HIGHLY STRUNG

WORLD NUMBER ONE AND THREE WOMEN TENNIS STARS TO PLAY IN HUA HIN

HUA HIN, THAILAND

It is still a couple of months away but the news this week that once again two of the world's top female tennis stars will be playing an exhibition match in Hua Hin will already have local tennis fans drooling.

Serena Williams and Victoria Azarenka will face off in the Hua Hin World Tennis Invitation on Saturday 29th December at Centennial Park. This will be the second year running for world number one Azarenka, who beat then number one Caroline Wozniacki last year in Hua Hin. She has won 14 titles in her career with six of them coming in 2012, including the Australian Open.

Williams is currently ranked third in the world, and this will be her first match on Thai soil. She has won an astonishing 45 singles titles, including 15 Grand Slam titles and the Olympic gold. She also has 12 Grand Slam doubles titles and three Grand Slam mixed doubles titles. Serena has won six titles in 2012, including Wimbledon, the US Open and the Olympic Games.

In their five matches this year, Serena has won all of them, and the exhibition match will be in the format of two sets and a third set super-tie-break. Lawn Tennis Association of Thailand Suwat Lipatapanlop president said, "Victoria and Serena are the biggest names in women's tennis. We are absolutely delighted to welcome Vika back to Thailand again this year. She won the hearts of everyone who saw her last year. And it is a real pleasure to welcome Serena for the first time. This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for Thai fans to be able to watch Serena play," Suwat added.

Tickets for the Hua Hin World Tennis Invitation are Bt1,500 and go on sale at all Thaiticketmajor outlets and Major Hua Hin from tomorrow (Saturday).

■ UNITED KINGDOM Farmer claims on phone insurance after iPhone 'gets stuck inside a cow'

It may sound like a load of old bull but a farmer who claims to have lost his iPhone up a cow's bottom tops a list of unusual mobile phone insurance claims.

The agriculturalist from Barnstable in Devon, said he was using a torch app on his iPhone 3GS while assisting a cow giving birth before it disappeared out of sight.

When the man in his 30s was eventually reunited with his smartphone it was too damaged to use, leading to his bizarre insurance claim.

A close second on the strange list, revealed by MobileInsurance.co.uk, was from a Nottingham woman who said she accidentally baked her Nokia 6303i inside a Victoria Sponge cake.

A woman in her 20s using her BlackBerry Bold as an adult toy and a couple dropping a phone in the ocean while re-enacting the a scene from Titanic also made the list.

MobileInsurance.co.uk executive John Lamerton said he had seen a lot of 'weird and wonderful claims' from customers.

He added: 'I'm not sure how some of them even came about, particularly in the case of the farmer and the cow.

'Mobile phones are only going up in price now, so it pays to have them insured for as many scenarios as possible.

'Judging by these claims, you really never know what you might need to claim for.

'My advice would be to just use the phone as a phone and not as an ingredient in a cake or a firework for that matter.'

The top ten weirdest claims made:

1. Lost inside a cow
2. Baked into a cake
3. Flushed down a lavatory
4. Snatched by a seagull
5. Blasted by fireworks
6. Stolen by monkeys
7. Dropped from a tree
8. Thrown at a boyfriend
9. Worn out by 'intimate' use
10. Dropped overboard

■ A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

This week it is... . Cock-a-hoop

In a state of exuberant elation.

This expression has one of the most Byzantine etymologies of all the phrases in English. It is unique in that its origin has been clouded by the intervention of two pieces of 17th century guesswork. The lexicographer Thomas Blount wrote a dictionary entitled Glossographia and the 1670 edition of the work included a speculation on the source of 'Cock-on-hoop': Our Ancestors call'd that the Cock which we call a Spigget, or perhaps they used such Cocks in their vessels, as are still retained in water-pipes; the Cock being taken out, and laid on the hoop of the vessel, they used to drink up the ale as it ran out without intermission and then they were Cock-on-Hoop , i.e. at the height of mirth and jollity; a saying still retained'.

