GO AWOL IN CHA AM

AWOL AVAILABLE IN CHA AM FROM NEXT WEEK

■ CHA AM, THAILAND

For many years Cha Am has been the beach destination of choice for Thais escaping Bangkok or other central Thailand towns and cities, and every weekend the place is full of Thai vacationers. Increasingly though it is becoming a place for both foreign expats to live, and foreign tourists and Hua Hin expats to visit as a refreshing alternative to it's bustling neighbour. It has been our intention for some time to make AWOL more easily available there, and while it was for a time a couple of years ago, this was only in a couple of locations.

From next week AWOL will be distributed to between twenty and thirty locations in Cha Am, with more being added as the demand becomes apparent. There will also be a new section of the paper dedicated to Cha Am, which will include a map and any local news or information we obtain or that is supplied to us which we feel will be of interest to readers. Please send any information you have on either Cha Am or the Hua Hin area to submissions@awolonline.net or call 081 649 8361 to tell us about it. We will add to the new section as needed, which might include a separate classifieds section, live events/balloon chasers and local sports among other things.

Our thanks go to Darren at the Cha Am Pub and Restaurant and Stuart at the Blue Lagoon Bar for helping us with this, and the Cha Am Pub will be our local contact point for anyone wishing to make enquiries or place adverts; Please call 082 251 0871 for initial enquiries if you are in Cha Am, or use our regular contact options that you can find on page 25. This also includes requests to have copies of AWOL delivered every Friday to your business for your customers to read there or take home with them.

■ LUCKNOW, INDIA School with 45,000 pupils crowned the world's biggest

An Indian school with 45,000 pupils, 2,500 teachers and 1,000 classrooms has been named the world's biggest by Guinness World Records. The City Montessori School (CMS) in Lucknow had 39,437 pupils registered in the 2010-2011 academic year, but bosses say enrolment numbers have already risen above the 45,000 mark.

Opened back in 1959 by Jagdish Gandhi and his wife Bharti, with a loan of just 300 rupees, and amazingly, just five pupils, the school now sprawls over 20 sites in the city and has pupils between the ages of three and 17.

Mr Gandhi, who still plays a part in the school at the age of 75, said: 'The phenomenal growth of our school is a reflection of our efforts to please our parents with our service to their children. Our students have exceptional academic results each year and outstanding global exposure. Getting this Guinness record is heartening but it's not just about size.'

While the school promotes the advantages of being able to make lots of friends, it does admit there is nowhere big enough to hold an assembly.

■ ITACOATIARA, BRAZIL Mysterious softball-sized eyeball washes up on Florida beach

State wildlife officials in Florida are trying to determine the species of the blue eyeball, which was discovered by Gino Covacci on Pompano Beach, north of Fort Lauderdale. 'It was very, very fresh,' he told local press. 'It was still bleeding when I put it in the plastic bag.'

The eyeball has been put on ice to preserve it and will be analysed at the Florida Fish and Wildlife Research Institute in St Petersburg. Agency spokeswoman Carli Segelson says the eyeball likely came from a marine animal, since it was found on a beach. 'This is definitely an unusual situation, where an eye would be found independent of any other body part,' she added.

So far, possibilities include a giant squid, a whale or some type of large fish. The organisation has added the image of the eye to its Facebook page and asked fans to get in touch with their suggestions. Facebook users currently do not seem to be taking the quest for knowledge seriously, with some suggesting it came from Sauron, the scourge of Middle Earth, or even from Bigfoot.

■ Do you wonder why we say certain things, or what they really mean? Each week we will examine a different word or phrase and tell you how it came about.

This week it is... . Jobs for the boys

Favouritism where jobs or other patronage is given to friends and acquaintances.

The boys in this phrase means any group of men who share a common interest or background. It has been suggested that the phrase derives from the class system in England which used to, and to an extent still does, maintain an 'old boys network'. This confines power and patronage within a closed upper class group, i.e. the 'old boys' of English public schools. There's no record of 'jobs for the boys' being used in a UK context until well into the 20th century though. It had previously been used widely in the USA; for example, this item from the New York newspaper The Syracuse Herald, October 1913:

"Party government isn't organized for efficiency, nor to serve the people. It is organized to provide jobs for the boys."

