BEHIND THE 8-BALL

EXPATS TO THROW BENEFIT PARTY TO AID POOL LEAGUE ORGANISER

HUA HIN, THAILAND

Living in a foreign country has plenty of ups and some downs, and none more so than when health problems arise. We have reported on such cases before, and very often the problem lies with the issue of health insurance; expats in general tend to be older, as they look to reap the benefits of their hard work earlier in life, but for many they also find that they are unable to obtain cover for existing medical conditions. When the worst happens and a hospital stay and emergency treatment is required, the bills quickly mount up, adding a difficult and stressful burden.

Such a fate has befallen Bob Nicholl, President of the BEKK Solutions Fun Pool League; last week he was rushed to a local hospital after suffering a seizure, and then moved to Bangkok for scans and treatment unavailable in Hua Hin. Fortunately it appears as if the treatment administered has worked, and Bob was able to return home on Tuesday 31st January; however, as many will know, good health care in Thailand is not cheap, and he is facing a huge battle to pay for his recovery.

The Fun Pool League sprang into action as soon as news of Bob's situation was known, and have organised a pool competition/benefit party to help offset his hefty medical bills. These are taking place on Saturday 11th February at Dara Bar from 1pm and will consist of a variety of different games for both teams and individuals, with an entry fee of 100 baht per player, with all funds raised going directly to pay medical costs. This is open to all the pool league teams and anyone else in Hua Hin and surrounding areas.

Prizes in the form of gifts and vouchers from Bobby's Bar, Sinatra's Bar, Miss Nong's Bakery, Dara Bar, Beach Hut Bar, Railway Tavern, Sunset

Boulevard and many more have already been donated, and some significant cash donations already made to get the fund underway, but a lot more is needed and hoped for, as Bob's bills are estimated to be close to half a million baht currently, with further checks and treatment to come.

This will be a great event for all the Hua Hin pool teams and expats to pull together. Please let Bobby (Bobby's Bar 087 155 7737) know if you would like to play and/or sponsor this fundraiser.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Blood, sweat and tears
Hard work and effort in difficult circumstances.
The expression 'blood, sweat and tears' is usually said to have been coined by Sir Winston Churchill in his famous "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat" speech in 1940, when he warned the British people of the hardships to come in fighting WWII. Each country seems to have a shortlist of people to whom they attribute colourful quotations that lack an accredited author. In the USA the sage of choice is Mark Twain; in Ireland, Oscar Wilde and in England, Winston Churchill. However, it wasn't Churchill who coined 'blood, sweat and tears' - ultimately it has a biblical source.
The first occurrence of the expression found in print is in Sermons on Various Subjects by Christmas Evans, translated from the Welsh by J. Davis, 1837:
Christ the High Priest of our profession, when he laid down his life for us on Calvary, was bathed in his own blood, sweat and tears.
Evans, a.k.a. 'The John Bunyan of Wales' (25 December 1766 - 1838) was an eccentric but widely admired preacher. We can't now be sure if it was he who coined the phrase or his translator. Either way, we can be sure that the phrase was in the language by 1837.
Christmas Evans knew the Bible by heart and was no doubt influenced in his choice of words by this passage from The King James Bible, Luke 22:44:
And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground.
The French and Italians, also Christian nations of course, have their own versions of the phrase - 'suer sang et eau' (sweat blood and water/tears) and 'lacrime e sangue' (blood and tears).
Churchill, although no great theological scholar, borrowed 'blood, sweat and tears' for his famous wartime speech and can certainly take the credit for the popular take-up of the phrase into everyday language.
Al Kooper picked up on the phrase as the name for his new jazz-rock band in 1967. Kooper could hardly have known how apt a choice it was. The band has gone through more disagreements, sackings and changes of direction than most, with at least 140 musicians having been members at some point.
Many of the things Churchill is supposed to have said are wrongly attributed. One of the better ones that can be verified is his exchange with the socialite and politician Nancy Astor:
Astor: Winston, if I were your wife I would put poison in your coffee!
Churchill: And if I were your husband I would drink it.
Sir Winston Churchill had a wonderful intellect and sense of humour, and that is amply illustrated in the following quotes, which are all attributed to him:
We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give.

There is no such thing as a good tax.

The inherent vice of capitalism is the unequal sharing of blessings; the inherent virtue of socialism is the equal sharing of miseries.

We contend that for a nation to tax itself into prosperity is like a man standing in a bucket and trying to lift himself up by the handle.

An appeaser is one who feeds a crocodile—hoping it will eat him last.

To improve is to change; to be perfect is to change often.

A fanatic is one who can t change his mind and won t change the subject.

Bessie Braddock: Sir, you are drunk.
Churchill: Madam, you are ugly. In the morning, I shall be sober.

A lie gets halfway around the world before the truth has a chance to get its pants on.

Once in a while you will stumble upon the truth but most of us manage to pick ourselves up and hurry along as if nothing had happened.

If you are going to go through hell, keep going.

You have enemies? Good. That means you've stood up for something, sometime in your life.

You can always count on Americans to do the right thing—after they've tried everything else.

