AWOL

ABSENT WITHOUT LEAVE FOR THE EXPAT IN ALL OF US
What's happening, and might be happening, in and around Hua Hin

ARE YOU READY?

BE IT THE END OF THE WORLD OR JUST THE END OF THE YEAR, HUA HIN IS EXPLODING!

HUA HIN, THAILAND

We are not sure if we have any Mayan readers out there, but if we do, we hope they enjoy their last ever issue of AWOL, as according to some interpretations of the Mayan calendar, the world will end on 21st December 2012. For all the rest of you, next week's issue will of course be the penultimate AWOL of the year, and the last before Christmas. The big question is, are we all ready, not just for Christmas but the New Year and beyond that follows?

In the immediate future of Hua Hin there are a number of large and small events celebrating both Christmas and more significantly for the Thais, the arrival of 2013, or 2556 as it is in the Thai calendar. There are at least three large public events to bring in the New Year, at Centennial Park, Market Village and the Plearn Wan complex, and a plethora of hotel and restaurant hosted events for both Christmas and the turn of the year, not least at several of our advertisers, including Buffalo Tavern, Terrace 90, Larry's, Cha Am Pub, The Dutchman and Bobby's Bar.

In the more distant future, later in 2013 and 2014, Hua Hin is gearing itself up for a boom in both tourism and population. Large infrastructure projects, both private and public will be ongoing and some completed in 2013, with the most notable expected to be the long running Market Village car park extension which is now partially open. Work on the canal road is not expected to finish next year but we are sure to see significant progress. The Bluport complex will have started construction, and by 2014 Hua Hin will already have experienced big changes in both it's look and the numbers coming here. There will be growing pains as we see the emergence of a city, and quite possibly a provincial capital, before our eyes; now, are you ready?

■ WORLD World's most expensive Christmas dinner costs £125,000 (6 million baht)

Diners have been offered the chance to eat the world's most expensive Christmas dinner, costing £125,000. Those who choose to order the four-course meal shouldn't feel too guilty about spending the obscene amount though as the proceeds will go to charity. People buying the meal, which is for four people, can look forward to tasting some of the most expensive ingredients in the world. An Almas caviar ($5,000) is served as the first course, along with a balsamic vinegar that is 150 years old. The turkey main will include Wagyu beef fillet and heart ($5,000) and be sprinkled with Akbari Pistachios ($5,000) and edible 50 carat gold leaf. If you've still got an appetite after this you can round off the meal with a deliciously expensive dessert of whipped Kopi Luwak ($3,000) and Densuke watermelon ($2,600). And you'll be able to wash this all down with $37,000 pre-World War One champagne that will be poured into diamond studded champagne flutes.

The expensive dinner will be prepared by John Salt head chef Ben Spalding at the home of the customer.

■ BRISTOL, ENGLAND Bristol diner releases burger so spicy customers need to sign disclaimer

A Bristol diner has produced a burger so spicy that those wanting to order it must prove they are over 18 and also sign a disclaimer. The Atomic Fallout Pizza burger requires consumers to wear protective gloves and comes drenched in a sauce that's made from two of the fieriest chillies in the world, the Scotch Bonnet and Naga Bhut Jolokia (Ghost Chilli). The combination of spices means the sauce measures in on the Scoville Scale at an eye watering 1million units.

Not only is the sandwich spicy, it also packs in a considerable amount of calories. It has three 18oz beef patties, 18oz of cheese and two deep fried slices of pizza to hold it all together. The restaurant says burger fans must be 'of sound mind and judgment' in order to eat the £25 meal. If you do manage to consume the fiery meal then you may win a place on the restaurant's 'Top 100 Wall of Flame' and a snazzy Atomic Fallout t-shirt. If that's not intimidating enough, it also comes with a triple helping of chilli fries. The meal was thought up by Atomic Burger owners Martin Bunce and James Reilly.

■ THE GOLFER

A golfer was involved in a terrible car crash and was rushed to the hospital.

Just before he was put under, the surgeon popped in to see him.

"I have some good news and some bad news," says the surgeon.

"The bad news is that I have to remove your right arm!"

"Oh God no!" cries the man "My golfing is over! Please Doc, what's the good news?"

"The good news is, I have another one to replace it with, but it's a woman's arm. I'll need your permission before I go ahead with the transplant."

"Go for it doc" says the man. "As long as I can play golf again."

The operation went well and a year later the man was out on the golf course when he bumped into the surgeon.

"Hi, how's the new arm?" asks the surgeon.

"Just great," says the businessman. "I'm playing the best golf of my life. My new arm has a much finer touch and my putting has really improved."

"That's great," said the surgeon.

"Not only that," continued the golfer, "my handwriting has improved, I've learned how to sew my own clothes and I've even taken up painting landscapes in watercolours"

"Unbelievable!" said the surgeon, "I'm so glad to hear the transplant was such a great success. Are you having any side effects?"

