SIX OF THE BEST

HUA HIN CRICKET SIXES RETURNS

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

The Hua Hin Cricket Sixes is one of the longest running annual events in the town, and the 17th edition of the competition returns again this year with strong backing and the familiar format. The Bangkok Post have entered the fray this year as sponsors of the event, and this is part of an effort to advance the cause of cricket in Thailand.

At a press conference last week Thanasak Karnasuta, organiser of the Hua Hin Sixes, and Supakorn Vejjajiva, president & chief operating officer of the Post Publishing, explained these efforts; "Cricket is one of the fastest growing sports today, its roots sprouting in all corners of the globe. This is particularly true of the Twenty20 that packs enough punch even for non-traditional cricket countries to have a go at the game. We would want to see it happen in Thailand. The Bangkok Post is happy to be part of that process," said Supakorn.

The tournament features 18 teams from Australia, Britain, Bangladesh, Singapore, Hong Kong and Thailand's own stable of up-and-coming cricketers who would be competing in three divisions: the Cup, which is the main event; the Masters, for players 35 years old and above; and a veterans division where taking the field will be players 50 years old and over. There will be two teams from Hua Hin competing.

The Bangkok Post-Hua Hin Cricket Sixes, runs from Saturday 7th to Wednesday 11th April and is taking place at the Dusit Resort which is located on the eastern side of the main Petchkasem Road, north of the town, beyond the Hua Hin Airport tunnel and Palm Hills Golf course when heading towards Cha-am. Admission is free and refreshments and food are available to buy.

■ BOURNEMOUTH, ENGLAND World's largest deckchair takes centre stage on Bournemouth beach Britain is going all out to celebrate the arrival of summer this year with giant deckchairs – and some unusually warm weather.

Thousands of sun-worshippers are expected to flock to the coast this weekend as temperatures across the south-east soar to 20C.

Even Scotland will see unseasonable highs of up to 16C on Saturday, with Sunday forecast to be even sunnier.

For people in Bournemouth, though, summer started a few days early as the world's largest deckchair sprung up on the sand.

Taller than a double-decker bus and weighing more than an adult elephant, the deckchair put a smile on the face of everyone who saw it, according to its creator Stuart Murdoch.

The 57-year-old artist has spent three weeks putting the huge structure together after being commissioned by Pimm's to mark the start of British Summer Time. Mr Murdoch said: 'It has been fantastic to see people on the beach pointing at the chair and having their photo taken with it.

'Deckchairs are so quintessentially British – everyone who has seen it has smiled and it's great to watch people drawn to it like a magnet.'

■ MINNESOTA, USA School bans porn star from prom after agreeing to be student's date

Mike Stone, 18, invited Megan Piper to his prom after becoming fed up with having his invites turned down by girls at his school. After sending over 600 tweets to various adult film stars, the teen received a yes from Megan, as long as he agreed to pay her airfare. However, he may have to attend the dance alone after all, as his school have prohibited 19-year-old Megan from attending.

Patty Phillips, superintendent of the North St Paul-Maplewood-Oakdale School District, told Fox News that her appearance would be 'inconsistent' with two district policies relating to having visitors at school buildings and sites.

Stone expressed disappointment that he wouldn't have Megan on his arm at the event. 'I was just thinking of doing something new. I was like, let's try it out and see if it works,' he said. 'I just think they [adult film stars] are really cute and I wish I had one for a prom date.'

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is.. A turn up for the books

An unexpected piece of good fortune.

Since the 1820s or thereabouts, the term 'turn-up' has been used to mean 'a surprise; an example of good fortune'. The reference was to cards or dice, which are 'turned up' by chance. Specifically, the 'turn up' was referred to in the game of cribbage. At the start of a game of cribbage a member of one team cuts the pack and a member of the other turns up the top card. If this is a Jack, the second team gets extra points - called 'two for his heels'. Holding the Jack of the suit that is turned up also merits a point - 'one for his nibs' - the Jack being one of the 'Royal' cards and 'nibs' being slang for 'a person of importance'.

'Turn up' was defined by John Camden Hotten in 1859, in A Dictionary of Modern Slang, Cant and Vulgar Words:

Turn up: An unexpected slice of luck.

That's straightforward enough, but why would a turn up be 'for the books'? Books can be cooked, one can go by them and you can be in someone's bad books, but why would you turn up for them?

The phrase was originally 'a turn up for the book'. At 18th and 19th century English race meetings when bets were placed the punter's name and wager were written down in a notebook. Not unreasonably, this process was called 'making a book'. If a race was won by a horse that the 'bookmaker' had no record of in his book, he had a 'turn up' and kept all the wagered money. Camden Hotten was good enough to come to our aid again with his extended definition of 'turn up':

Among sporting men bookmakers are said to have a turn up when an unbacked horse wins.

