TEE TIME

IT'S GOLF FESTIVAL TIME AGAIN!

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

One of the fixtures of the Hua Hin and Cha Am golf calendar is just round the corner as the Golf Festival 2014 begins again on 1st August. This year ten local courses are taking part, although it seems as if this year the one price green fee has been abandoned, and will vary between 1000 to 1800 baht depending on the course. Please contact the courses for details and bookings.

The participating courses are as follows:

- Imperial Lake View Hotel and Golf Club 032 456 233
- Majestic Creek Golf Club and Resort 032 619 168
- Palm Hills Golf Resort and Country Club 032 520 820
- Kaeng Krachan Country Club and Resort 032 459 318
- Royal Hua Hin Golf Course 032 512 475
- The Eagle Milford Golf Club 032 572 441
- Springfield Village Golf and Spa 032 709 222-9
- Banyan Golf Course 032 616 200
- Black Mountain Golf Course 032 618 666
- Sea Pines Golf Course 032 515 470-1

There will also be special promotions and competitions will take place every Sunday from 3rd August – 5th October, 2014. Anyone who makes advance bookings enables them to enter a lucky draw and to win an 'amazing' prize – a Honda Brio Amaze. The lucky winner will be announced on the final day of the festival.

A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

This week it is..... On the fiddle
Engaged in a fraud.
'Fiddling' is usually meant to mean 'cheating in a petty way', perhaps falsifying one's expenses or not declaring all of one's taxable income. Of course, a fiddle is also a slang term for violin.
There are a couple of proposed derivations of the 'cheating' meaning of the phrase 'on the fiddle', each of them having supporters who are firm in their belief. Let's take the oldest first. The expression is said by some to derive from the Emperor Nero, who famously 'fiddled while Rome burned' and was a byword for corruption and dishonesty. The second suggestion is that the 'fiddle' was the name of the raised edge of the square wooden plates used by sailors. If a sailor took a normal amount of food he was said to have a 'square meal' and if his plate was overflowing he was said to be 'on the fiddle'.
As is often the case, those suggestions have only been mentioned in order to knock them down. The Nero story is mere fancy. It may be a nice play on words that he was 'on the fiddle' in both senses, that is, he was both corrupt and a violinist (actually he wasn't even a violinist, there being no such instrument in Nero's lifetime, but let's not get sidetracked) but that's all this tale has going for it.
The culinary procedures on board sailing ships don't offer much of an explanation either. The idea that sailors' plates had raised edges and that these were called fiddles is quite incorrect. There were fiddles in sailing ships' galleys but those were arrangements of small posts and strings arranged around the edges of tables that were used to stop plates falling on the floor in rough weather.
If the above isn't enough to convince then the fact that 'on the fiddle' in the 'acting fraudulently' meaning is a mid-20th century idiom should clinch it. The expression wasn't known in the age of sail and certainly not in ancient Rome. A good place to look for a phrase like 'on the fiddle', with its association with minor crime, would be court records, and if the expression were in common use in English it might be expected to be found in the database of cases provided by the Central Criminal Court in England and Wales, commonly known as the Old Bailey. This is a comprehensive record of all the criminal cases brought to the court between 1674 and 1913, and no one was accused in The Bailey of being 'on the fiddle' during all that time.
The term 'fiddle' appears to have originated in America. It is recorded in an 1874 edition of John Hotten's Slang Dictionary:
Fiddle... In America, a swindle or an imposture.
Hotten also included this entry:
Fiddler... A sharper, a cheat; also one who dawdles over little matters, and neglects great ones.
'On the fiddle' was taken up by the British forces in WWII. It was well enough established in popular slang in the UK by 1961 for it to have been used as the title of a Sean Connery film and that is the first example of it that is found in print. The plot involved a young Connery playing a streetwise rough diamond who runs various street scams while serving in the British army.

THE FINANCIAL BENEFITS OF BEING AN EXPAT...BENJAMIN FRANKLIN STYLE

Every week in this article Helen Couldrey, a financial consultant with the deVere Group, and also a qualified English lawyer, will give you tips and ideas of how to take advantage financially of being an expat. Helen has clients in Bangkok, Hua Hin and Cha-Am who she helps to maximise the financial benefits of living overseas.

FAMILY PROTECTION

Some people are of the opinion that everyone should have a life insurance policy. Personally, I am not of that opinion. Instead, the key questions is: would your dependents be in a financially difficult position if something were to happen to you? If the answer is 'yes' then life insurance is definitely a must-have. However, life insurance normally comes at a cost so it is important that its engagement is considered carefully. Which then begs the question, who really needs life insurance?

- 'The Breadwinner'. If you are the key earner of the family then having this safety net in place is essential. Without your income the lives of your remaining family would be materially affected. Would your children be able to stay in the same school? Might your family have to move house? Drive a different car? The death of a breadwinner often results in a drastic change of lifestyle for a surviving spouse and/or children, but this can be protected against.

- Dual Earners. If you are both bringing in an income but one income were to fall away, would you still have enough to support the family? A Joint Life Insurance policy is often considered by couples to ensure all bases are covered.

