TENNIS SUPERSTARS PLAY IN HUA HIN TO AID FLOOD VICTIMS

HUA HIN, THAILAND

For the third year running Hua Hin will host the world's top female tennis stars on New Year's Day for an exhibition match, and this time the proceeds are being donated to help those affected by the catastrophic flooding that hit Thailand this year.

World No.1 Caroline Wozniacki will return to Thailand to face third-ranked Victoria Azarenka in the charity match being held once again at the Inter Continental Hua Hin Resort's Centennial Park, south of the town.

Denmark's Wozniacki, who won six titles this year, played Kim Clijsters at the Hua Hin event at the start of 2011.

"I had a fantastic time in Thailand last year and it is a pleasure to be back again," said Wozniacki who has claimed 18 WTA titles. "I have seen some of the pictures of the terrible floods and I am delighted to be a part of the World Tennis Charity Invitation and help raise money for the flood relief."

Belarus' Azarenka, who has won eight titles including three this year, will make her first appearance in Thailand.

"This will be my first visit to Thailand and I am very excited," said Azarenka. "I am really pleased to go there and play for the Thai fans and help raise money to assist people who have been affected by the devastating floods."

The World Tennis Charity Invitation also features Thai legend Paradorn Srichaphan who will return to action against world No.18 John Isner, said Suwat Liptapanlop, president of the Lawn Tennis Association of Thailand.

American Isner had the most successful season of his career this year with two titles. "I am very pleased to return to Thailand and visit Hua Hin for the first time. I'm looking forward to playing with Paradorn and doing our bit to help in the flood relief."

Former world No.9 Paradorn, who retired in 2006, is glad to be part of the event.

"It is nice to be part of this charity event. It is nice to make a return although it is just for a charity match. Of course, my fitness is not as perfect as it was many years ago. But as Thailand is the host of the event, I am very pleased to play and help raise funds for the flood relief efforts," he said.

"It will also help promote tourism in Thailand in general and Hua Hin in particular.

"I have never played John Isner but trained with him a couple of times. He played in the Thailand Open a few years ago."

Wozniacki will arrive in Thailand on December 26th while Azarenka and Isner are scheduled to arrive on December 29th.

There is speculation that the world No 1 might be accompanied by her boyfriend and world golf No 2 Rory McIlroy who is due to play the Thailand Golf Championships two weeks before the charity event.

The event will be televised live on Channel 3 and ESPN from 5pm.

Tickets are priced at 2,000 baht each and are available from Thai Ticket Major (tel. 02-262-3456, www.thaiticketmajor.com).

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Hard-hearted
Lacking mercy; incapable of pity.
The first mention in print in English of the term 'hard-hearted' is in Geoffrey Chaucer's 1374 translation of Consolation of Philosophy, the 6th century treatise by the Roman philosopher Anicius Boethius:
Ne no tere ne wette his face, but he was so hard-herted.
There are references to 'a hardened heart' in early Latin and Old English versions of the Bible and Chaucer may have been influenced by that. However, he does appear to be the first person to have used 'hard-hearted' in print.
The term reflects the mediaeval belief that the heart was the organ that controlled one's thoughts and feelings - there being no understanding of the functioning of the brain at that time. The belief was that the condition of the heart reflected the senses in a direct and literal way.
We have retained several mediaeval expressions that we now see as entirely figurative but which were previously akin to a medical diagnosis:

- Cold-hearted
- Light-hearted
- Broken-hearted
- Half-hearted
- Hard-hearted
- Faint-hearted
- Whole-hearted

