RAIL RAPE HORROR

RAILWAY WORKER CONFESSES TO CRIME

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

The horrific rape and murder of a 13 year old girl on a train from Surat Thani to Bangkok that occurred on Sunday (6th July) just south of Hua Hin has shocked the nation and led to calls for the resignation of the State Railway of Thailand's governor Praphat Chongsa-nguan, as it was revealed that the crime was committed by a former drug peddler who was recently upgraded to a permanent employee on the railway.

Wanchai Saengkhao, a 22-year-old bed-sheet replacement employee of a company contracted by the State Railway of Thailand, reportedly confessed Monday night to raping and killing the girl, identified only as Kaem, before throwing her body out of a window of a sleeper car of Train No. 174. The naked body of the girl was found in a thick grass field five metres from the southern track and about two kilometres from where the railway crosses the entrance of the Pran Buri forest park in Wang Pong sub-district, Pran Buri district, while a blood stained bed sheet and the victim's clothes were found earlier further north along the track in Nong Kae.

The SRT announced on Wednesday that they were imposing an immediate ban on the sale of alcohol on trains, although passengers would be allowed to carry their own on board; however if they are seen drinking on board they will be invited to get off the trains. It was also announced that they would step up background checks on all employees for criminal records. Other measures are under consideration, including a female only carriage, a proposal that most support, although many feel the alcohol ban for passengers is not appropriate, given that this crime was committed by an employee, and will cut a valuable revenue stream for the railway.

All our thoughts now should be with the girl's family though, who are having to come to terms with a truly awful crime, and once again we can only hope that true justice is dispensed to the animal responsible.

A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

This week it is..... Halcyon days

Calm, peaceful days.

The Halcyon is a bird of Greek legend and the name is now commonly given to the European Kingfisher. The ancients believed that the bird made a floating nest in the Aegean Sea and had the power to calm the waves while brooding her eggs. Fourteen days of calm weather were to be expected when the Halcyon was nesting - around the winter solstice, usually 21st or 22nd of December. The Halcyon days are generally regarded as beginning on the 14th or 15th of December.

The source of the belief in the bird's power to calm the sea originated in a myth recorded by Ovid. The story goes that Aeolus, the ruler of the winds, had a daughter named Alcyone, who was married to Ceyx, the king of Thessaly. Ceyx was drowned at sea and Alcyone threw herself into the waves in a fit of grief. Instead of drowning, she was transformed into a bird and carried to her husband by the wind.

The myth came to the English-speaking world in the 14th century, when, in 1398, John Trevisa translated Bartholomew de Glanville's De proprietatibus rerum into Middle English:

"In the cliffe of a ponde of occean, Alcion, a see foule, in wynter maketh her neste and layeth egges in vii days and sittyth on brood ... seuen dayes."

By the 16th century the phrase 'halcyon days' had lost its association with the nesting time of the bird and had taken on the figurative meaning of 'calm days'. Shakespeare used the expression that way in Henry VI, Part I, 1592:

Assign'd am I to be the English scourge.
This night the siege assuredly I'll raise:
Expect Saint Martin's summer, halcyon days,
Since I have entered into these wars.

Note: Saint Martin's summer is what we now know as an Indian summer.

The kingfisher is associated with other powers relating to the weather. In mediaeval times it was thought that if the dried carcass of a kingfisher was hung up it would always point its beak in the direction of the wind [don't try this at home]. Shakespeare also refers to this belief, in King Lear, 1605:

Bring oil to fire, snow to their colder moods;
Renege, affirm, and turn their halcyon beaks
With every gale and vary of their masters

Our current use of 'halcyon days' tends to be nostalgic and recalling of the seemingly endless sunny days of youth - despite the fact that the original halcyon days were in the depths of winter.

THE FINANCIAL BENEFITS OF BEING AN EXPAT...BENJAMIN FRANKLIN STYLE

Every week in this article Helen Couldrey, a financial consultant with the deVere Group, and also a qualified English lawyer, will give you tips and ideas of how to take advantage financially of being an expat. Helen has clients in Bangkok, Hua Hin and Cha-Am who she helps to maximise the financial benefits of living overseas.

SAFE AS HOUSES … Property overseas

Any successful investor will know the first rule of investment is to diversify. With this in mind, many investors opt to have property within their portfolios. Historically, property yields good returns, particularly in major international cities such as London which yield around a 10% return. Whilst past performance is not always indicative of future performance, bricks and mortar are often a more comfortable and tangible investment choice.

Many expats invest in the Thai property market, but what about investing in other jurisdictions? People are often apprehensive about investing in property outside of Thailand due to the time consuming nature of the investment itself. Pricing, mortgaging, tenanting, maintenance and legal obligations can be onerous. There's also the huge decision of exactly where to buy!

End To End Property Investment

Recently I have been liaising with a fully serviced property investment company called IP Global. IP Global's vision is to help investors add the strength of global real estate to their portfolios. The company offers a real end to end service as follows, which many expat investors find extremely attractive.