History will be kind to me for I intend to write it.

The farther backward you can look, the farther forward you are likely to see.

A sheep in sheep's clothing. (On Clement Atlee)

A modest man, who has much to be modest about. (On Clement Atlee)

I am ready to meet my Maker. Whether my Maker is prepared for the ordeal of meeting me is another matter.

The truth is incontrovertible, malice may attack it, ignorance may deride it, but in the end; there it is.

The best argument against democracy is a five-minute conversation with the average voter.

It has been said that democracy is the worst form of government except all the others that have been tried.

Those who can win a war well can rarely make a good peace and those who could make a good peace would never have won the war.

FIRST HUA HIN INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL - GLAMOROUS BUT MUST DO BETTER

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

The inaugural Hua Hin International Film Festival ended on Sunday after four days of cinematic glamour, with major Hollywood stars Michelle Yeoh and Ryan Gosling in attendance, with the former presenting the awards to the winning films of the festival, along with acclaimed filmmaker Luc Besson and Mr. Suwat Liptapanlop, Festival Chairman.

The festival encountered a few teething problems and has had mixed reviews from the English language daily newspapers in Thailand, with the Bangkok Post being particularly critical of what they saw as style over substance...

"If the Red Carpet works, the film festival works. That seems to be the motto of the hype machine behind last weekend's Hua Hin International Film Festival, which proudly paraded stars down the sandy, horse-free beach of the InterContinental while the cinemas were haunted by ghosts."

Criticism was also made because of last minute scheduling changes and the lack, in some instances, of the proper copy of films...

"The daily _ not to say hourly _ changes of the screening schedule drove viewers and critics mad. The publicity was not sufficient, and some screenings saw only three or four people in the room. The logistics were poor; some films were screened with preview DVDs, with the word "Preview" splashed across the screen (since the real copy of those films didn't arrive). A few films were cancelled altogether. At the screening of a Thai film Headshot, there were no English subtitles in the print, a gross offence for any movie festival that calls itself international."

Hopefully lessons will have been learned from this year's event and if there is to be a festival next year these issues resolved. As it stands there were still positives to be taken as well, not least from the fact that the festival was staged in Hua Hin in the first place. For the record, the awards presented were as follows:

Terance Chang for his contribution to both Asian and Hollywood cinema, and for helping to create a bridge between film cultures.

Luc Besson, for his support for Asian cinema, and in recognition of excellence for his film "The Lady".

The film, "It Gets Better", as the film which was voted by the visiting public to receive the Audience Award.

■ THIS IS MY NEIGHBOUR:
She's single, she lives right across the street, and she's beautiful.
I can see her house from my family room.
I watched as she got home from work this evening.
I was surprised when she walked across the street and up my driveway
She knocked on my door...
I rushed to open it,
She looks at me, and says, "I just got home, and I am so horny"!
"I have this strong urge to have a good time, get drunk, and make love all night long",
"Are you busy tonight"?
I immediately replied,
"Nope, I'm free... I have no plans at all"!
Then she said,
"Good! In that case, could you watch my dog"!

MAN... IT'S NO FUN GETTING OLD
(Thanks to Karl)

■ SNOW STORM
Three Irishmen are sitting in the pub window seat, watching the front door of the brothel over the road.
The local Methodist pastor appears, and quickly goes inside.
"Would you look at that!" says the first Irishman.
"Didn't I always say what a bunch of hypocrites they are?"
No sooner are the words out of his mouth than a Rabbi appears at the door, knocks, and goes inside.
"Another one trying to fool everyone with pious preaching and stupid hats!"
They continue drinking their beer roundly condemning the vicar and the rabbi when they see their own Catholic priest knock on the door.
"Ah, now dat's sad." says the third Irishman.

"One of the girls must have died..."

■ ANDY CARROLL
Andy Carroll finally revealed the slogan T-shirt under his Liverpool shirt when he scored this week. It said, "Save the Chillean Miners!"

■ HE SAID, SHE SAID
Two women are having a coffee and catching up:
"So, how was your evening last night?"

"A disaster! After getting home, my dear beloved hubby wolfed down in 4 minutes the dinner that took me all afternoon to prepare, "granted" me 3 minutes of passionate love before rolling over and falling asleep 2 minutes later. Nightmare, and you?"

"Oh, mine was incredible.. My hubby was waiting for me to get back home from work. He took me out for a very romantic dinner. We then walked back home, under an amazing starry sky, along the canal, for a good two hours. Once home, he lit up all the candles and we had foreplay which lasted for an hour. We then made love for another hour and we chatted until late.. It was wonderful..."

Their husbands meet at the pub...
"So, how was your evening last night?"

"Incredible! When I came home, the food was just ready. I ate, we shagged and I fell asleep. Wonderful night, I just love my wife, You?"

