AWOL

ABSENT WITHOUT LEAVE FOR THE EXPAT IN ALL OF US
What's happening, and might be happening, in and around Hua Hin

THANK YOU

WE VALUE YOUR SUPPORT

HUA HIN, THAILAND

The last three years have been "interesting times" for both Hua Hin and for us here at AWOL. There have been ups and downs, both professionally and personally, while the town has had a few bumps in the road as it's expansion continues in the face of the worldwide recession.

AWOL has steadily extended it's distribution and we are now close to two hundred locations where the paper is available, and we are slowly increasing our print run to accommodate this. We have grown from being available in the bars to now include the major hotels, coffee shops, restaurants and transport hubs. At the same time we have also built and expanded our online presence with the AWOLonline website, and it's core pillars of the AWOL Forum, Classifieds and Property sections. This will shortly be joined by a fourth, AWOLtravel, and we will be adding a corresponding section to the printed newspaper as well in the coming weeks.

AWOL's third birthday/150th Issue present is a revamped Property Marketplace section, and as high season approaches this will become a 'pull out' section of the paper; we also aim to replace the Cryptic Crossword by the end of the year so watch this space!

As always we welcome our readers' comments, good and bad, and encourage you to contact us with your suggestions, information or criticisms; the easiest way is to send us an email to info@awolonline.net, but text messages or calls can also be made to 081 649 8361. Of course you can talk to us in person tonight (Friday 30th September) at Ye Olde Buffalo Tavern, and get some free food and a complimentary drink as well!

Thank you to all our readers and advertisers for your continued support.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Fair to middling

'Fair to middling' comes to the party with two friends, fair to middlin' and fair to midland. Both of these gatecrashers derive from the original phrase, but in different ways. Fair to middlin' is just a colloquial version written in the way that the expression is often spoken, in mid-west America at least, which, as we will see, is where the expression originated.

Fair to midland is an odder fish and comes from the mispronunciation of 'middling' as 'midland'. The question is, why would anyone do that? It could be just a simple mistake, although that seems unlikely as 'fair to midland' doesn't really mean anything. More likely is that it was the result of a deliberate jokey mispronunciation, along the lines of san fairy Ann, taking the Miguel etc. This could have originated in the English Midlands. It is widely used there and the English are inveterate 'accidentally on purpose' mispronouncers - Cockney Rhyming Slang is an entire dialect built along those lines. In the case of 'fair to midland', the origin is more likely to be the USA, specifically Texas, the reference being to that state's city of Midland. The earliest printed citation of 'fair to midland' found comes from The New York Times, May 1935: Dr. William Tweddell, who is what might be called a fair-to-Midland golfer...

The current usage of the expression is predominantly American and has been boosted by the popularity of the US hard rock band that has adopted it as its name.

As to the original version of the phrase 'fair to middling', that is also of American origin. 'Middling' was and is a term used by farmers to describe the quality of farm produce, especially sheep. There were several loosely defined grades of produce: 'good', 'fair, 'middling', 'ordinary' and 'poor'.

'Middling' is an old Scots word and has been in use since at least the 15th century with the same meaning as now, that is, 'of medium or moderate size, strength, quality'. Around 1450, the Marquis of Bute wrote the Dictionary of the Older Scottish Tongue, which includes what appears to be the earliest example of 'middling' in print: 'The ynch sulde be with the thoum off midling mane nother our mikil nor our litil bot be tuyx the twa'.

This is interpreted as meaning 'The inch should be measured with the thumb near the middle, neither at the largest point nor the smallest but between the two'.

'Fair' was used in the UK from the 18th century onward to describe farm produce. An example of that usage is found in John Mortimer's farming handbook The Whole Art of Husbandry, 1707: As you gather your Fruit, separate the fairest and biggest from the middling.

These farming terms travelled to America with the early Scottish and English settlers. Like sailors who, when they needed finer designations of direction than North, East South and West, came up with South-west, North-east etc., farmers needed a name for 'not quite fair but better than average' and they opted for 'fair to middling'. The earliest uses of the expression all come from the USA, as does this example from an 1829 edition of John Stuart Skinner's farming journal The American Farmer: Two or three lots of good wethers [castrated rams] brought from $2.50 a 3 per head, and a few lots of fair to middling, $1.50 a 2.

Farmers didn't stop there and came up with other intermediate grades, like 'good fair'. Needing finer and finer classifications of quality, they again followed the sailors' lead and copied their 'North-north-east' style. In 1873, Beeton's Dictionary of Commerce described a delivery of cotton as:

Good fair to good saw-ginned Surat cotton.

■ DISCRIMINATION

Teacher asks the 7 to 8 year old kids what they did at playtime.

Sarah says, "I played in the sand pit."

Teacher says, "That's good. Go to the blackboard and if you can write 'sand' correctly, I'll give you a chocolate biscuit ."

She does and gets a biscuit. Teacher asks William what he did at playtime.