- RESEARCH – They act as the 'feet on the ground' looking at which countries to buy in, which towns to buy in … and even which streets. They can propose specific investment properties, buying into the investments themselves as well, giving confidence that the investment is something the company believes in too.
- CONSULTANCY – Careful considered advice is given, ensuring that a close long term relationship is built with you!
- MORTGAGES - A vital part of the service is to connect you with mortgage financing on the best terms available for your situation.
- LETTINGS AND MANAGEMENT – As mentioned above, one of the most time consuming parts of real estate investment is the ongoing management. Pricing, tenanting, maintenance and legal obligations; this can all be covered in the end to end service.
- RESALES – Deciding whether to sell and when to sell is a key decision for any investor. Getting insight from the professionals is a valuable level if support which is often overlooked.

Specialist property representatives from IP Global will be visiting our Bangkok offices on Thursday 17th and Friday 18th July. If you would like to talk with them about property opportunities then please let me know. Due to location, a telephone meeting, as opposed to a face to face meeting, can be arranged.

CAPRICORN Dec 22 - Jan 19
Faith is the evidence of things not seen, which any well-rounded human being must admit is better than only trusting good hard provable evidence.

AQUARIUS Jan 20 – Feb 18

This is a good week to spend with family, which is the kind of advice stupid old Ohpiuchus would never have given you.

PISCES Feb 19 – Mar 20
Learn to trust your heart. No one ever grew spiritually as a person by doing what the numbers and the science clearly indicate they should do.

ARIES Mar 21 – Apr 20
Love is strong in your sign this week. Please be advised that, precession of the equinoxes or not, this is still your sign.

TAURUS Apr 21 – May 21
Outside influences will attempt to bedazzle you with strange mathematics and exotic rhetoric about a strange new sign in the sky, preventing you from meeting a dark-haired stranger.

GEMINI May 22 – June 21
Just as the ancient Babylonians were wise to restrict the telling of the future to a mere dozen signs, you'd be wise to start new projects this week.

CANCER Jun 22 – Jul 22
Vast and mighty cosmic forces stemming from the twelve majestic signs of the Zodiac have conspired to foresee travel in your future.That's right, twelve majestic signs, not thirteen.

LEO Jul 23 – Aug 22
You know what's a stupid name for a Zodiac sign? Ohpiuchus. It certainly doesn't sound like a sign that would warn you not to make big financial decisions until the full moon.

VIRGO Aug 23 – Sep 22
This would be a good time to beware of those who would make major changes to your dearly-held belief systems.

LIBRA Sep 23 – Oct 23
Wait, if an existing constellation has that great an effect on one's destiny, then why didn't anyone make a fuss about Eris, Sedna and Quaoar, the planet-sized objects in the Kuiper belt?

SCORPIO Oct 24 – Nov 21
Saturn rising in your sign will subject you to the powerful force of Fate, which everybody knows is stronger by far than electromagnetism, gravity, or the nuclear strong and weak forces.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22 – Dec 21
Just keep repeating: No matter what, you are still a Sagittarius. You are still a Sagittarius. You are still a Sagittarius.

■ MORE VIZ TOP TIPS

BURGLARS: When fleeing from the police, run with your right arm sticking out at 90 degrees, wrapped in a baby mattress in case they set one of their dogs on you.

EMPLOYERS: Avoid hiring unlucky people by immediately tossing half the CVs into the bin.

MEN: When listening to your favourite CD, simply turn up the sound to the volume you desire; then turn it down three notches. This will save your wife from having to do it.

GAMBLERS: For a new gambling opportunity, try sending £50 to yourself by Royal Mail.

BANGING: two pistachio nutshells together gives the impression that a very small horse is approaching.

BLIND PEOPLE: Give yourself at least a chance of seeing something by not wearing heavy dark glasses all the time.

ALCOHOL: makes an ideal substitute for happiness.

DRIVERS: If a car breaks down or stalls in front of you, beep your horn and wave your arms frantically. This should help the car start and send them on their way.

PREVENT burglars stealing everything in the house by simply moving everything in the house into your bedroom when you go to bed. In the morning, simply move it all back again.

CAR thieves: Don't be discouraged when nothing is on view. All the valuables may be hidden in the glove box or under a seat.

DEPRESSED people: Instead of attempting suicide as a 'cry for help', simply shout 'Help!' thus saving money on paracetamol, etc.

MOTORISTS: Avoid getting prosecuted for using your phone whilst driving. Simply pop your mobile inside a large shell and the police will think you are listening to the sea.

JEREMY Beadle: When selling DVDs on your TV advert, hold the disks in your bigger hand so that they do not appear to be the size of laser disks.

SHOES last twice as long if only worn every other day.

SINGLE men: Convince people that you have a girlfriend by standing outside Etam with several bags of shopping, looking at your watch and occasionally glancing inside.

BOIL an egg to perfection without costly egg timers by popping the egg into boiling water and driving away from your home at exactly 60 mph. After 3 miles, phone your wife and tell her to take the egg out the pan.