"Well, just one problem," said the golfer.

"Every time I get an erection, I also get a headache."

A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

This week it is.... An arm and a leg

A large, possibly exorbitant, amount of money.

'It cost and arm and a leg' is one of those phrases that rank high in the 'I know where that comes from' stories told at the local pub. In this case the tale is that portrait painters used to charge more for larger paintings and that a head and shoulders painting was the cheapest option, followed in price by one which included arms and finally the top of the range 'legs and all' portrait. As so often with popular etymologies, there's no truth in that story. Painters certainly did charge more for large pictures, but there's no evidence to suggest they did so by limb count. In any case the phrase is much more recent than the painting origin would suggest.

It is in fact an American phrase, coined sometime after WWII. The earliest citation found is from The Long Beach Independent, December 1949: Food Editor Beulah Karney has more than 10 ideas for the homemaker who wants to say "Merry Christmas" and not have it cost her an arm and a leg.

'Arm' and 'leg' are used as examples of items that no one would consider selling other than at an enormous price. It is a grim reality that, around that time, there were many US newspaper reports of servicemen who had lost an arm and a leg in the recent war. It is possible that the phrase originated in reference to the high cost paid by those who suffered such amputations.

A more likely explanation is that the expression derived from two earlier phrases: 'I would give my right arm for...' and '[Even] if it takes a leg', which were both coined in the 19th century. The earliest example that I can find of the former in print is from an 1849 edition of Sharpe's London Journal: He felt as if he could gladly give his right arm to be cut off if it would make him, at once, old enough to go and earn money instead of Lizzy.

The second phrase is American and an early example of it is given in this heartfelt story from the Iowa newspaper the Burlington Daily Hawk-Eye, July 1875:

A man who owes five years subscription to the Gazette is trying to stop his paper without paying up, and the editor is going to grab that back pay if it takes a leg.

CHAAM GOSSIP

Conflicting reports have been received about the tragic demise of a Caucasian man found with a knife in the side of his neck. Some suggest that the local constabulary are treating it as a "Suicide". Our sympathy to his family and friends.
TIP 1: Remember, if you're on the prowl in the beer bars, turn your car lights off. Next time it may be a wife who spots it and decides to come looking for you..
The count stands at four bars that we know of, who have banned or ejected the "Wandering Fat, Bald, normally shirtless, lecherous Scandi" whose drunken stares and unwanted attentions may soon result in an attitude adjustment being dealt. He is also currently leading the "Bar Girls Pig Of The Year Contest".
TIP 2: Always make sure that you don't go home with your shirt on inside out, as it's a dead giveaway that you "May" have been up to something else.

THE 1%ERS - PART 1

The "Biker" world has been mine for some twenty years, from hardcore 1%er's to the new and improved "Riding Clubs". I've seen and encountered just about everything you can pull from any movie. Being knowledgeable of an element you might encounter is always critical to your safety. Whether it is road rage from a cager (driver of a car) or a robbery at your local Seven-Eleven. You learn what parts of town to stay out of because someone has told you or you learned the hard way. You have the intelligence not to provoke a Pit Bull or stand in the middle of a fire ant mound. You learn to ride a motorcycle safely and so you must learn about the world you have entered. Now, many of you have entered the "Biker" or "Club" world and are not aware of the issues that may affect you and only need a little guidance. It would be my suggestion to do some research on this issue because knowledge is power. It's hard to convey the complete understanding of this culture in a small article but it will help. This information is to educate you on the outlaw 1%er lifestyle, not to scare you away from riding. (And remember, please think before you respond to anything, don't do any bashing of anyone or any club on the internet, forums or at any bars.) First off, the likelihood of anyone getting into a scrape with outlaws/1%er"s is slim to none unless you frequent their bars or hangouts. But make no mistake, this is very real. Since most bike clubs are "NOT" outlaw clubs, they will have no issue with you as long as you stay out of their "business" and follow biker protocol. There is rarely a problem at a public event or poker run but it is always possible. So lets start with the "Rocker" you hear about. The rocker is in the form of a half moon, for lack of a better term. Similar to the bottom of a rocking chair. If you think about it, you have all seen photos of "Hells Angels" and the way the patches are arched above and below the center patch. MC (Motorcycle Club) patch and the 1% diamond will also be found on their Cut (also referred to as Colors). There are also many other patches some clubs wear that only mean something to that particular club.

The 1% diamond is the key to identifying a 1%er. It is a patch in the shape of a diamond with "1%" on it. That is mostly worn on the left shoulder but is seen on the back of their colors also. They, (1%er's) ride mostly Harley's only, along with their support clubs and almost all outlaw clubs, but that's another story. Flying a certain style of patch on the back of colors is how the outlaws identify who is or is not claiming territory. Territory is a huge issue and they will fight and/or kill over it if it comes to that. It's just "Business". The rocker or the bar style patch is not acceptable to 1%er's unless approved by them. And just because an M/C club wears "Rocker" or "Bar" style patch's that doesn't make them an outlaw club. You just have to learn who is who but your officers should have some knowledge on that.

