What's happening, and might be happening, in and around Hua Hin

THE WINDY CITY

HIGH WINDS AND HIGH TIDES WREAK HAVOC

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

High winds caused by a ridge of high pressure that unexpectedly moved south from China, combined with exceptionally high tides to create waves of up to four metres in height which have devastated parts of the coastline around Hua Hin and further south. Fortunately, so far there have not been any reports of fatalities.

Early on Christmas Day, around 3am, was the first local sign as a number of restaurants and shops were destroyed by the high waves in Hua Hin, and the pounding continued as seawater inundated many houses in Khao Takiab village. Fishermen were advised to stay ashore, while warnings were issued to people to stay away from the sea.

The waves eroded about one kilometre of the coastline at Thung Pradu coastal village in Thap Sakae district. Deputy Prachuap Khiri Khan governor Apinand Chantharangsi said on Tuesday that the province had declared Hua Hin, Sam Roi Yot, Kui Buri and Thap Sakae districts disaster areas. An initial survey found more than 500 households had been affected by strong waves, Mr Apinand said. Athikul Budying, deputy mayor of Hua Hin municipality, ordered municipal officials to survey damage caused by the waves and help people move their belongings to higher ground.

By Wednesday the severe waves were subsiding but waves of two to three metres are still frecast through to New Year's Day, while further south was still being battered, particularly in the districts in and around Surat Thani, and conditions were being made worse by heavy rains in other areas, with the risk of flash floods.

People in, or travelling to, ten southern provinces of Surat Thani, Nakhon Si Thammarat, Phatthalung, Songkhla, Yala, Pattani, Satun, Narathiwat, Krabi and Trang, have been advised to keep a close eye on the weather reports and take care near the coastline, in low-lying areas and on mountain slopes.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Shakespeare Part One
Barry Manilow may claim to write the songs, but it was William Shakespeare who coined the phrases - he contributed more phrases and sayings to the English language than any other individual, and most of them are still in daily use, some slightly adapted.
Here's some of the well-known quotations that were either the Bard's own work, or were 'popularised by' rather than 'coined by' Shakespeare. It is a quite staggering list and is too long to be featured in only one issue, so part two will feature next week (next year!).

A countenance more in sorrow than in anger
A dish fit for the gods
A fool's paradise
A foregone conclusion
A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse
A plague on both your houses
A rose by any other name would smell as sweet
A sea change
A sorry sight
Age cannot wither her, nor custom stale her infinite variety
All corners of the world
All one to me
All that glitters is not gold / All that glisters is not gold
All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players
All's well that ends well
And thereby hangs a tale
As cold as any stone
As dead as a doornail
As good luck would have it
As merry as the day is long
As pure as the driven snow
At one fell swoop
Bag and baggage
Beast with two backs
Beware the ides of March
But screw your courage to the sticking-place
But, for my own part, it was Greek to me
Come what come may
Cry havoc and let slip the dogs of war
Dash to pieces
Discretion is the better part of valour
Double, double toil and trouble, fire burn, and cauldron bubble
Eaten out of house and home
Et tu, Brute
Even at the turning of the tide
Exceedingly well read
Fair play
Fancy free
Fie, foh, and fum, I smell the blood of a British man
Fight fire with fire
For ever and a day
Frailty, thy name is woman
Foul play
Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears
Good men and true
Good riddance
Green eyed monster
He will give the Devil his due
Heart's content
High time
His beard was as white as snow
Hoist by your own petard
Hot-blooded
Household words

THERE'S A CURRY IN YOUR FUTURE AT S&S

Soi 94 S & S
INDIAN RESTAURANT
Curries from only 75 baht
Eat in or Takeaway 081 455 5298

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

You always seem to improve the performances of those around you, usually by slipping them amphetamines while they're not looking.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

Although your cancer, if treated early, has a 96 percent recovery rate, doctors are strangely reluctant to treat you.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

You can't really help the way people feel about you, especially if the dumbasses refuse to listen to reason.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

Your financial outlook isn't a pretty picture, but it does have a certain dark, Brueghelian magnificence.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Your new diet will cause you to become so skinny that, when sitting around the house, you will do so on a single, easily determined side of the house.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Although it was fun to hear your name on television, you still don't think the president should use the State Of The Union address to put prices on citizens' heads.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

Learning to accept change is a sign of maturity. Enjoy spending your golden years begging for it on the corner.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

If you learn one thing this week, let it be this: What matters isn't whether you're innocent or guilty, but what you wear to the trial.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Luckily, the trend of closed-casket funerals has allowed you to take certain aesthetic shortcuts in your work.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

You're really getting tired of big business screwing over the little guy in the subplots of all those TV movies.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

You won't so much haunt the world after your death as become the spiritual equivalent of that guy who kept coming back to visit high school after graduation.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

Your fake-sounding French accent is even more heinous considering that you grew up in the countryside around Toulon.

■ THE HANDY-WOMAN

A blonde, wanting to earn some extra money, decided to hire herself out as a "handy-woman" and started canvassing a nearby well-to-do neighborhood.

She went to the front door of the first house, and asked the owner if he had any odd jobs for her to do. "Well, I guess I could use somebody to paint my porch," he said. How much will you charge me?" The blonde quickly responded, "How about $50?"

The man agreed and told her that the paint and everything she would need was in the garage.

The man's wife, hearing the conversation, said to her husband, "Does she realize that our porch goes all the way around the house?" He responded, "That's a bit cynical, isn't it? The wife replied, "You're right. I guess I'm starting to believe all those dumb blonde jokes we've been getting by e-mail lately."

A short time later, the blonde came to the door to collect her money. "You're finished already?" the husband asked. "Yes," the blonde replied, "and I had paint left over, so I gave it two coats." Impressed, the man reached into his pocket for the $50.00 and handed it to her.

