AWOL ONLINE SHOP OPENS FOR BUSINESS

HUA HIN, THAILAND

The latest addition to the AWOL website opened it's doors for business today as the AWOL Shop went online. Initially offering a range of leisure products from the Ticket to The Moon stable, over the next few weeks and months it is hoped that other suppliers will come on stream offering a variety of different products that will be available worldwide to AWOL readers.

Ticket To The Moon produce high quality colourful hammocks, hammock chairs, bags, kimonos and other related goods that are ideal as gifts or for personal use as they are light in weight but very strong, largely made from high grade parachute material (silk nylon). The added bonus with their products is that a percentage of all profits made from their sale goes straight to the Lestari Mandorak Foundation, a relief project in Indonesia that helps the Sumbanese Kodi tribe to both preserve their culture and assist them in the areas of health, education and development. The Thai arm of the company is actively looking for a similarly worthy cause in Thailand that can be aided in the same way.

AWOL is also currently looking at producing it's own range of branded goods, such as t-shirts, polo shirts, coasters, mugs and other items, which will be made available both via the online store and selected outlets in the Hua Hin area when the designs and manufacturers have been finalised. If you would be interested in getting involved on either the production or retailing of these products, please contact us on info@awolonline.net.

If you have a product, or range of products, that you would like AWOL to consider adding to our site, please contact us on shop@awolonline.net, or call 081 649 8361 to discuss the options.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is... Plain sailing

Smooth and easy progress.

'Plain sailing', along with the variants 'smooth sailing' and 'clear sailing', which are more common in the USA than elsewhere, is a nautical phrase that has the literal meaning of 'sailing that is easy and uncomplicated'. All of these variants of the expression are now used figuratively to describe any straightforward and trouble-free activity. There might seem to be be little more to say about 'plain sailing', if it weren't for the existence of the phrase 'plane sailing'.

'Plane sailing' is a simplified form of navigation, in which the surface of the sea is considered to be flat rather than curved, that is, on what mathematicians call a 'plane surface'. The plane method of approximation made the calculations of distance much easier than those of 'Mercator's sailing', in which the curvature of the earth was taken into account.

These days we are pretty unequivocal in our spelling - 'plain' means 'ordinary and uncomplicated' and 'plane' means 'flat'. The vagaries of spelling in the 17th century made no such distinction and 'plain' and 'plane' were used interchangeably. It is the 'plain' spelling that is found first in print, in Adam Martindale's A Collection of Letters for Improvement of Husbandry & Trade, 1683:

A token for ship boys, plain-sailing made more plain and short than usually, in three particular methods.

The first known use of the 'plane sailing' spelling isn't found until much later, in James Atkinson's Epitome of the Art of Navigation, 1749:

Plane Trigonometry applied in Problems of Sailing by the Plane Sea-Chart, commonly called Plane-Sailing.

The spelling is variable but there can be no doubt that whoever coined 'plain sailing' meant 'navigating the sea as though it were completely flat', that is, what we now call 'plane sailing'.

■ ANKARA, TURKEY The ultimate late-night kebab: Seven-cow doner sets new record

A one-tonne doner kebab made from seven cows has been crowned the largest on the planet by Guinness World Record officials in Turkey.

Officials confirmed that the gigantic meat mountain, weighing a whopping 1,198kg and measuring 2.5m, was a new world record on Tuesday.

It took ten cooks to create the gut buster, which had to be held in place by a crane while it was officially measured.

The hefty kebab smashed a previous record set in Australia in 2004, weighing almost double the size.

Working from a special set of scaffolding, the collection of cooks later cut the meat feast up into pieces for spectators at Ankara Shopping Fest in Genclik Park, Ankara.

The modern version of the doner kebab was invented by Mahmut Aygun in 1971, who first came up with the idea of putting the meat inside a pitta bread.

■ ARKANSAS, USA Lucky goose named 50 Cent after being shot seven times

A goose, which was shot seven times with a pellet gun, has been named 50 Cent after the rapper who also survived a number of shootings.

The goose was brought into a northern Arkansas animal hospital with a damaged wing after the shootings but is said to be on the mend and vets are now seeking out a home for him.

After taking a gander at the X-ray, vets felt the need to insert a metal rod and a plastic tube in order to help the bird's wing heal.

The story of 50 Cent has now gone widespread and Dr Rob Conner, from the All Creatures Veterinary Hospital, says he has received lots of calls to adopt the plucky waterfowl.

'When we X-rayed the wing, we saw the fractured bone and we saw the reason," Conner told The Baxter Bulletin. 'We counted seven pellets. None of the shots were fatal. Apparently, someone didn't like him. Sometimes, people get upset because the geese go to the bathroom everywhere.'

He also revealed that staff had wanted to call the goose Tupac but decided against it as Tupac died after his shooting.

■ THE IMPORTANCE OF "CORRECT PUNCTUATION"

Dear John:
I want a man who knows what love is all about. You are generous, kind, thoughtful. People who are not like you admit to being useless and inferior. You have ruined me for other men. I yearn for you. I have no feelings whatsoever when we're apart. I can be forever happy–will you let me be yours?

UPCOMING

Honda Summer Fest - usually takes place in May on the beach near Khao Takiab but we have to assume that there will be no event this year.

Hua Hin Jazz Festival - still no concrete information on this and now the Tourist Authority of Thailand in Prachuap Kiri Khan have changed from 'it might be the second weekend in June' to 'maybe in August'. One official even told us that it has been cancelled, while another said that 'it might be in the next couple of months' and not a single soul can say who is meant to be organising it. Whatever the reason for this situation, it is terrible for the image of the town and will lead people to think that the people in charge are incompetent.

Apologies for some incorrect Thai times last week. Games are being shown in Thailand on the Thai channels 3,5 and 7; however due to a dispute between the company that bought the rights, GMM Grammy, and True Visions, the True Visions signal for those channels has been blacked out while the games are on. This may be resolved at some point during the tournament though.

FANTASY FOOTBALL - EURO 2012

FERGUSON UNHAPPY WITH PREMIER LEAGUE FIXTURES AS MAN UNITED HANDED 19 AWAY GAMES

■ MANCHESTER, ENGLAND

Manchester United manager Sir Alex Ferguson has revealed his disappointment with the Premier League fixture list after it emerged that his side will be expected to play half of their fixtures away from home.

With trips to Chelsea, Arsenal and Liverpool forming part of the season's fixtures, Ferguson has vented his anger at other sides being a handed a home advantage for 50% of the games.

"Over the course of the season it will work out that one in two of the games we play in the league will be away from home," he fumed.

"It's something the FA should take a look at, or we could be in a situation like last year where a side that I'm not the manager of wins the league."

Left: Sir Alex Ferguson hears the news of the new season's fixture list and follows through simultaneously

Ferguson has complained about the Premier League fixture list in the past. He was unhappy in the 2008-2009, 2009-2010 and 2011-2012 seasons, as well as all the seasons before, after United were forced to play all 38 games against teams that started the match with same number of players.

He also expressed his annoyance that they had to play each of the previous season's top nine sides.

"When you're playing teams that have a chance of beating you then there's always the chance you could get beat," he explained.

"I don't thinks it's fair that we should be expected to take that chance."

He has also revealed his frustration at the fixtures for the 2013-2014 season that are due to be announced in a years time.

"I find it incredible that not only will we be expected to participate in games, but we will have to win them in order to pick up 3 points," he blasted.

"They'll be picking the referees for us next."