ALCOHOLICS: don't worry where the next drink is coming from. Go to the pub, where a large selection is available at retail prices.

McDONALD'S: Make your brown carrier bags green in colour so they blend in with the countryside after they've been thrown out of car windows.

■ LAST OF THE SUMMER WINE?

Like Hua Hin, Hull is a pretty flat place. Unlike Hua Hin the flat terrain continues as far as the eye can see beyond the city boundaries. Nevertheless both places are well suited to cycling, or at least they would be if their respective roads were free from other traffic and potholes.

So when the Tour de France cycle race started last weekend it was not without some rumbles of discontent here in Hull, with our city elders bemoaning the fact that the race didn't come anywhere near us.

On the plus side Gods' Own County of Yorkshire did get the publicity, with the race starting near Leeds, covering some beautiful countryside dotted with yellow sprayed sheep, and along roads festooned with old yellow painted bikes. And despite the misgivings of Hulls' city elders there was still an abundance of lycra and drop handlebars hurtling around all weekend, as scores of wannabe Bradley Wiggins' took to the streets.

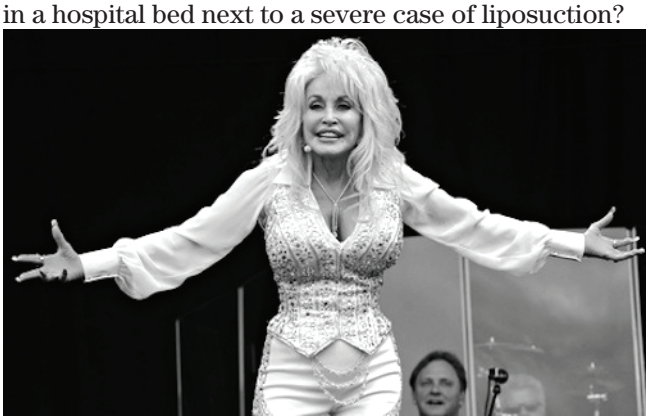
Meanwhile the big post Glastonbury Festival clean up of the 900 acre site had yielded 5,000 abandoned tents, 11 tons of discarded clothing and camping gear, plus one lost dog. We have become a throw away nation on an epic scale, and I can only hope that Glastonburys' cleaners get to hold the mother of all car boot sales as a nice little perk of the job. Because even at Asda prices that's at least £100,000 worth of tents alone. About 5 and a half million Baht in real money.

I have mentioned UK food waste before, and it is an ongoing problem which is far bigger than tent waste. Even some National Health Service gurus have realised that it is maybe better to give hospital patients the kind of food they are used to and will eat, even if it doesn't quite conform to the healthy ideal, rather than throw away mountains of vegetables and couscous. Any nutrition is better than none. And if the government is to be believed our NHS certainly does need to make some economies. So why do we also hear that the amount of cosmetic surgery - operations such as facelifts, nose and boob jobs, - carried out by the NHS has doubled in the last 10 years?

Granted, some of that surgery can be considered essential to the patients' wellbeing. Reconstructive work especially. But (again if reports are to be believed) much of it should have been carried out privately rather than waste NHS resources.

None of this may seem very relevant to expats, who are resigned to funding all of their health care costs regardless of urgency or need. And of course as a paying customer there are some benefits to be had, just as there are for private patients in the UK. Not least minimal waiting times for treatment.

But imagine how you would feel if you had to return to the UK for some urgent medical need, only to find yourself in a hospital bed next to a severe case of liposuction?



On a happier note - news coming through while writing this weeks page that Dolly Parton has offered to adopt the dog abandoned at Glastonbury. Which proves that every dog can have it's day.

In an ideal world our word of the week should really be something to do with wastage or cosmetic surgery overspends. But I can't find anything suitable so 'autochthonous' will have to do. An adjective meaning inhabiting a place from the earliest times, or indigenous, it is a word which is easier to explain than to pronounce.

MLS TO BE RENAMED WORLD SERIES OF SOCCER

■ USA

The United States is to add the word 'World' to its domestic football championships so that some America soccer players can continue to claim to be World Champions.

After an extra-time 2-1 exit at the World Cup at the hands of European side Belgium, American sports fans are unhappy at the prospect of waiting four years for another go.

'Go Team USA' fan Chuck Williams told us, "With Major League Soccer becoming the World Series of Soccer, my beloved LA Galaxy could be champions of the world by next summer."

"It would be an amazing achievement, to go from an idea in someone's head, to the champions of the world in just a few short years."

"But that's what American sport is all about."

Left: Tim Howard, the US goal defender, is said to be considering leaving his current club Everton so he can become a World Champion with an American soccer team

Fans in other countries have been told not to worry about the fact that the World Series of Soccer can only be played by American teams, insisting it's a model they reproduced successfully elsewhere.

A spokesperson for the American league said, "We've seen it work well for baseball for years, and hardly anyone outside of America complains about the World Champion title that they didn't have the chance to play for."

"And they're not American anyway, so what do we care about their opinions?"