"A nightmare! I came home earlier to fix the kitchen shelf. When I switched on the power drill, the fuse went out. The whole house went into darkness. Couldn't find the bloody fuse box, so when my better half arrived, I took her out for dinner. It was the only thing to do to avoid getting an ear-full...! The Dinner was so expensive that I couldn't afford a taxi, so we had to walk home. It took ages and once there, the house was still in the dark, obviously, so I had to light all these flipping candles to avoid knocking everything over. I was so wound up and annoyed that it took me an hour to get hard, and another one to finish. In the end, I was still wound up and it took me ages to fall asleep, while she kept yapping on and on about everything and nothing.....disaster."

■ AUSTRALIA Grass flip flops - for when the going gets turf

An Australian footwear company has reported 'amazing' sales after launching a new pair of flip flops made of fake grass.

The bizarre footwear, made by KUSA, features fake turf stitched into the soles so owners get the same sensation as strolling barefoot on a freshly mowed lawn.

The company's website shows sun seekers walking along the beach in the grass slippers which occasionally need to be fluffed for added comfort.

The KUSA website explains: 'Love the feeling of bare feet on freshly mowed grass? Why not have that feeling anywhere, anytime. KUSA flip flops give you the opportunity to do just that.

'Where would you rather be? What would you rather be doing? Close your eyes and you are there!'

The bizarre footwear seems to have been a hit with customers across the globe, appearing on various trendsetting and fashion websites.

Customers have been advised not to mow the grass to avoid damaging the product.

■ SHANGHAI, CHINA Sports fan paints portrait of favourite NBA player... using a basketball

Shanghai based artist Yi Hong created an incredible portrait of Chinese NBA star Yao Ming using just a bucket of red paint and a basketball. Young artist Yi, who prefers to go by the name 'Red', posted a video of her creating the astounding artwork on her YouTube channel.

'Here's a painting of NBA superstar Yao Ming I did, with some red paint and a basketball!' she wrote. 'I guess all those years of basketball training in high school did come in handy!'

The video, which is time-lapsed, shows Yi gently place a basketball in to a tub of red paint before carefully bouncing it on a white canvas on the pavement.

Born and raised on the Malaysian island of Borneo, she has spent time in Australia and The Netherlands, but has since settled in China.

The video has already attracted over 271,000 views, and the artist has spoken out on her Facebook page about how flattered she is. She also revealed she will be premiering her next project this week.

UPCOMING

Fringe Festival – SPACE Saturday, 11th February 2012, 7.30 pm
'SPACE' is an internationally acclaimed one-man show from Nose2Nose.
What is 'SPACE'? This infinite question is answered through a variety of characters, in this comedy-tragedy that crosses the boundaries of what we think is real. Lone performer Timothy Mann is an actor, writer, musician and video editor, based in the UK, and just uses body and voice to tell a wild and crazy story about 'Space'. 'SPACE' has been all over the world – UK, Japan, China, India, Turkey – and is constantly adapted wherever it goes. No two shows are ever the same.
Tickets 900, 700 and 500 Baht (students 50% discount) available at Vic Hua Hin: 032-827-814 to 815.

FEATURED GAME

SATURDAY, 4 FEBRUARY 2012
CHAMPIONSHIP
West Ham v Millwall, 19:30
Boleyn Ground, London, England
This local derby has the most negative and violent history in English football, stemming from real life animosity between dock workers decades ago. It normally requires the largest police presence for any football match held and always overshadows the game. The Hammers to bounce back from their midweek thrashing with one of their own.

CROWDED OUT

SHOCK AS MORON DISCOVERED IN 45,000 CAPACITY FOOTBALL STADIUM

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

The world of football has been rocked its very foundations after footage from Saturday's FA Cup 4th round tie between Liverpool and Manchester United showed one of the 45,000 crowd acting like a complete arsehole.

With football grounds being the last place on earth that people would expect to encounter morons, the footage has sent shockwaves through the football leagues.

"We are extremely concerned that one of the forty-five thousand people that attended the game was seen making racist gestures," said a police spokesperson. "We have to assume that as a result of this incident all football fans, players and management are probably racist too. In fact it's entirely reasonable to suggest that football is just one big racist hate mob chasing a ball around a field."

Fans have expressed concerns that stadiums ringing out with songs such as 'Who ate all the pies?! Who ate all the pies?! Fair enough, I'll have some chips instead', could become a thing of the past.

"Football grounds have always been considered a celebration of diversity and tolerance," said Millwall fan Gary Barnes. "I remember a few seasons ago there was a fella stood near me who expressed his dissatisfaction at a refereeing decision by suggesting that the referee was unsure of what his role was. Several people within earshot fainted, but I managed to diffuse the situation by highlighting that the referee is only human and these mistakes tend to even themselves out over the course of the season. No-one wants to see that sort of behaviour week in, week out."

Top 10 football chants that fans now fear could disappear.

- We hate stereotypes
- The ref is only human
- We wholeheartedly endorse the concept of a multicultural society
- Where your wife takes it is none of our business.
- We don't feel threatened by homosexuality
- With a packet of sweets and a cheeky smile, the opposing manager is great at kids parties.
- We don't particularly agree with that substitution, but you're the boss.
- Stand up if you think that women deserve equal pay
- Oooooooooooooooooo, great goal kick aaaaaaaaaahhhhhhhh!
- If you support same sex marriage clap your hands