This view was probably derived from early texts, like John Palsgrave's 1540 translation of the Latin text The Comedye of Acolastus: "Let us sette the cocke on the hope and make good chere within doores."

Plausible indeed, but we don't really know what 'cocke' or 'hope' (hoop) Palsgrave was referring to - the OED has numerous meanings for both words. The problem with Blount's account is that he simply asserts it to be fact, without offering any evidence. People believed it but it casts doubt on the usefulness as evidence of any use of the phrase post 1670, as they are just repetitions of popular belief rather than of fact. One possible origin that he ignored was the pub signs that show a cock and a hoop, which have existed since at least the 14th century - long predating his theory. Another theory was that the expression was a translation of the French 'coc-a-huppe'. This was suggested by Edward Phillips, a rival of Blunt's, in the dictionary New World of Words, 1678: Cock-a-hoop (French coc-a-huppe, a Cock with a Crest). All upon the Spur, high in mirth, or standing upon high terms.

For good measure, Phillips also repeated Blount's theory, which tends to undermine one's confidence in him. Whether the original meaning of 'cock-a-hoop' was 'turn on the taps, let the liquor flow and cast off all restraint' or 'stand on the barrel and crow with exaltation' (or something else entirely) we aren't ever likely to now know. Suffice it to say, if you come up with and publish a theory of your own, someone will believe it.

OVERSEAS CALLS INFORMATION

There are a number of ways to reduce the costs of overseas calls, and this section will expand (with your help) to bring this information to everybody.

FREE CALLS

If your mobile phone or device and that of the person you are calling supports it, you can use a number of apps to make free calls anywhere, with the best known being Skype and Viber. These do rely on a decent internet connection though, something that is not always found here.

REVERSE CHARGE CALLS

The way to do this and the charge for the recipient varies depending on the country you are calling. The list below is the free number you need to call to connect to an operator of that country to request the reverse charge call.

UK	001-999-44-1066
USA	001-999-11111
AUSTRALIA	001-999-61-1000
AUS. (other)	001-8000-738-3773

More numbers will be added as soon as we have them and many thanks to the staff at the CAT office in Hua Hin for their assistance in getting these numbers. If you know the number for your country, please email us on info@awolonline.net.

CHEAP CALLS

Almost all of the mobile phone operators offer special numbers to prefix an international number to get cheap rate international calls. Call the following numbers for the appropriate operator to find out their current offer.
True 1331

■ THE NAVY WINE TASTER

At a wine merchant's warehouse the regular taster died, and the director started looking for a new one to hire. A retired Chief Petty Officer, drunk and with a ragged dirty look, came to apply for the position. The director wondered how to send him away. They gave him a glass of wine to taste.The old Chief tried it and said, "It's a Muscat three years old, grown on a north slope, matured in steel containers. Low grade but acceptable." "That's correct," said the boss. "Another glass, please." "It's a cabernet, eight years old, south-western slope, oak barrels, matured at eight degrees. Requires three more years for finest results." "Absolutely correct. A third glass." "It's a pinot blanc champagne, high grade and exclusive," calmly said the drunk. The director was astonished and winked at his secretary to suggest something. She left the room and came back in with a glass of urine. The old Navy Chief tried it. "It's a blonde, 26 years old, three months pregnant, and if I don't get the job, I'll name the father."

■ MY DOG

My dog sleeps 20 hours a day. He can eat whenever he wants. His meals are provided free. He visits the Doctor once a year for a check-up, and when any medical needs arise. For this he pays nothing, and nothing is required of him. He lives in a nice neighbourhood in a house that is much larger than he needs, but he is not required to make any contribution to the running or maintenance of the house. If he makes a mess, someone else cleans it up. He has a choice of luxurious places to sleep. He receives these accommodations absolutely free. He is living like a King, and has absolutely no expenses whatsoever. All of his costs are picked up by others who go out, work hard, and earn a living every day. I was just thinking about all this, and suddenly it hit me.....
I think my dog is an illegal immigrant.

