BUILDING BOOM

TEN BILLION BAHT OF NEW CONDO PROJECTS TO LAUNCH

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

The construction boom in the Hua Hin area shows no signs of easing as we head towards the end of this year and into next, with the news this week that condo projects totalling 10 billion baht are planned for Hua Hin.

The Nation reported that property firms are launching these condominium projects in the current half of the year after launching 17 such projects worth 35 billion in the final quarter of 2011.

Sansiri president Srettha Thavisin said demand for homes in Hua Hin was growing strongly. All of the condo projects it launched here early this year have sold out. As a result, the company plans three new projects worth 2.6 billion baht during the rest of the year. The first is Baan Imm-Aim worth 350 million baht, which will launch in the middle of this month.

Baan Ratchaprasong Co will introduce the second phase of Energy Hua Hin on 15 rai this month after selling out its 20 billion baht first phase last year. LPN Development plans to launch its first condominium project in Hua Hin, worth nearly 2 billion baht, in the final quarter.

SC Asset Corporation plans a second residential project worth nearly 2 billion baht in Hua Hin in the current second half, after successfully selling out its first condominium project, The Crest Santora Hua Hin, in the first half of the year.

A number of other construction projects for retail space, hotels and houses are either planned, under construction or recently completed, with the most recent being a new Tesco Lotus store that has opened opposite Soi 112. South of the town and Khao Takiab are particularly awash with new projects, and it appears that many of the condos are being bought as a result of last year's flooding in Bangkok, with people fearing a repeat in future years.

■ BREDA, NETHERLANDS Thousands celebrate at Redhead Day Festival in the Netherlands

Ginger hair enthusiasts from around the globe headed to the Netherlands this weekend to take part in the country's annual Redhead Day Festival celebrations.

More than 1,400 redhead revellers from 52 countries took over the southern Dutch city of Breda, where the event has been held since 2005. With approximately just 1–2 per cent of the human population born with red hair, many participants head to Roodharigendag to meet up with like-minded, or like-haired, redheads.

'Getting a group of redheads together in this way is pretty rare, we lack the opportunity for community that most other minority groups have,' explained Jessica Shailes of online retailer Everything for Redheads.

'There will be a real opportunity to share experiences, opinions and sun block!' Another visitor added: 'It is a weird feeling to not stand out. It's good.'

Festival organiser Bart Rouwenhourst added: 'We have families with children, we have older people who were teased as children and then we have many proud women who come to the festival. When people come together as redheads, they just look at each other,' he told the BBC. 'They have a certain bond.'

The festival, paid for in part by the local government in Breda, offers cultural events, music, a fashion show and art exhibitions from and for the red haired community.

■ NEW HAMPSHIRE, USA Woman arrested four times in 26 hrs for playing 'Highway to Hell' too loud

A New Hampshire woman, Joyce Coffey, got into trouble from the police for blasting the AC/DC song and other loud music from her home.

Police first issued a warning to the Epping local on Tuesday afternoon, according to authorities, and an hour later arrested her for playing extremely loud music. She was arrested again five hours later, before being released and rearrested again early on Wednesday, again because of her insufferably noisy music.

Ms Coffey was then arrested for the fourth time after her nephew told police he attempted to remove some of his belongings from the house and she threw a frying pan at him.

After being jailed on Friday, WMUR-TV reported that a judge has since recommended that she use headphones, to avoid further punishment for indulging in extremely loud rock tracks.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is... . On tenterhooks
In a state of uncomfortable suspense.
Tenterhooks aren't directly connected with tents, nor are they the hooks used by butchers, as the common misspelling 'tenderhooks' might suggest. A tenter is a wooden frame, often in the form of a line of fencing, used to hang woollen or linen cloth to prevent it from shrinking as it dries. The tenterhooks are, not surprisingly, the hooks on the tenter used to hold the cloth in place.
Tenters are no longer everyday objects but a hundred years ago, in wool weaving areas like the North of England, they were a common sight on the land around the many woollen mills, called 'tenter-fields'. It is easy to see how the figurative expression 'on tenterhooks', with its meaning of painful tension, derived from the 'tenting' or stretching of fabric. The expression was originally 'on the tenters'. The English West Country playright John Ford was the first to record that expression in the play Broken Heart, 1633:
Passion, O, be contained. My very heart strings Are on the Tenters.
Towards the end of the century the more accurate 'on the tenterhooks' began to replace the earlier phrase. This first example found of it in print is in the 1690 edition of a periodical that was published annually between 1688 and 1693, The General History of Europe:
The mischief is, they will not meet again these two years, so that all business must hang upon the tenterhooks till then.

FAMOUS SEA CAPTAIN

Once upon a time there was a famous sea captain. This captain was very successful at what he did; for years he guided merchant ships all over the world. Never did stormy seas or pirates get the best of him. He was admired by his crew and fellow captains.

However, there was one thing different about this captain.

Every morning he went through a strange ritual. He would lock himself in his captain's quarters and open a small safe. In the safe was an envelope with a piece of paper inside. He would stare at the paper for a minute, and then lock it back up. Afterwards he went about his daily duties.