So, 'a turn up for the book' translates as a stroke of good luck for the bookmakers. The earliest example found of the expression in print is from a report, in the Leeds Intelligencer newspaper, of the success of a horse called Blackdown at the Doncaster races in August 1863:

A rare turn-up for the book-makers, the majority of whom had never written Blackdown's name in their books.

■ TOUGH LOVE

The other week, my neighbour caught his boy smoking. So, he took him aside, and made him smoke 40 tabs one after the other. After the poor lad had turned green and puked himself empty, his father told him to straighten up, shake his hand and thank him.

Well, a couple of days ago, I caught my boy watching porn. Following my neighbour's lead, I made my lad sit down and watch 40 porn videos end to end. Afterwards, I was well impressed, he stood up, shook my hand and thanked me, without me having to tell him to!

■ LAST REQUEST (thanks to Grahame)

John was on his deathbed and gasped pitifully, "Give me one last request, dear," he said. "Of course, John," his wife said softly.

"Six months after I die," he said, "I want you to marry Bob.."

"But I thought you hated Bob," she said.

With his last breath John said, "I do!"

■ PRAY 4 GOOD TASTE

The London Heart hospital have released a statement saying the excellent news is that Fabrice Muamba can now breathe unaided, can recognise his team mates and has regained control of his limbs. Furthermore, he can assimilate simple instructions and show his understanding of what's going on around him.

Aston Villa are interested in a swap deal for Heskey....

Wayne Rooney has visited Muamba in hospital.

"The good news is he can at least string a few coherent words together...."

Said Fabrice.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

You'll end next week the same way you'll start it: with a desperate all-or-nothing gamble that your crackpot scheme will be able to extinguish the flames.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

You will finally be reunited with your family when a sudden mudslide exposes their long-buried station wagon.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Moses died within sight of his goals after wandering in the desert for 40 years, but you'll beat him to the punch by doing it within seven months.

PROPERTY FOR RENT

LIVE RENT-FREE IN HUA HIN?

It's a possibility if you are easy-going, trustworthy, and like dogs. I have more house than I need. Lately, I travel a few days each month. My dogs hate to be alone. I'm near the beach (North), outside the center of town (but not too far) and it's a very quiet area. The quid pro quo is that you help take care of the dogs, especially when I'm away, and help me keep the house up. (If you're handy, it's a plus). If this sounds like a fit for you, for a few weeks, months, or years, get in touch with me at garyhall771@gmail.com. Cheers.

FEATURED GAME

SATURDAY, 31ST MARCH 2012
CHAMPIONSHIP
West Ham v Reading 21:00
Boleyn Ground, London, England

A big week for these two sides who are battling it out for one of the two automatic promotion spots with Southampton; following this crunch game both play on Good Friday, with Reading at home to Leeds, and the Hammers away at Leeds' Yorkshire rivals Barnsley. A win here and another to follow should be enough to give them the momentum to propel either back to the Premier League. Hammers to snatch it.

MUAMBA OFFERS PRAYERS FOR KENNY DALGLISH'S MANAGERIAL CAREER

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

Recovering Bolton midfielder Fabrice Muamba led a candlelit vigil for Kenny Dalglish's career earlier this week, after his Liverpool side stopped working for ninety minutes against Wigan.

Liverpool fans looked on in stunned silence after the second Wigan goal went in as it became clear something had gone terribly wrong.

Concerns about the health of the Liverpool squad were raised earlier in the week after Steven Gerard was unable to locate a pulse during the 3-2 defeat to QPR.

Dirk Kuyt told reporters, "I felt myself going down a long dark tunnel with a light at the end of it, but it turns out I was being substituted and someone had left a light on in the changing room."

Liverpool's problems compounded when Andy Carroll appeared to flatline in the six yard box.

Left: The whole world of football is united in hoping that Kenny Dalglish pulls through

Carroll said, "As the paramedics administered emergency CPR, I saw crucial episodes from my life played back in what looked like slow motion but, in fact, turns out to be my actual pace."

"I then went to a beautiful place where my lack of movement was no longer relevant. It was Happy Hour on Bold Street. I felt at such peace and didn't want to leave. Suddenly a bell rang for last orders and I was back in my body. I could smell hot dogs."

The Liverpool boss was left fuming after a Liverpool 'goal' was disallowed for an apparent Suarez handball, but the striker later claimed he had been reaching for a defibrillator.

Wigan manager Roberto Martinez last night joined Muamba in his prayers but insisted he was disappointed with his side's performance.

"We should have scored seven, what with them being clinically dead and everything."