AN INSIGHT INTO MC CLUBS

The intent of this piece is to give you an overview of the structure and philosophy of the traditional motorcycle club (MC). If motorcycles influence your lifestyle, then you are part of the motorcycle community. Of all the types of organizations found within that community, the traditional motorcycle club stands apart.

The general public does not distinguish between different club colours. In many cases, they simply can't tell the difference: we're all "Biker Scum" to them. If one club causes a problem, the offending club's identity is either confused or ignored and the heat comes down on all clubs. Because of this EVERYONE needs to be aware that no matter whether they are in a club or an independent rider, their actions reflect on all in the motorcycle community. The MC clubs tend to police themselves to avoid such incidents. There is not enough space here to cover all aspects of MC clubs, but the vast majority are not the demons the media make them out to be - they have codes of honour and respect, and the members have to earn the right to wear the club's patch by showing the right attitude and respecting not just other club members but anyone they come into contact with. All MC clubs have their own ways of doing things, but normally the process of becoming a member is not just a question of who you know and sewing on a patch. The other members have to feel comfortable that you won't let the club down in your behaviour or attitude.

FOOTBALLERS ACCUSE REFEREE OF TALKING LIKE A FOOTBALLER TO A REFEREE

LONDON, ENGLAND

Chelsea players have accused referee Mark Clattenburg of talking to them as if he was a Chelsea player addressing a referee.

Clattenburg is alleged to have attempted to use the footballers' own language in an attempt to communicate with them during Chelsea's loss to Manchester United on Sunday.

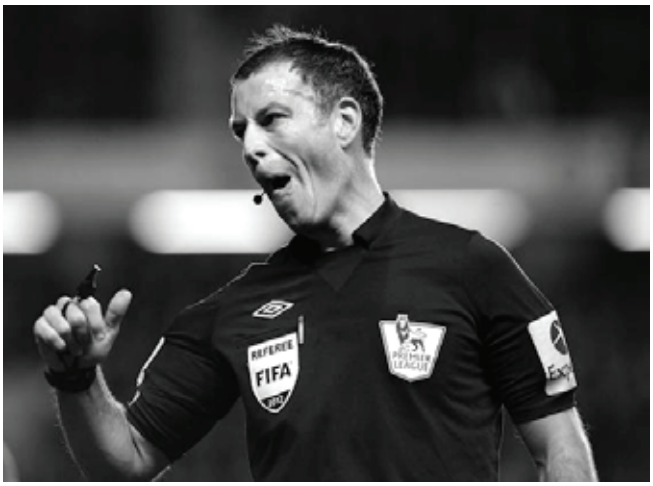
A spokesperson for the West London side explained, "There is a very clear dynamic in professional football, and that is players giving officials dogs abuse, and officials just standing there impotently taking it."

"If a referee wanted to swear angrily at people on the pitch, then they should have become footballers themselves."

"These players train for years to reach the point where they can scream obscenities at officials in front of millions of people on television – yet he thinks he can just rock up and start giving it the verbals. No. Not acceptable."

"We want him strung up."

Chelsea have denied that the accusations stem from the fact they lost yesterday's game, and that verbally abusive referees are a real threat to the modern game.



Left: Mark 'Gurning Champion 2012' Clattenberg claims that he didn't call anyone a nasty name but was merely repeating the crowd song about a man in black in a questioning manner - mimicing Chelsea's very own John Terry

Manager Roberto Di Matteo explained, "This has absolutely nothing to do with us losing the game in controversial circumstances."

"We would definitely still be complaining if we'd won. We've got players in tears in the dressing room, they simply haven't been exposed to this sort of language before."

"One of my players reckons Clattenburg even dropped the f-bomb. This will take a while to recover from, and the counselling bill alone could run into the thousands."

"I hope they throw the book at him."
