FIRE AND WATER

HOT DRY WEATHER, WATER SUPPLY PROBLEMS - WHAT HAPPENS IF THERE IS A FIRE?

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

AWOL has recently been contacted by concerned readers about the high risk of fires at this time of year and whether there is adequate water available in all areas to deal with it. As construction of houses, condos, hotels, roads and retail areas continues unabated all over the area, some districts are not getting enough mains supply water, and the concern is that fire hydrants may also be dry.

Concerned readers are advised to contact one or all of the following to request a check on this vital water supply, and we believe if a significant number do so, pressure will be brought to bear to fix the problems sooner than later. The numbers to call are:

Hua Hin Fire Department	199
Hua Hin Municipality (Tessaban)	032 532 433
	or 032 511 047
Hua Hin Water Company	032 511 677

The areas to the north west of the town, such as Samorphrong and Borfai are where most reports have been coming in of problems, but some other pockets south of the town also appear to struggle for water, and particularly at this time, the hottest and driest of the year.. Fires can easily start and spread, and the common site of deliberately started fires to burn debris, often at building sites, can only make this likelihood greater. The Fire Department has a standard form to request hydrant checks, so we would advise everyone to get their areas checked before it is too late.

ABSOLUTE SCUM

MAN ARRESTED FOR RAPE AND ASSAULT OF SWISS WOMAN

■ CHA AM, THAILAND

A man was arrested by the police on Monday and charged with assaulting and raping a 65-year-old Swiss woman in the Cha-am district on 16th April.

Police said a team of officers arrested Banphot "Nong" Saardieam, 34, who was found hiding in a house in Cha-am. Banphot, a construction worker, has confessed to the assault and rape of the Swiss woman in her house, according to police.

The suspect said he was drunk and in need of money before he committed the crime. He decided to break into her house in the middle of the night to steal some valuables, but the victim saw him and a fight started, he said. Banphot admitted that he hit her face many times with a fake gun, and that he tied her up with a motorcycle inner rubber tube. He then felt aroused and raped the woman who had by then passed out.

Police said Banphot has a prior criminal record. He had committed obscene acts in public and had stolen water pumps in Prachuap Khiri Khan many times.

The woman is in a serious condition in Hua Hin Hospital, and has had many Thais and foreigners visiting to wish her well. AWOL send our wishes for a speedy recovery.

■ GLOUCESTER, ENGLAND Man covered in ketchup by raiders

A man has been assaulted in his own Gloucester home and then bizarrely covered in ketchup by his attackers.

Police said two men entered the victim's unlocked home, punched him and then poured tomato sauce over him.

The intruders are then believed to have stolen the victim's phone, phone charger and trainers.

■ VIRGINIA, USA Gun safety class man shoots himself

A man accidentally shot himself and his wife during a firearms safety class in the US.

The Bedford County Sheriff's Office in Virginia said Michael Deel shot himself in the hand with a .45-calibre pistol. The bullet also struck his wife, Michelle, in the leg as she was sitting beside him.

The accident happened during a firearms safety class at a house. The instructor, Thomas Starke, told police he had left the room and then heard a shot.

■ UK Men prefer iPad to girls - poll

One in 10 single men would rather have an iPad 3 than a new partner, according to a poll.

The research found that 11% of bachelors would rather own the popular Apple gadget than gain a new love interest.

And 3% said they would happily leave a current partner if they were rewarded with the tablet device, the poll of 600 people by online casino RoxyPalace.com found.

■ BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND British team develops Trek 'tricorder'

A real-life version of Star Trek medic Dr McCoy's diagnostic marvel, the tricorder, is being developed by British scientists using viruses that behave like spaghetti.

The shoe box-sized prototype can already detect dangerous E.coli bugs in a sample in five minutes.

Future devices will identify a whole range of infections at the same time, and may be small enough to attach to a smart phone. A spin-out company to develop the technology, Linear Diagnostics, has been set up by the team at the University of Birmingham's School of Biosciences.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is... Much of a muchness

Similar - difficult to distinguish.

Shakespeare coined the words 'countless', silliness', 'tardiness' and many others of the same form. 'Muchness' sounds typical of the Bard's work and it seems a fair bet that it was one of his inventions. In fact, the word was in use by the 14th century, predating Shakespeare by more than a century. Also, the Shakesperian-sounding phrase 'much of a muchness' first appeared considerably later, in the play The Provok'd Husband, 1728, which was a collaboration between John Vanbrugh and Colley Cibber:

Man: I hope.., you and your good Woman agree still.
J. Moody: Ay! ay! much of a Muchness.

Muchness means physical magnitude or largeness and is derived from the earlier word mickleness.

Much of a muchness has remained as part of the language since Vanbrugh's day, but has never been commonplace. It is rather and odd phrase on the face of it as, in literal terms, it just means 'of a similar quality of being much'.

