What's happening, and might be happening, in and around Hua Hin

A VERY ODD YEAR

STRANGE WEATHER, FREAK WAVES, WEIRD EVENTS AND PECULIAR PLANNING

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

Early February may seem like an unusual time to look back on the last twelve months, but given how odd that period has been both in Hua Hin, Thailand and around the globe it seems as good a time as any.

Hua Hin has had more than it's fair share of the oddness going around, mixed in with some of the usual suspects that make life in Thailand a strange combination of absolute paradise and total hell on occasion. Natural phenomena have been the biggest headline makers nationally, with a furore of flooding and other extreme weather afflicting most parts. Hua Hin and the coast south was battered by some whacky waves, as well as some wild winds in recent months, and a common phrase heard recently was 'Rain in January??'. Much can be explained by the El Nino and La Nina events though, with more weird weather predicted this year.

The threat of terrorism, and the reality of the floods, have combined to make Thailand a less attractive proposition, especially as once again foreign governments got trigger happy with their travel advisories. This has certainly effected Hua Hin this high season, although the influx of people from Bangkok and elsewhere during the flooding has partially offset that, and long term may be ultimately beneficial to business here, as both Thai and foreign buyers look to Hua Hin as a safe place to make a home.

The final 'oddness' to comment on is the peculiar timing of many major works and events in recent months; examples are the drainage work on Phetkasem Road north of town; the canal road widening; the Khao Takiab project; and strangest of all, the Market Village car park reconstruction. All of these were started either in the lead up to, or during high season. Do they know something? Can we expect snow at Songkran?!

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. Up the duff

Euphemism for pregnant. Used most commonly, although not exclusively, to describe unplanned pregnancy.

The phrase doesn't appear in print until 1941, in Sydney John Baker's Dictionary of Australian Slang:

"Duff, up the (of a woman), pregnant."

Duff isn't a common word and seems an odd choice for a colloquial phrase. It took a rather roundabout route...

As the phrase means pregnant it shouldn't come as a major surprise that for the origin we need look no further than the penis. As with many English phrases that refer to sexual activity we dive straight into a world of euphemism and there are several obscuring layers here between penis and pregnancy.

One of the numerous slang terms for the sexual organs, or more commonly specifically the penis, is pudding. This goes back to at least the 18th century, as here from Thomas D'Urfey's, Wit and mirth: or pills to purge melancholy, being a collection of ballads and songs, 1719: "I made a request to prepare again, That I might continue in Love with the strain Of his Pudding".

A slang term for male masturbation, which leaves little to the imagination - 'pull one's pudding', has been known since at least the 19th century. There is a related phrase for pregnancy - 'in the pudding club', and it turns out that this and 'up the duff' are essentially the same phrase. By 1890, Barrère & Leland, in their Dictionary of Slang, defined the term pudding club: "A woman in the family way is said to be in the pudding club."

Note that in those Victorian times the definition of a euphemistic term for pregnancy relied on another euphemism.

Dough is another word for pudding and duff is an alternative form and pronunciation of dough. That was in use by 1840, as here from R. H. Dana in Before the Mast: "To enhance the value of the Sabbath to the crew, they are allowed on that day a pudding, or, as it is called, a 'duff'."

So, we travel this route - (up the) duff -> dough -> pudding -> penis -> pregnant.

The more recent 'bun in the oven', another slang phrase for pregnant, may originate this way too.

It's hard to believe that Thailand would be the place to find traditional Mexican cuisine. Margaritas is nuzzled in Hua Hin's night market and offers a mouth-watering menu of authentic Mexican food that always comes out fresh and delicious. Everything is home made, from our corn and flour tortillas to our delicious salsas and refried beans. Here is where you will find the best Margarita cocktails in town, made with quality Mexican Tequila. It is well located with comfortable atmosphere and great service. AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

They may be laughing at you now, but they'll have to stop eventually if only to eat, catch their breath, and get a good night's sleep in preparation for laughing at you all day tomorrow.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

Sometimes all you want is to relax in your sweats with a movie and a bowl of popcorn, but this week you'll want six units of whole blood, clean bandages, a splint, and plenty of morphine.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

You've got tough row to hoe in front of you this week, which seems like merely a folksy euphemism until you find you've inherited a run-down potato farm.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Conflicts at work and at home are cleared up instantly this week when you decide that all women are basically just crazy bitches.

The really interesting thing about next week isn't the remarkable size of the lobsters or how the polluted environment has affected their aggressiveness, but it's closely related.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

The bad news is your favourite shirt gets stained beyond saving next week; the good news is your favourite tie is untouched. This is a miracle given how many times you'll be shot.