The last on that list, whole-hearted, is atypical in that it is a 19th century term and derives from a different meaning of 'hearted', i.e. 'courageous;spirited'.
The transition from literal to figurative meaning is matched by the transition in the spelling of the terms. Initially, the two words were usually written separately, then later as a hyphenated pair and finally as a single word. Someone with a 'light heart' was initially 'light hearted', later 'light-hearted' and more recently 'lighthearted' - for example:
John Palsgrave's dictionary Lesclarcissement de la Langue Francoyse, 1530: "Lyght herted or mery, alaigre."
William Cowper's poem The Task, 1785: "He whistles as he goes, light-hearted wretch, Cold and yet cheerful."
Wilkie Collins's novel Queen of Hearts, 1859: "Mrs. Knifton began to make jokes about it, in her lighthearted way."
The 15th century literal way of thinking (and spelling) was resurrected in the 1920s in the popular Tin-Pan Alley song Hard Hearted Hannah:
They call her Hard Hearted Hannah,
The vamp of Savannah,
The meanest gal in town;
Leather is tough, but Hannah's heart is tougher,
She's a gal who loves to see men suffer!
Of course, to be 'hearted' these days we just need a T-shirt. The 'I heart NY' message began being used in the USA in the 1980s and, in January 2011, the OED defined a new meaning of the verb heart as "To love; to be fond of: - originally with reference to logos using the symbol of a heart to denote the verb 'love'", which is as close as we can get to an acceptance that the symbol is now part of the language.

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

You'll discover the secret of fire this week—namely that it can make your ex-wife pay for everything she's done to you.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

Lately it seems as though you're running out of steam. Shovel more coal into your firebox to rotate the paddlewheel.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

When given a choice between tuna salad or egg salad this week, go with the egg salad. Just trust the stars on this one.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

Running away from your problems will fail this week, as will climbing out of your problems' reach, and playing dead in hopes that your problems go away.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

The stars indicate that you've really done it this time. I mean, just look around, for God's sake. How did this even happen?

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Your passionate lovemaking will wake up the neighbors this week, making it a lot harder for you to have sex with them.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

All you'll want for Christmas are your two front teeth, along with your four bottom incisors, the six molars at the back of your mouth, and whatever other bicuspids are missing.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

This week join your favorite astrological sign for all the classic predictions you've come to love in Leo: A Star Is Born.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Your face will soon be on the cover of every newspaper in town, thanks to a rather gruesome printing-press accident.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

They say that you're going blind, that your vision is rapidly deteriorating, but don't worry: They are just a coat rack and hat.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

Frustration will be yours this week when an airliner spirals out-of-control and crashes into the ground every time you're about to speak.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

Don't let other people influence your future. That's what a vague and arbitrary set of cosmic indicators is for.

■ THE ITALIAN SECRET TO A LONG MARRIAGE!

At St. Peter's Catholic briaChurch in Toronto, they have weekly husband's marriage seminars.

At the session last week, the priest asked Giuseppe, who said he was approaching his 50th wedding anniversary, to take a few minutes and share some insight into how he had managed to stay married to the same woman all these years.

Giuseppe replied to the assembled husbands, 'Wella, I'va tried to treat her nicea, spenda da money on her, but besta of all is, I tooka her to Italy for the 25th anniversary!'

The priest responded, 'Giuseppe, you are an amazing inspiration to all the husbands here! Please tell us what you are planning for your wife for your 50th anniversary?' Giuseppe proudly replied, " I gonna go pick her up."

■ HAVE A NICE DAY

A farmer ordered a high-tech milking machine.

Since the equipment arrived when his wife was out of town, he decided to test it on himself first.

So, he inserted his 'manhood' into the equipment, turned on the switch and everything else was automatic.

Soon, he realized that the equipment provided him with much more pleasure than his wife did. When the fun was over, though, he quickly realized that he couldn't remove the instrument from his 'member'..

He read the manual but didn't find any useful information on how to disengage himself. He tried every button on the instrument, but still without success.

Finally, he decided to call the supplier's Customer Service Hot Line with his mobile phone (Thank goodness for mobile phones!).

'Hello, I just bought a milking machine from your company. It works fantastic, but how do I remove it from the cow's udder?'

'Don't worry,' replied the customer service rep, 'The machine will release automatically once it's collected two gallons.'..... ..... Have a nice day! .....

■ SNAILS...

One evening a man asked his wife what she would like for dinner. She said "Hmmm...I fancy smails tonight, go to the beach and get some for me please?"