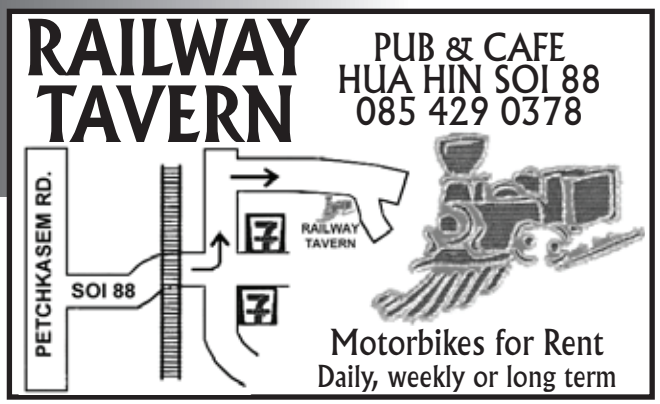
William says, "I played with Sarah in the sand pit."

Teacher says, "Good. If you write 'pit' correctly on the blackboard, I'll give you a chocolate biscuit."

William does and gets a biscuit. Teacher then asks Mustaffa Abdul Machmoud what he did at playtime.

He says, "I tried to play with Sarah and William, but they threw stones at me."

Teacher says, "Threw stones at you? That sounds like blatant racial discrimination. Go the blackboard and if you can write 'blatant racial discrimination' I'll give you a chocolate biscuit."



■ BEING UNFAITHFUL

An elderly couple were having dinner one evening when the husband reached across the table, took his wife's hand in his and said, "Martha, soon we will be married 50 years, and there's something I have to know. In all of these 50 years, have you ever been unfaithful to me?"

Martha replied, "Well Henry, I have to be honest with you. Yes, I've been unfaithful to you three times during these 50 years, but always for a good reason."

Henry was obviously hurt by his wife's confession, but said, "I never suspected. Can you tell me what you mean by 'good reasons?'

Martha said, "The first time was shortly after we were married, and we were about to lose our little house, because we couldn't pay the mortgage. Do you remember that one evening I went to see the banker, and the next day he notified you that the loan would be extended?"

Henry recalled the visit to the banker and said, "I can forgive you for that. You saved our home, but what about the second time?"

Martha asked, "And do you remember when you were so sick, but we didn't have the money to pay for the heart surgery you needed?

Well, I went to see your doctor one night and, if you recall, he did the surgery at no charge."

"I recall that," said Henry. "And you did it to save my life, so of course I can forgive you for that.

Now tell me about the third time."

"Alright," Martha said. "So do you remember when you ran for president of your golf club, and you needed 73 more votes?"

■ MORE QUICKIES

I bought some HP sauce the other day. It's costing me six baht a month for the next 2 years.

I was walking down the road the other day when someone threw a block of cheese at me. I thought 'That's mature.'

So I rang up a local building firm, I said, "I want a skip outside my house."

He said, "I'm not stopping you."

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

It turns out that whomever you have to sleep with to get a drink around here, it's not the bartenders, the owner, the waitresses, or the bouncer.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

You'll continue to inspire those closest to you to try and move away as quickly and quietly as possible.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

Although your roommate thought it was crazy of you to buy all that plastic sheeting, you'll come home to find it applied to the walls and floors soon enough.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

Unfortunately for your personal philosophy, it turns out the free market has yet to come up with a truly effective way to just go up to women and start talking to them.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

At this very moment, hundreds of miles from where you are, some of the world's greatest intellects are attempting to change the way you think about sugar-free chewing gum.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Your actions have not gone unnoticed. You will be summonsed to appear before the House Subcommittee on Talking About Work While People Are Trying to Watch Football.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

Efficiency is all well and good, but the FBI agents are right to point out that from now on, kidnap the kid before you send the ransom note.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

You'll have a crisis of conscience when you realize that, despite being a faithful American, you don't want to watch anything that's on TV right now.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

The good news is that travelling will be somewhat easier for you after next week, as you'll never again need to complain about legroom or not having a decent view.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

The stars are happy to announce that starting next week you will pay your zodiac bill on time, if you know what's good for you.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

The pretty lady's boyfriend will actually be a lot more polite than he absolutely has to be when explaining to you that who dates her is not determined by an essay contest.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

You're not getting any younger, which means that a certain so-called "wizard" has a lot to explain about certain "reverse-aging potions."

AMT works under the direct supervision of a fully qualified, American Doctor (MD), who is available for a free and full consultation prior to any procedure. We understand that every patient is different and this ensures that every treatment proposed is the correct one for each individual. Using ground breaking technology we harvest stem cells from your own body fat, thus eliminating the risk of rejection and overcoming any moral or ethical concerns.
During the harvesting procedure (mini-liposuction) the only drug used is a local anaesthetic which minimises any possibility of side-effects. Once harvested, the stem cells are separated from your own body fat, isolated, activated and then infused as required. We guarantee that no embryo or bone marrow stem cells are used in any AMT procedures.