■ THINGS YOU CAN LEARN FROM A FOUR YEAR OLD

- If you hook a dog leash over a ceiling fan, the motor is not strong enough to rotate a 42 pound boy wearing pound puppy underwear and a superman cape.
- It is strong enough, however, to spread paint on all four walls of a 20 by 20 foot room
- When you hear the toilet flush and the words "Uh-oh," it's already too late
- Brake fluid mixed with Clorox makes smoke - lots of it
- A six year old can start a fire with a flint rock even though a 36 year old man says they can only do it in the movies
- If you use a waterbed as home plate while wearing baseball shoes it does not leak - it explodes
- A king size waterbed holds enough water to fill a 2000 sq foot house 4 inches deep
- Legos will pass through the digestive tract of a four year old
- Super glue is forever
- No matter how much Jello you put in a swimming pool you still can't walk on water
- Pool filters do not like Jello
- VCR's do not eject PB&J sandwiches even though TV commercials show they do
- Always look in the oven before you turn it on

- The spin cycle on the washing machine does not make earth worms dizzy
- It will however make cats dizzy

An artist asked the gallery owner if there had been any interest in his paintings on display at that time.
"I have good news and bad news," the owner replied. "The good news is that a gentleman inquired about your work and wondered if it would appreciate in value after your death. When I told him it would, he bought all 15 of your paintings."
"That's wonderful," the artist exclaimed. "What's the bad news?"
"The guy was your doctor."

■ JAKARTA, INDONESIA Train passengers on roof hit with brooms drenched in putrid gunge

Indonesia has shunned more modern technology in favour of a number of bizarre methods to deter passengers from clambering onto train roofs, which many do to get some air, because they can't afford a ticket, or just for kicks.

Journeys up on top of the vehicles are increasingly resembling a deadly game show, with paint guns, sniffer dogs, concrete balls and Muslim clerics all brought out to deter these 'rail surfers' in the past.

Brooms covered in putrid gunge are now to be installed at select crossings, with Ahmad Sujadi, of the state-run railway PT Kereta Api Indonesia, promising that the sensation of being hit by one of the contraptions will be 'like a whip'.

He said: 'Some people say it's inhumane, but that's fine. Because letting them ride on the roofs is even more inhumane.'

The most successful method of getting roof surfers back into carriages has so far been the grapefruit-sized concrete balls, which are suspended on chains from a football goal-like frame.

Passengers on the roof quickly realised that they could be hit on the head by the deadly devices, and retreated to the safety of the train.

Buoyed with the success of these medieval contraptions, the rail company will soon begin installing the gunge brooms along the line linking the capital Jakarta and the West Java town of Bogor from today.

■ ENGLAND Bull testicles pie to give couples the horn on Valentine's Day

A chef has created an aphrodisiac Valentine's Day culinary treat made from bull testicles. Charlie Bigham is promoting his cock and bull pie as an alternative to asparagus and oysters and other traditional romantic food.

The cooking instructions for the pie encourage people to 'turn off the phone, light those candles [and] slip into something more comfortable'.

Bull testicles are said to be full of 'sexually stimulating ingredients' and have a long history of being used in Chinese traditional medicine for that purpose.

The pie also contains ginseng and Mama Juana liquor, and is being sold by Ocado.com from Saturday.

FEATURED GAME

SATURDAY, 11 FEBRUARY 2012
PREMIER LEAGUE
Man Utd v Liverpool 19:45
Old Trafford, Manchester, England

Liverpool just can't score goals recently, but the return of Suarez might change that. As if this game needed any extra edge the ban he endured because of Evra will make this red hot. Both teasm need the win, but Liverpool moreso, and we believe that Dalglish will come out on top for once.

SELECTION NIGHTMARE

CAPELLO ADVISED NOT TO SELECT ANYBODY

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

FABIO Capello has been asked to submit an empty team sheet for Euro 2012 to avoid selecting gits.

The England manager has gone with a traditional formation of scumbags for the qualifying rounds but may experiment at the finals by adopting the modern system of picking people you would trust to house-sit without defecating into your laundry basket.

Capello said "While we're grateful to the 'team' for getting us this far, waking up in your hotel room with a cock and balls drawn on your chin or a Postman Pat condom on your nose gets tiring after the eighth or ninth time.

"It's been too long since England won a major tournament and turning up in Poland with or without football players is unlikely to change that.

Left: "Look-a John, I don't-a minda da Postman Pat condoms, but please-a stop with-a da horses' heads"

"But if I go on my own at least I won't have to learn Polish phrases for how to bail somebody out of jail."

Selection to the England side has caused a philosophical debate as to whether it confers scumbagness onto a player or whether a player's very scumbagness causes them to be selected in the first place.

In order to tackle the issue, the FA is to tighten eligibility criteria with a morality quiz including questions about sex with furniture and the correct form of address for a variety of racial minorities.

Footballologist Wayne Hayes said: 'I'd estimate there's currently about six English professional footballers capable of passing it, but one of those is Gary Neville.

"Half the current team would just draw a stick figure gang-bang on the exam paper and the rest would take it to a hotel for the afternoon."