The man agrees and goes to the beach in the hot sun complaining about how they should have just had Burger King while putting snails into a bucket, when suddenly he meets a stunning woman sunbathing. They hit it off right away and eventually end up going back to her apartment and having a passionate night of love making.

The man wakes in the middle of the night and quickly jumped out of bed, grabbing his bucket of snails and running to his apartment. He gets to his floor when he trips and spills the bucket of snails everywhere. His wife wakes up, goes outside and yells, "It's the middle of the night! What were you doing out all this time?!"

The man quickly responds by saying excitedly, "Cmon guys! A little more! We're almost there!"

■ NANNING, CHINA Stuntman hits the nail on the head – by balancing upside down on a thin spike

Next time you have a sore head, spare a thought for Li Xin who has quite literally hit the nail on the head. Xin entertained the crowds when he balanced on his head on the end on a spike. Putting his hands out to the side, he balanced all his 66kg (10st 7lb) body weight, putting intense pressure on his skull.

The 47-year-old has practised the stunt for more than 20 years. He can hold the pose on top of the spike for more than ten seconds – impressive, seeing as most people would struggle to keep their balance doing a floor head-stand.

After the stunt, Li Xin leaned forward to show off a small but definite indent on the top of his head. It's not just his head that is as hard as nails – he also balanced all his body weight on a similar spike against his stomach. The spike was placed on a stool and Li Xin pulled back his shirt and lowered his body onto the spike.

He then lifted his arms and legs in the air, holding a starfish pose.

The likelihood of this spike piercing his skin is reduced because the end is shaped into a larger blunt arrow, meaning there is more surface area for Li Xin to balance upon.

The folk artist was taking part in a stunt event in Nanning, China.

FEATURED GAME

TUESDAY, 13 DECEMBER 2011
PREMIER LEAGUE
Chelsea v Man City, 03:00
Stamford Bridge, London, England
No apologies for featuring Chelsea again this week, as this is the match of the week, pitting the champions-elect against former champions. Chelsea are undergoing a transformation under Villas-Boas, and a much needed one because their squad is getting old. They were flattered by the scoreline last weekend and were lucky to end with eleven men on the pitch, but the result was important.
This game will be a test of both sides, and we suspect that Chelsea may be quite physical in an attempt to put City out of their stride. City were also slightly flattered by their final scoreline last week, but there is always a sense that they have another gear to shift into. Both sides have been conceding goals so we think this could be a pulsating draw, and maybe the sort of game that Fernando Torres will reannounce himself in, if given the chance.

MAN UTD FANS FACE LONG TRIP TO MANCHESTER FOR FA CUP TIE

■ LONDON, ENGLAND

Fans of Premier League giants Manchester United are facing the prospect of a long journey up the M6 after they were handed an FA Cup third round tie against Manchester City.

Some supporters of the current Premier League champions have revealed that actually going to a game will prove too difficult, and they will have to make do with watching the game on television like they normally do anyway.

"I was hoping for something a bit more local," said disappointed fan Richard Young.

"I've supported United since they started winning everything, and I haven't missed a game that's been televised since."

"Hopefully if we win through to round four we'll get a local derby against Swindon."

Ardent Manchester fan, Carlos Tevez, whooped and snarled and shook the bars of his cage as the draw was announced, trying to get the attention of City manager Roberto Mancini; interpreters believe that he was pleading to be able to leave the club before the cup tie so he too could watch it from the comfort of his cage in Milan.

Man Utd boss Sir Alex Ferguson expressed his sympathy for fans of the club, who face an arduous journey to their living room to watch the match.

"It's a shame for the fans," he said. "It would be nice for them to experience a real live football match inside an actual stadium, but that's the luck of the draw."

"I hope for their sakes that the game is on ITV or some of them might have to face the hardship of leaving their house and going to a pub."

"It's definitely something the FA needs to look at."

Initial calls by United fans to do the draw again were apparently considered by the FA, in the hope that they could get a nice trip to Brighton or Crawley, but these plans were scuppered as the Surrey police have already arranged a team building paintball day out the same day.