"You have earned it, now enjoy life..."

How do stem cells work? They are the bodies building blocks which rebuild damaged tissue, blood vessels etc, by being attracted to inflammation and allowing your body to regenerate naturally.

■ NAPLES, ITALY Bride breaks world record on big day by wearing 1.8-mile veil

Thousands of people have taken to the streets of an Italian town to watch a bride walk down the aisle – followed by a full 1.8 miles of veil.

Elena de Angelis decided to turn heads on her big day by adding the world record accessory to her ceremonial outfit.

Some 600 people were required to carry the white silk garment as it stretched down the road behind the bride, who was marrying Ferdinand Pucci.

The extraordinary design certainly caught the imagination of the residents of Casal di Principe in Naples, as large crowds gathered to get a glimpse of it.

Designed by Gianni Molaro Campania, the veil was made from 3.7 miles of material and measures two metres in width. It has now entered the Guiness Book of World Records.

'I was really grateful to be asked to design this veil,' said Mr Molaro. 'I met tens of thousands of people on the way to the church who complimented my idea. I wanted this veil to symbolise peace and hope and I think we have achieved this.'

■ SUBOTICA, SERBIA Beggar 'making more money by feigning invisibility'

A savvy beggar from Serbia has been raking in the cash ever since he discovered he could make more by pretending to be invisible.

For Nemanja Petrovic his risk-taking entrepreneurial skills paid off. The street beggar from Subotica got so fed up with being ignored by passers-by and hurried commuters he was tempted to throw the hat in.

As an act of protest the 42-year-old tossed his cap and shoes down on the street with a hand-written sign saying 'Invisible Beggar' while he busied himself elsewhere and let off some steam.

Once he had calmed down the cheeky beggar went back to his gear and discovered he had got far more than he had bargained for: 'When I returned I was astonished to find a crowd and my cap was full of money,' he explained.

'Now I just put down the sign, a pair of shoes as a prop and wait for the donations to roll in while I have a coffee over the road,' he added.

FEATURED GAMES

Two massive local derbies in the Premier League this week so we have decided to preview both.
PREMIER LEAGUE
SATURDAY, 1 OCTOBER 2011
Everton v Liverpool, 18:45
Goodison Park, Liverpool
First up is the Merseyside derby, with neither side quite performing as their managers would expect, although both have made a significantly better starts than last season. Moyes has been playing a strange formation with no recognised strikers, although Louis Saha was brought back in from the cold last week as a sub.
Dalglish on the other hand seems to have problems in defence, although the lack of goals from Andy Carroll must be a worry.
This will be an intense game, with all the passion you would expect of two teams led by fierce Scots, and it would not be a surprise if neither side finishes with eleven men. We think it will be a hard fought draw.

SUNDAY, 2 OCTOBER 2011
Tottenham v Arsenal, 22:00
White Hart Lane, London
Arsenal are only two points behind Spurs despite their awful start to the season, but Wenger does not seem to have the knack of building his players up for big games, and they frequently capitulate when the pressure is on. They still have a fragile defence, despite the clean sheet last week, and Spurs have the firepower to exploit it, and in Adebayor a player who seems to have discovered his form again, and who will be aching to score against his old club.
Likely to be lots of goals and we think a high scoring draw.

MOTIVATING 'LORD' MIKE

MARTIN JOHNSON TO PLACE STRIPPERS NEXT TO WORLD CUP GOAL POSTS

■ LONDON, ENGLAND

ENGLAND manager Martin Johnson is to position a brace of floozies and a pitcher of lager behind the goal line in a bid to motivate Mike Tindall.

Tindall was likely to play on Saturday against Scotland, assuming he could be uncuffed from the Wellington midget he was found slumped next to last night.

Team doctors are hopeful the high heels he's been wearing will not have aggravated a previous ankle injury and are also looking for a hypo-allergenic skin cleanser to remove the word 'pillock' written across his forehead in permanent marker.

Johnson said: "If we can attach a nipple to the ball, it'll take the entire Scottish squad to get it out of his hands and we'll have to get the assistant coach to wear a Zara Phillips mask to make him release it.

"We're also going to try some hypnotherapy to convince him the Scottish line are a stag do from Carlisle pushing in at the bar during half price Jaegerbomb hour.

"As Mike would no doubt say, it's going to be utter bloody carnage."

Tindall is understood to be keen to play on Saturday, given that his wife has arrived in New Zealand and being knocked about by 300 stone of hairy Scots is preferable to explaining away the G-strings in his trouser pocket.

He said: "I am aware of the recent press coverage about my behaviour and would like to unreservedly apologise for behaving like every single rugby player that's ever existed since William Webb Ellis first picked up the ball and dared his mate Johnny to shove it up his arse for a laugh."

Left: Zara Phillips doesn't look too impressed with the way husband Tindall is handling himself in the tackle, but admits he is playing rugby quite well