For years this went on and his crew became very curious. Was it a treasure map? Was it a letter from a long lost love?

Everyone speculated about the contents of the strange envelope.

One day the captain died at sea. After laying the captain's body to rest, the first mate led the entire crew into the captain's quarters.

He opened the safe, got the envelope, opened it and the first mate turned pale and showed the paper to the others.

Four words were on the paper, two on two lines: Port Left, Starboard Right.

PARALYMPICS

The Paralympics blind football bosses have announced that they won't be using visually impaired referees.

Howard Webb and Phil Dowd are said to be gutted.

RAPPIN'

I was on a plane and the air hostess asked "do you want headphones?"

I said "Blimey, how did you know my name was Phones?!"

A TRUCK FULL OF MONKEYS

A lorry breaks down on the Phetkasem Road with a cargo of live monkeys on board bound for Bangkok Zoo. They need to be delivered by 9 am and the driver fears he'll get the sack if he doesn't get them there on time.

He decides to try and thumb a lift for his monkeys and eventually a guy pulls over.

"Where are you going?" asks the guy.

"Do us a favour mate and take these monkeys to Bangkok Zoo" says the lorry driver, "There's ten thousand baht in it for your troubles."

"Happy days!" says the guy and loads the monkeys onto his pickup and drives off.

The lorry driver goes about trying to fix his truck and is there for a good few hours. He then sees the guy driving back down the motorway, still with all the chimps on board.

Panicking, he flags him down again.

"What the hell are you playing at?" He fumes. "I gave you ten thousand baht to take them to Bangkok Zoo".

"I did", says the guy, "But there's still five thousand baht left so now we're off to Santorini Park".

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

You may not be a wealthy man, or a rich man, or even a prosperous man, but then, you do have a mastery of English-language synonyms.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

It may seem like torture to you now, but one day you'll thank your parents for ripping off those fingernails.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

You'll do it for the children this week, which is really too bad, as "it" involves exposing yourself behind some bushes.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

Your shortness of breath and wild fainting spells will be cured this week thanks to a series of well-placed commas.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

They say you have a head for numbers, but that's because "head for tumors" isn't really an expression.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

The stars apologize for last week's prediction of "money problems." Looks like they forgot the "k" in there.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

You'll soon possess the courage of 10 men, and the sexually transmitted diseases of about 50.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

The stars foresee a second job promotion in the days to come, though they should probably be telling Dave about it instead of you.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Your creativity will be at an all-time high today, much to the dismay of your wife, the vacuum-cleaner salesman, and the dozen or so poodles.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

Text "LIBRA" now for your chance to enter our weekly Astrological Giveaway! (Contest void in Hawaii, Alaska, and the binary star system of Alpha Centauri.)

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

You're no art expert, but you know what you like, which explains all the meatball sandwiches hanging on your walls.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

Things will look up this week, before baring their teeth, rearing up on their hind legs, and suddenly leaping at your throat.

WEDNESDAY 12TH SEPTEMBER 2012
FIFA WORLD CUP 2014 QUALIFYING - EUROPEAN
Georgia v Spain (Grp I) 00:30
Boris Paichadze Stadium, Tibilisi, Georgia
European Champions Spain have found themselves in a tough old group of five and are not at all guaranteed qualification for the World Cup. This is a tricky first match, and the Georgians are notoriously passionate and create an intimidating atmosphere. We wouldn't be at all surprised to see Spain drop points here, and as already said, with Belarus, Finland and France also in the group this is likely to be tight.

RODGERED!

LIVERPOOL TO BID £40M FOR NEW WEST HAM STRIKER

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

Liverpool boss Brendan Rodgers is hoping to entice new West Ham signing Andy Carroll back to Anfield just 72 hours after the out-of-favour striker left the club.

The club, who are level on points with Aston Villa, plan to use the January transfer window to offer Carroll a lucrative deal worth £40m and as much hay as he can eat.

Rodgers let the Plan B striker leave for Upton Park as he was convinced he would bring in Fulham's Clint Dempsey with the offer of a semi-detached house in Bootle with round-the-clock CCTV coverage.

However, the deal fell through with Liverpool's owners understood to be reluctant to meet Dempsey's £20k demand for a new kitchen extension and perpendicular breakfast bar.

Rodgers admitted last night that Carroll's departure and Dempsey's failure to sign has left him with fewer striking options than a South African miner.

Liverpool FC are not alone in missing Carroll. Since his move to West Ham, bars and strip-joints in the city centre have reported their takings are down by 50%.

Left: Andy Carroll in reflective mood, considering the choice between playing for a manager that will pick him every week and play to his strengths or one that will give him ten minutes to win the game when his tippy tappy style has failed.

The under-fire LFC boss now faces the prospect of reassembling a strike force from the usable parts of Michael Owen and the remnants of Robbie Fowler's nose.

Rodgers told us, "Andy is a proven goalscorer and has the additional advantage of knowing his way around the city's complex one-way system."

"Did I mention that he can have his old locker back?"

Last night Rodgers was quick to play down rumours of a rift with the club's American owners despite finding a heavily-pierced dartboard with a picture of his face on it in an executive box.