'Jobs For The Boys' had a different meaning when it was used as a slogan following both WWI and WWII. This was an expression of public gratitude for the demobbed soldiers who were returning home. A 1918 advert for the American United Illuminating Co. promised to:

"Dispel pessimism - create trade, confidence and brightness in the period of reconstruction. We will aid in creating new jobs for the boys in the Service when they return without crowding out those who have taken their place."

The company wasn't shy of missing a marketing opportunity and added to the above that it was the readers' "New Patriotic Duty to Use Electric Signs".

A LITTLE POEM

I have a little satnav
It sits inside my car
A satnav is a driver's friend
It tells you where you are

I have a little satnav
I've had it all my life
It's better than the normal ones
My satnav is my wife

It gives me full instructions
Especially how to drive
"It's thirty miles an hour", it says
"You're doing thirty five"

It tells me when to stop and start,
And when to use the brake
And tells me that it's never ever
Safe to overtake

It tells me when a light is red
And when it goes to green
It seems to know instinctively
Just when to intervene

It lists the vehicles just in front
And all those to the rear
And taking this into account
It specifies my gear.

I'm sure no other driver
Has so helpful a device
For when we leave and lock the car
It still gives its advice

It fills me up with counselling
Each journey's pretty fraught
So why don't I exchange it
And get a quieter sort?

Ah well, you see, it cleans the house,
Makes sure I'm properly fed,
It washes all my shirts and things
And - keeps me warm in bed!

Despite all these advantages
And my tendency to scoff,
I do wish that once in a while
I could turn the bloody thing off.

ONE MAN'S LOSS

A bereaved man went to put his wifes death in the local paper. The paper tells him that it costs 50 baht a word. He only has 200 baht so he thinks what to put with the four words.
Simply putting "Daphne Smith is dead", the newspaper staff take pity on him and tell him he can have another four words for free.
'Thanks' he says, 'can you put in then "Daphne Smith is dead, Nissan Micra for sale" '.

SUNDAY 21ST OCTOBER 2012
PREMIER LEAGUE
Sunderland v Newcastle 19:30
Stadium of Light, Sunderland, England
Forget the North London, Manchester, Merseyside or even the Old Firm derby, when it comes to vociferous and passionate local fans these matches are up there with all of them. The crowd will guarantee an intense and fierce match, and the two managers both demand absolute committment, so this should be hell-for-leather thrill-a-minute stuff. The sides have two of the most potent current strikers in the league in Demba Ba and Stephen Fletcher, and we expect a few goals in this one.
A thrilling game that we think will end in a high scoring draw.

ANFIELD TO BE BIGGEST STADIUM IN CHAMPIONSHIP

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

LIVERPOOL'S redeveloped ground will have the largest capacity in the second tier, it has emerged.

The extensive works will begin once all of Stewart Downing's shanked crosses and Steven Gerrard's 90-yard passes have been cleared off the roof.

Manager Brendan Rodgers said: "By this time next year we'll be facing the likes of Ipswich and Barnsley, so the workmen can carry on in the sizeable empty parts of the stadium while matches are being played.

"There's very little chance of them being distracted by crowd noise, as it's usually the home team scoring that causes kerfuffle."

Former owners Hicks and Gillett's proposals for a 300,000-seat anti-gravity omnidome hovering in the stratosphere were shelved after proving scientifically impossible.

Above: Anfield as it is now; plans to have the redeveloped stadium resemble a giant hubcap had to be shelved after police advice

And suggestions that Liverpool and Everton share a ground were abandoned after debate about which set of fans would be friendlier and more welcoming triggered a month-long riot.

Liverpool's ten-year business plan will see seating capacity continually increased as the club hurtles down the tables.

When the club finally slips into non-league football in 2022, its stadium will be visible from space.