Lewis Carroll picked up on that oddness when, in Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, 1865, he had the Dormouse ask Alice "That begins with an M, such as... muchness - you know you say things are 'much of a muchness' - did you ever see... a drawing of a muchness?"

■ PIANIST

A pianist was hired to play background music for a movie. When it was completed he asked when and where he could see the picture. The producer sheepishly confessed that it was actually a porno film and it was due out in a month.

A month later, the musician went to a porno theatre to see it. With his collar up and dark glasses on, he took a seat in the back row, next to a couple who also seemed to be in disguise.

The movie was even raunchier than he had feared, featuring group sex, S/M and even a dog.

After a while, the embarrassed pianist turned to the couple and said, "I'm only here to listen to the music."

"Yeah?" replied the man. "We're only here to see our dog."

■ DRUNK

I came home drunk last night and my wife wasn't happy.

"How much have you had to drink?" she asked, staring at me.

"Nothing" I slurred.

"Look at me!" she shouted, "It's either me or the pub, which one is it?"

I paused for a second and said, "It's you, I can tell by the voice."

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

Someday America will come to an economic understanding that doesn't include an outrageous hunger for more and more manufactured goods, but for now, your life is pretty sweet.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

Everybody has their own part to play in life. Unfortunately, yours is to be the love interest of the true hero: Sam, the cute walrus that's all the rage on the Internet.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

It's both cynical and dangerous to underestimate the power of human love, but that's okay. You'll overestimate it every time.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

Your feeling of impending doom comes to nothing again this week as the world continues to turn and your life remains normal. Perhaps consider feeling useless and stupid instead.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Apparently 52% of Taureans are women, so expect big changes in your sign as we work with top female astrologers to make it more gal-friendly.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

You've tried over and over to snare your coworkers in the tangled web you so carefully spin, but unfortunately, most people know the "Hertz Donut" trick by the time they enter the workforce.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

Although recently it has been classic "same crap, different day," ripples in the space-time continuum will allow you to experience the same crap, but on the same day over and over.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

You'll garner enthusiastic praise from leading art and design critics when fiendish but brilliant furniture makers fashion you into a tasteful, living Adirondack chair.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

What you'll describe as a "through the looking glass" moment will actually be more of a "down a set of stairs, through a plate-glass window, and out into heavy traffic" sort of afternoon.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

You'll come up with a brilliant scheme to keep your parents from divorcing, one that would certainly work and make them fall back into a deeply committed love, only 11 years too late.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

You will slowly come to appreciate the value of silence when everyone seems to want to say things you do not wish to hear.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

You're still obsessed with having sex with the bearded lady, but you can't seem to stop bringing home people who are neither.

FEATURED GAME

TUESDAY 1ST MAY 2012
PREMIER LEAGUE
Man City v Man Utd 02:00
Etihad Stadium, Manchester

Being billed as the title decider but that will really only be the case if United win; they will be level on points if City win, but the two remaining games after still favour United. City play Newcastle (A) and QPR (H) who are fighting for 4th spot and survival respectively, while United have Swansea (H) and Sunderland (A) who are safe in mid-table. A draw seems the most likely outcome, but we are sure there will be fireworks and no doubt a Tevez moment!

ECCLESTONE UNVEILS AUSCHWITZ GRAND PRIX FOLLOWING BAHRAIN TRIUMPH

■ LONDON, ENGLAND

BERNIE Ecclestone has unveiled plans for a Formula One car pointing session through the grounds of Auschwitz.

The four foot-tall outrage perpetrator was given a boost after Sunday's motorised spectacle in a human rights atrocity passed off without a hitch for anyone who doesn't live there.

Ecclestone said: "It will all be done very tastefully with the start lights in the shape of a menorah in tribute to fact the race is taking place during Passover.

"We won't have the winners mount the podium and spray each other with champagne on the site of one of humanity's greatest crimes as that would be tacky. Instead the drivers will have bronze, silver and gold stars sewn onto their jumpsuits. As long as the sponsors don't mind."

Left: Berni Ecclestone, never one to court controversy or suggest Nazi tendencies

The race will be started by actor Ralph Fiennes firing a rifle from a balcony overlooking the starting grid while wearing a grimy vest and smoking a cigarette.

Meanwhile Ecclestone also wants to change the F1 rules so the cars can be lubricated with whale blubber and each race begins with the burning of the host country's international aid budget.

He added: "If all goes well we're looking at Jerusalem as another potential venue, provided we can drive straight through the Holy Sepulchre and get the Dome Of The Rock flattened to make way for a hot dog van."

Ecclestone denied reports that he was planning a special French Grand Prix for 2017 through the streets of Paris to mark the twentieth year since the death of Princess Diana but was heard muttering, 'Now why didn't I think of that?'