"And by the way," the blonde added, "it's not a Porsche, it's a Lexus."

■ PROMOTION

I came home from work last night and told my wife that I've been given a huge promotion at work which means I get my own office and I get to employ my own private secretary.

"Well, you'd better hire someone who's a bit old, fat and ugly," she said, "I don't want you choosing someone who you're going to be tempted to have sex with."

"That's fair enough," I replied, "When can you start?"

■ RABBIT AND BEAR

Once there was a rabbit and a bear living in a forest. They went out for a walk and saw a magic golden frog. The rabbit and bear said, "Goodie, three wishes!" The frog then said, "No, six wishes since there are two of you." They got even more excited.

The bear went first. "I wish that all the bears in this forest are females, except for me." POOF! His wish was granted.

Then it... was the rabbit's turn. "I wish for a racing bike helmet." POOF! His wish was granted.

The bear hesitated, then said, "I wish all the bears in the neighboring forests were females, except for me." POOF! His wish was granted.

The rabbit already knew what he wanted, "I wish for a motorcycle!" POOF! His wish was granted.

The frog broke in and said, "Now hurry up, I must be on my way! And, may I add, choose carefully your last wish!!"

The bear said, "Alright, I know my last wish. I wish all the bears in the world were female, except for me." POOF! His wish was granted.

The rabbit thought for a while, put on his helmet, and got on his motorcycle. With a smirk on his face he said, "I wish the bear were gay."

■ CHESHIRE, ENGLAND Flatfish found in aquarium after lying undiscovered for 15 years

A 40cm-long flatfish has been discovered in an aquarium after remaining undetected for 15 years.

The bottom-dwelling sand sole - dubbed Nemo - was only discovered when its 40,000-litre open native rockpool tank was routinely cleaned at the Blue Planet Aquarium in Cheshire.

But despite being quite a large fish, staff think the fish may have been a stowaway when the tank was delivered in 1996 as they had no records of the flatfish having arrived at the aquarium .

Acting curator Colin Grist said: 'We've called him Nemo, because we've found him, just like in the film - except we didn't know we were looking.

'Although we haven't been aware of its existence it seems to have been doing extremely well. It's in perfect condition and has obviously been feeding well and probably waiting until the lights go out to go hunting.

He added: 'It's extraordinary that it's managed to have remained hidden for so long but it does go to show just how well evolved it is to its natural environment.'

■ PRISTINA, KOSOVO Kosovo PM mixes up Christmas and Easter in message to Vatican

Hashim Thaci, the prime minister of Kosovo, made a major error over the Christmas period, by wishing all Catholics a happy Easter rather than a merry Christmas.

In his festive statement, which was distributed by his office, he said that Easter is the most important holiday in the Catholic world.

He went on to congratulate the official Vatican and all Catholics on the occasion of the resurrection of Christ, rather than his birth.

The prime minister said that he hoped the Easter festivities would bring the Kosovan Catholics 'more warmth, hope and success' as well as 'progress in society, harmony and peace'.

When officials noticed the error a second statement appeared on Thaci's official website, offering glad tidings over the festive period.

The Republic of Kosovo is a partially recognised state, located in the former Yugoslavia, which has a large Albanian population who follow the Islamic faith.

FEATURED GAME

THURSDAY, 29 DECEMBER 2011
SCOTTISH PREMIER
Celtic v Rangers, 02:45
Celtic Park, Glasgow, Scotland
The Old Firm derby will be as feisty as ever, and the home team will be desperate to clinch the three points to close the gap at the top. Neither side have been conceding many goals so this is likely to be decided by a narrow margin, if at all. Rangers were given a slight scare last week but still came away with the win, but we think Celtic, roared on by their home fans, will edge this one to ensure the teams are neck and neck going into 2012.

REDS APPEAL CARROLL INSERTION: SCOUSE TORMENT

FA HAND CARROLL EIGHT-MATCH RUN IN LIVERPOOL SIDE AS PUNISHMENT FOR SUAREZ' COMMENTS

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

Liverpool fans have revealed their disappointment after the Football Association handed Andy Carroll an eight-match run in the starting eleven because Luis Suarez was found guilty of racially abusing Manchester United's Patrice Evra.

Carroll, who cost the club around ten times his actual value, has made the majority of his appearances from the subs bench, but with Suarez suspended he could be handed the opportunity to be completely ineffectual right from the start of the next eight fixtures, demonstrated admirably by the Boxing day draw with Blackburn.

The club released a statement expressing their disappointment with the FA's decision.

"Liverpool Football Club is very surprised and disappointed with the decision of the Football Association commission to allow Andy Carroll such a large amount of time on the pitch."

"Kenny likes to use Andy as a non-impact sub, but this unprecedented decision could see games passing Andy by for the full ninety minutes, rather than just the last fifteen."

Critics of the decision have insisted that being forced to play Andy Carroll for what could amount to two months is a punishment that simply does not fit the crime.

"It's not like Suarez killed anyone, is it? If he had, I could sort of understand such draconian measures," said fan Simon Matthews.

The club are currently preparing an appeal based on a very strict interpretation of Uruguayan linguistic semantics and what Liverpool described as a 'cultural snafu', but are wary of further sanctions after rumours appeared suggesting a lost appeal could result in the FA forcing the club to re-sign David N'Gog or Emily Heskey and play them instead.

An FA spokesman said: "We're assuming Suarez's appeal will involve the Uruguayan ambassador and a group of indigenous tribes people playing unusual wind instruments. So that's something to look forward to.

"In the meantime, it would be a lot easier if everyone just stuck to calling Patrice Evra an arsehole."
