COURT IN THE ACT?

CONCERNS THAT 2008 ATTEMPTED MURDER CASE IS BEING DERAILED

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

A letter sent to the Bangkok Post last week from the victim of a shooting in Hua Hin in 2008 has revealed his fears that most of the alleged perpetrators are going to be allowed to walk free due to insufficient evidence, amid veiled suggestions of corruption.

Donald Whiting was shot and partially paralysed outside his home in Hua Hin on 24th October 2008; in early 2009, following the intervention of then Prime Minister Abhisit, four people were arrested and charged for the crime, including the Thai wife of an English property developer here.

Mr Whiting writes that he received a letter from one of those arrested, Yuthana Areesawat, claiming that his mother and sister are not safe and that he feared that he alone would now go down for the attempted murder, inferring attempts to corrupt the court into finding the others not guilty.

Mr Whiting adds that the case was supposed to wrap-up on April 26th but that several key witnesses did not appear to testify. The trial has been extended for several months and the location moved to three other provinces so these witnesses can be found and made to testify, according to his letter.

As an American citizen, Mr Whiting has asked his Embassy to assist him in ensuring a proper legal process ensues, and nearly four years on in such a high profile case it is of great concern that there are doubts over this. It must be hoped that Mr Whiting's fears are groundless, and that justice will prevail. For more information on this case, visit andrew-drummond.com, and we would like to thank the 'Flying Sporran' for unearthing some of the information included here.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is... Fob off

To put off deceitfully; to attempt to satisfy with something of inferior quality or something less than one has been led to expect.

On a pleasant May morning in 1381, the king's tax collector John Brampton rode into the Essex village of Fobbing to collect the poll tax of 3 groats from each of the local villagers. The villagers gathered together, Brampton was sent packing and Britain's first Peasants' Revolt had begun. Ask anyone in the village today and they will tell you that Brampton wasn't just turned away, he was 'fobbed off' - "...and that's how the expression 'fobbed off' originated".

As is often the case with phrases that a local tourist office would like to appropriate for their neighbourhood (like 'Paint the town red' and 'Cock and bull story' for example), the link between the language and the place is spurious. Nice village it may be and the peasants there may be revolting, but 'fobbing off' has nothing to do with Fobbing.

'Fob' is known in English as a verb meaning 'to delude or impose upon' only since the 16th century - 200 years after Brampton was given the bum's rush out of Fobbing. The word is probably an import from Germany, where the earlier term 'foppen' has the same meaning.

The English playwright Robert Greene used the term in the romantic prose poem Mamillia, a mirrour or looking glasse for the ladies of England, 1583: I will not... fobbe you with fayre wordes, and foule deedes.

Greene is best known as a contributor to the pamphlet A Groats-Worth of Wit, which is widely interpreted as an attack on Shakespeare. Nevertheless, Shakespeare was happy to pick up 'fobbed' (as 'fubd' in his original manuscript) and used it in a speech by Mistress Quickly in Henry IV Part II:

I have borne, and borne, and borne, and have been fubbed off, and fubbed off, and fubbed off, from this day to that day, that it is a shame to be thought on.

So, don't be fobbed off with tour guide stories, get the real origin right here in English Corner.

■ I-PAD

I said to my girlfriend, "Please get me a newspaper."
"Don't be silly," she replied, "you can borrow my i Pad."

That spider never knew what hit it.

■ TERRORISM

I hate all this terrorist business. I used to love the days when you could look at an unattended bag on a train or bus and think to yourself I'm going to take that.

■ COMPUTER TIPS

I've changed my password to 'incorrect' so that when I forget what it is, the computer will say "your password is incorrect."

■ LIFE LESSONS

A man asked his doctor if he thought he'd live to be a hundred.
The doctor asked the man, "Do you smoke or drink?"
"No," he replied, "I've never done either."
"Do you gamble, drive fast cars, and fool around with women?" inquired the doctor.
"No, I've never done any of those things either."
"Well then," said the doctor, "what do you want to live to be a hundred for?"

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

You have long held the position that there's nothing funny about testicular cancer, but due to the terrible, cruel, infantile nature of the human sense of humor, you're just plain wrong.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

The ghost of Vic Tayback will appear to you in a dream and tell you he's disappointed in you, making you feel inadequate and forcing you to find out who Vic Tayback is.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

You will soon be the envy of all the other people in your office, most of whom spend the day wishing they were dead.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

You will receive a mention in an exhaustive Bangkok Post piece titled "6 Billion To Watch Under 100."

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

If someone had told you a week ago that there was something better than sex, you wouldn't have believed it. This week, however, you will discover sex with other people.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

Your relationship has been exciting, fun, and different, but it may be time to turn this guy in for the reward money.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

You could spend hours just watching people, but it's nothing compared to the time and money that certain people have spent watching you.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

Look at it this way: If you were a better engineer, there wouldn't have been so much exciting car-crash news in the past couple of months.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Your career may be disappointing, but at least you haven't been stuck being an anthropomorphized arrangement of random stars for the last umpteen-million years.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

Your thoughtfulness will be much appreciated next Thursday when your friends and family realize you chose a tombstone that's just the right size to support a Weber Smokey Joe grill.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

By the time people realize your evil hoax, you'll be in Phuket, possibly not far enough to escape the punishment for swapping carob for chocolate.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

This would be a good week for you to take control of your life and your destiny, but hey, this is you we're talking about.

UPCOMING

Hua Hin Jazz Festival - still no concrete information on this and now the Tourist Authority of Thailand in Prachuap Kiri Khan have changed from 'it might be the second weekend in June' to 'maybe in August'. One official even told us that it has been cancelled, while another said that 'it might be in the next couple of months' and not a single soul can say who is meant to be organising it. Whatever the reason for this situation, it is terrible for the image of the town and will lead people to think that the people in charge are incompetent.