HUSH !!

Don't tell anyone but I live in an area just like Hua Hin used to be 20 or 30 years ago

We have miles and miles of empty beaches. Wherever you live you are surrounded by trees and tropical shrubs and the sea may be at your doorstop or only a few minutes away. Living is peaceful - no traffic jams, condos or pollution. All necessities are here but for special things we have Hua Hin or Chumphon to the North or South.

So why don't you think of joining us in this little Paradise by buying inexpensive land for a holiday home, weekends or permanent move?

We are Sopha Land and Houses

At Suang Luang Beach

YOURSTARS

THERE'S A CURRY IN YOUR FUTURE AT S&S

Soi 94 S & S
INDIAN RESTAURANT
Curries from only 75 baht
Eat in or Takeaway 081 455 5298

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

The stars could reveal your future, but they'd just be repeating what the Love Tester at the fair already told you.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

People will come from miles around to seek your wisdom on all manner of things, which is proof that people will do anything for a good laugh.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

You'll never smile again after the tragic loss of your lower jaw and lips this week.

ARIES MAR 21 – APR 20

The stars believe that a person must make his own mistakes, but they warn you not to do anything that may, say, burn down Pranburi this week.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Only God can judge you. Unfortunately, He's been appearing to all your friends and telling them what an asshole you are.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

The black widow spider does not have the most powerful venom of any spider in the world, but it's still going to do quite a number on your legs.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

The truth is indeed elusive, hard to comprehend, and subjective. What we're trying to say is: You're fat.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

There hasn't been a stampeding death in your area in more than a century, but your air horn and steer costume will change all that.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

Take solace in this: There is meaning and purpose to the universe, even if it's too complicated for you to grasp and won't pay off for years.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

Some may call your breast implants tacky, but at least you had the guts to try out unconventional shapes.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

You've always been a fashion-forward trendsetter, which is why, after next week, they'll all be saying that getting shot in the face is the new black.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

Gradual, almost imperceptible change will make you a better person over the course of the next 37,000 years.

SACRE BLEU!

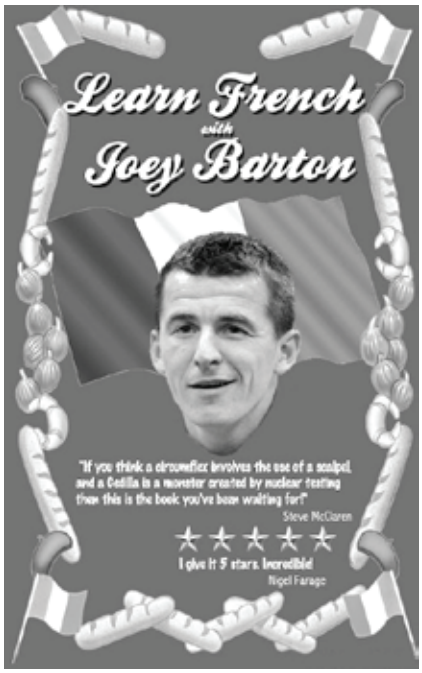
PUBLISHERS TO RELEASE 'LEARN FRENCH THE JOEY BARTON WAY'

■ MARSEILLE, FRANCE

Have you ever wished you could speak a foreign language, but just can't be bothered to learn? Then English footballer Joey Barton – pronounced Joseef Bahton – has the answer.

The former Man City and Newcastle midfielder, who is currently on loan at Olympique de Marseille from QPR, amazed the gathered media at a recent press conference after he used the English language to communicate in fluent French.

The new book, conveniently available in time for Christmas, teaches you how to shrug your shoulders in French and learn how to count to twenty as you punch someone repeatedly in the face. With invaluable phrases like, 'I sink you av speeled ma dreenk, zerefore I weel extuingueesh zis cigar een yur fess' and 'Wizzout ze musique life wud bee a mistaque', Joey will teach you how to enjoy a night out while impressing the locals with your knowledge of Nietzsche. Turn your Gallic disdain on match officials. 'Why you geef me red card? Ees only a dislocated shouldeur' and 'Zat ball was neffeur out of play – you sink I am sam sort of cont?"



Left: From the people who brought you Steve McClaren's Dutch In Ten Eashy Shtepsh.

An ideal gift for native English speakers who think "savoir faire" is a theme park near Bootle. So why not add a certain Je ne sais quoi to your spell in Casualty this Christmas?

On sale now at the bargain price of seex pounds seexty!

Also in this series – Emile Heskey's Bloody Beaut Guide to Australia, Understanding the Wiltshire Dialect with Paolo di Canio and How to speak Los Angelican by David Beckham.
