the tradition of making arts with young people and develops their potential. It's art camp brings together various professional artists to teach and work with the participants. A showcase that brings together the teachers and students on stage and their family and friends in the auditorium will be the concluding highlight of each camp.
Vic Hua Hin will continue the tradition in this October school break. It is an ideal way for students to spend their holidays. Two groups of aged 6-12 and 13 and above are offered. The October Camp 2011 costs 16,500 Baht for seven day classes with performance at Vic Hua Hin on the last day.
For more information please call 032 827 814.

■ QINGDAO, CHINA Man dresses as carrot along with 49 friends to propose to girlfriend

A Chinese man has chosen dancing carrots over dazzling carats when he proposed to his long-term girlfriend - while dressed as a vegetable.

Kooky character Pang Kun dressed up as his favourite vegetable and was joined by another 49 bright orange carrots wearing sunglasses to pop the question to his partner Zhao Xinyu.

After meeting Zhao at the local shopping complex in Qingdao, Pang excused himself to the bathroom and quickly changed into his suit.

When he returned his was joined by pals and they all started bopping away to music - much to the amazement of Pang's girlfriend.

When they finally stopped for a breather, a hush descended over the crowd and a recording of Pang's voice was played over the loudspeaker.

'Six months ago I met you,' his voice began.

'I still remember your shyness at our first date, my longing for the next date and my excitement when the first time I held your hand at the movie theatre.'

Suddenly Pang threw off his suit and got down on one knee to ask Zhao to marry him. Naturally she said yes - much to the gathered crowd's delight.

According to Pang he had spent three weeks planning the stunt, which cost him £10,000.

■ REDDITCH, ENGLAND Dog poo to be sprayed orange by crusading Redditch council

If you're walking through Redditch and spot an orange lump on the path, steer clear, as it's likely part of the local council's latest bid to tackle dog poo. Reddich Borough Council have decided enough is enough and introduced a new scheme intended to highlight the extent of the foul-smelling problem in the town.

Between now and October, members of the council will be patrolling the streets spraying any dog poo they find orange in the hope that it will help people steer clear and will draw attention to the issue.

Rather than taking a hands-on approach, the government recommends that people who find dog mess which has not been cleaned up report it to the local council.

FEATURED GAME

SWISS SUPER LEAGUE
SATURDAY, 13 AUGUST 2011
FC Basel v FC Zürich, 20:45
St Jakob Park, Basel

As there are no real standout matches in the English and Scottish leagues, and the leagues have not yet started in Spain or Italy, we thought we would feature the Swiss equivalent of Manchester United versus Liverpool; the two most successful teams in the Swiss leagues meeting in what really is a fierce rivalry, although it has switched from time to time, with Grasshopper-Club Zürich having previously been regarded as arch-rival.

Supporters from both sides have caused trouble in the past, with the worst incident in May 2006. FC Basel had won the league in the 2003/04 and 2004/05 seasons and were set to make it three in a row if they won or drew against Zürich at home on the last day of the 2005/06 season. But if Zürich won, they would get the title. Zürich took the lead with a late goal from Iulian Filipescu and consequently won the match and the league. After the final whistle, players and fans from both teams started fighting on the pitch and in the stands. This incident has fueled hatred and bitterness between fans of both sides.

Neither team has started particularly well this season; in the first four games both have only won once, with Basel drawing and Zürich losing their other three. It's a big week for Zürich as they have a first leg Champions League playoff against Bayern Munich the following Wednesday.

The Zürich fans will regard this league match as more important though, and manager Urs Fischer will be a brave man if he picks a weaker side and loses to Basel under the guidance of German manager Thorsten Fink. The form book suggests that Basel have the edge, but we wouldn't be surprised if this match ends in a draw.

FANTASY FOOTBALL

As we have done for the last two Premier League seasons, AWOL will once again be running a private league for AWOL readers to compete against each other.

If you were in the AWOL Challenge last season, and sign up for Fantasy Premier League again, you will automatically be entered this season. For new players, the code to join the AWOL Challenge is 295761-86812.

In addition to this, we are introducing another game dedicated to the n-power Championship, although this one will not be featured in the paper every week, but more on the AWOL Forum. The website to sign up for this one is http://fantasy.football-league.co.uk/ and it is called Texaco Fantasy Football. Sign up before 5th August and you will be entered into a free draw with the chance to win 2 VIP tickets to the Carling Cup Final at Wembley! More details can be found on the AWOL Forum at www.awolonline.net/forum or from the game website.

We have now decided to replace the I Know The Score game - the game website has moved, and now requires a new log in as it is being run by a different entity on behalf of the Premier League - so to take part in AWOL Pundits this season go to www.awolonline.net/forum where you can join the forum and will find details of how to join and play our Premier League prediction game.

Add a bit of spice to your weekly football viewing by taking part in these games; suffer the delicious agony of your fantasy captain scoring a hattrick against your real life team, or the late change you made to your team getting sent off.

Join up and prove that you are the greatest manager or pundit of all. If you won in previous seasons, show it was no flash in the pan...

Remember you can still join all of these games after the start of the season.

GONE FOR A BARTON

CLUBS LINE UP TO TELL NEWCASTLE BAD BOY TO DO ONE

■ NEWCASTLE, ENGLAND

NEWCASTLE United have admitted they have been deluged with offers from clubs wanting to show Joey Barton exactly where the sun does not shine.

Barton had the final year of his contract terminated when start-of-season medical tests showed he was still an arsehole. He is now the subject of an intense bidding war amongst managers eager to dance around him flicking the V sign.

Newcastle chairman Mike Ashley said: "We've had a delegation from the Kingdom of Tonga arrive asking if they can wave their bottoms at him and then go home again. We're even getting club owners from other sports asking if they can discuss having nothing to do with him."

Barton is currently training on his own in a viewing pen several miles from St James Park and Ashley has tried to recoup some money from his departure by charging managers to watch him forlornly trudge up and down, shouting abuse at the training cones.

Left: Barton's stock has fallen faster than something falling very, very fast

A small restaurant has been set up next to the pen, as well as a souvenir stand featuring shirts saying 'My Manager Went To Newcastle & All He Got Was To Tell Joey Barton To Go Screw Himself'.

But the biggest windfall could come from an unprecedented £15m up-yours bid from Manchester City, which would break the British spending record for telling a player to urinate up a rope.

Roberto Mancini said: "We're going to buy four airships, decorated by Banksy and fitted with loudspeakers playing Bigmouth Strikes Again.

"Once we know we've got his attention they will fly in formation so they spell out the phrase 'In your dreams, you gobby thug'.

"I think it shows once and for all the level of ambition at this great club."