FANTASTIC BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

Due to other business interests in the UK and Thailand and possible expansion of Shake Central, the owners offer the following for sale:

First class kiosk business for sale/lease in Hua Hin's Market Village; A fantastic funky new concept for Asia serving the most delicious milkshakes, thick shakes, made to order gourmet burgers and hot dogs and the most refreshing hot and cold drinks in Thailand (alcohol license included). This stunning Kiosk was purpose built by a leading Asian kitchen design team.

- Great brand name/logo with Thailand trademarks in place, ideal to franchise throughout Thailand if bought.
- Number one shopping centre in Hua Hin with good foot flow
- Great location with extended car park being built guaranteeing extra passing trade with customers approaching front and back of kiosk
- Lease extendable
- Trading for 12 months and good reason for sale due to other business interests worldwide
- All documentation in place to run a successful trading business
- All top of the range appliances, which are hotel industry standard, included in price: PLU cash register/ Sanden intercool fridge and freezer/ Ice cream freezer/ Anwil burger grill/ Hoshizaki ice machine/ Siemens cooker hood/ ROI water filtration system.
- Large quantities of branded/logo - menus/ cups/ placemats/ drink mats
- Website included and social medias including Twitter and Facebook, which has a growing audience of 1913 friends already.
- Low overheads
- Corporate features and presentation
- Includes a five million baht registered company which enables the possibility of two work permits for foreigners

Plus -- included in the offer is a merchandising opportunity with products from www.tickettothemoonthailand.com which can be screen printed with the Shakeman brand, and fit into the leisure/tourism industry and are ideal for selling in places such as Hua Hin. These alone could pay the Shake Central monthly rental and they are willing to sign an exclusivity contract with any buyer to sell in Market Village subject to targets.

This opportunity would be ideal for a foreigner with a Thai wife/ partner who could work and manage it, thus keeping overheads down.

Please contact property@awolonline.net for more information or to arrange a meeting with the owners

■ STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN Swedish police appeal for help to find girl's missing teddy

A picture of the missing bear has appeared on Facebook, after Tyra Blomqvist lost the stuffed animal on the Swedish island of Kungsholmen.

Stockholm police have posted a picture of the animal in question on its official page, after a local officer saw posters made by the little girl.

Tyra's sign showed a photo of her toy and read: 'Have you seen my teddy bear, I dropped it somewhere on Hantverksgatan on June 19th?'

Underneath the picture of the bear on the Sodermalm police site the caption read: 'Together, through 'liking' this picture, spreading the link, and keeping our eyes open, we can together make it so Tyra gets her beloved teddy back.

'Be sure to leave the bear at the nearest police station so Tyra can see her friend again!' it added.

The little girl's distraught mother, Kristin Blomqvist told Nyheter24 that it was important that Tyra was reunited with her bear as it 'really means a lot to her'.

Ms Blomqvist explained: 'She can't sleep properly at night without it, and she searches for it when she wakes in the morning.'

The photo has so far had over 500 likes and 100 shares on Facebook, but the bear has yet to be returned to its rightful owner.

■ WARWICKSHIRE, UK Family rides a camel when they need to nip out for the groceries

When Rebecca Fossett goes on the school run or picks up the groceries, she often doesn't bother with the car. Instead, she pops out to the fields around her home – and hops on one of the family camels.

The Fossetts are Britain's only owners of a herd of camels.

'We go out in public on them once or twice a week and people love seeing them,' said Mrs Fossett, 42. 'People think camels are grumpy and spit all the time but that couldn't be further from the truth. They are great company and very affectionate.'

At £10,000 each, the six dromedary and Bactrian camels – named Ruby, Sahara, Sophia, Kokoso, Kazak and Veneta – certainly don't come cheap.

But the Fossetts have turned them into a thriving business. taking customers on countryside treks from their tree-lined village of Idlicote, in Warwickshire.

THREE LIONS ON A SHIRT

HODGSON CONVINCED ENGLAND HAVE WON EURO 2012

■ KIEV, UKRAINE

ROY Hodgson has congratulated his side for winning Euro 2012 after misunderstanding how the tournament works.

Last week's victory over Ukraine, which included a linesman distracted by a passing wasp, put England at the top of Group D. However, amiable Hodgson is convinced that England have won the actual tournament and no-one has the heart to tell him otherwise. Apparently he is under the impression that the quarter final loss to Italy was actually a friendly, and England will now fly home to tour the 'ceremonial fax' from Uefa confirming their final table position through London in an open-topped bus.

The piece of paper will then be carefully laminated and placed in the trophy cabinet in Wembley Stadium where the FA hope it will inspire future generations of visitors to dream of England not losing three games in a competitive tournament once again in the future.

Baddiel, Skinner and the Lightning Seeds have gone back into the recording studio to mark the occasion and will release the 300th version of Football's Coming Home, this time entitled We Have Won Group D.

Hodgson said last night: "We've come here to do a job, we've done it, now I just need to get our Iris a fridge magnet, make sure all my postcards have been sent and I'll be ready to get home to my own bed.

"The one they've got here is like a bag of rocks and I've not had a wink of sleep for weeks but they're a very friendly people so long as you keep one eye on your wallet.

"Young Theo said he went out to buy a Mini Milk the other day and the cheeky beggar in the shop swore blind he'd given him a ten rather than a twenty."

The FA has decided to go along with Hodgson's misunderstanding through a mixture of sympathy for the manager and the realisation that this might be the only way of overseeing a successful team. They will petition Uefa this week for a total media blackout on the actual winners to prevent Hodgson finding out.