- 'I'm covered by my company'. If you and/or your partner are employed you may well have Death In Service Benefit provided by your employer, normally paying out 2 to 4 times your annual salary. Of course, this is a great perk of your job, however, DISB only rarely proves to be enough life coverage to fully support a family over the long-term. Sitting down and considering exactly how much cover you need is essential.

- Business Owners. Many business owners will take out loans for their businesses, securing those loans on their personal assets. This can lead to a stressful situation in the event that the surviving family members have to sell some of the assets to meet the loan obligations. In addition if your business is a partnership it is important to consider the implication of one of the partners dying. This is particularly the case in Thailand where company ownership can be complicated.

- Older Parent. If you have started a family later in life it is important to consider that your children will require your support for the next 15 – 20 years. Whilst people are living longer it is essential that you are covered in case of all eventualities.

Generally speaking, single and elderly persons with no dependents often do not need life insurance. However, sometimes they may wish to do so for extended member of the family or in case they are supporting parents. For the older generation they may also wish to establish life insurance in order to cover any potential inheritance tax bills that their families may face.
Buying a life insurance policy is not the glamorous end of the finance world. Further, not many people feel comfortable contemplating the consequences of something tragic happening to them; however it's an essential part of financial planning and definitely something worth considering.

CAPRICORN Dec 22 - Jan 19
People say there are no second chances in life, but even as they tighten the straps, you'll be listening for the governor's phone call.

AQUARIUS Jan 20 – Feb 18
Help out your friends and relatives with a sensitive issue this week. Clearly label all your worldly possessions with the name of the intended recipient by about 8:15 on Friday night.

PISCES Feb 19 – Mar 20
You will suddenly realise that there is no meaning to the Universe save that we make and that all human love is merely sexuality in disguise, but then you'll also realise that some jalapeño poppers would be great about now.

ARIES Mar 21 – Apr 20
Your plans for an exciting weekend will be spoiled when a busybody scientist decides he just has to ask you why you want all that plutonium.

TAURUS Apr 21 – May 21
It will seem as if you've finally received divine evidence of your Christlike nature, but it turns out all women bleed like that.

GEMINI May 22 – June 21
You've always been afraid of someone washing your mouth out with soap, but that was before you learned they made a special mouth-soap in the form of a minty paste.

CANCER Jun 22 – Jul 22
Remember: The patient raindrops can eventually wear away even the hardest stone. Don't let them get to close if you value your life.

LEO Jul 23 – Aug 22
There are two kinds of people in this world, and you're almost certain that one of the two kinds does not have a penis.

VIRGO Aug 23 – Sep 22
The stars foresee great heartbreak, loss, and danger ahead, especially if you do not stop asking why they didn't tell you George Clooney was going to get malaria.

LIBRA Sep 23 – Oct 23
You will be physically overwhelmed by the simple eloquence and timeless beauty of a LeRoy Neimann painting, proving that there are dire consequences to having crappy taste.

SCORPIO Oct 24 – Nov 21
While there's no shame in admitting you don't know everything, there's actually quite a lot of shame in admitting you can't figure out how to eat chips and salsa.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22 – Dec 21
Remember: It doesn't matter how well the bear dances, because it's impressive the bear can dance at all. Now go shave, lose some weight, and take dancing lessons.

■ THE SPEED OF TIME BY AGE

0 - 9 Extremely slow. Even a trip to the store with Mum seems like going to Albania - by covered wagon. Most common phrase: "Is it Christmas yet?"

10 - 19 Still slow. Scientific evidence seems to show that school clocks actually move backwards just before the bell rings.

20 - 29 Alternately fast and slow. Weekends seem shorter and shorter, yet paychecks seem further and further apart.

30 - 39 Time achieves warp speed, except when put on hold on the telephone and forced to endure anything longer than 5 seconds of Muzak. Most common phrase: "Is it Christmas already?"

40 - 49 Still fast. Seems like just yesterday when Jerry Brown said he might run for President. Wait a minute! It WAS yesterday when he said that. Also, Dick Clark still looks the same. Could time be slowing down?

60-69 Hey! What happened to 50-59?

70 + Unbelievably fast. Wars used to last years. Now it seems like they're over in a couple weeks.

■ FAIRY TALES

A little girl asked her father, "Daddy? Do all Fairy Tales begin with Once Upon A Time?"
And he replied, "No, there is a whole series of Fairy Tales that begin with 'If Elected I promise...'"

■ H-E-G-S

The Doctor tells his patient that he has H-E-G-S
"What's that?", the patient asks.
"It's a combination of Herpes, Encephalitis, Gonorrhea and Syphyllis."
The patient wants to know if there's a cure, to which the Doctor responds, "We have to keep you in a hospital room and feed you nothing but pancackes."
"Why only pancackes?", asks the patient.
The Doctor answers, "They're the only thing that will fit under the door."

■ THE KNOB

A woman in her late forties went to a plastic surgeon for a face lift.
The surgeon told her about a new procedure called "The Knob" A small knob is placed on the back of a woman's head and can be turned to tighten up her skin to produce the effect of a brand new face lift – forever.
Of course, the woman wanted "The Knob."
Fifteen years later, the woman returned to the surgeon with two problems.
"All these years, everything has been working just fine. I've had to turn the knob many times and I've always loved the results. But now I've developed two annoying problems. First, I have these terrible bags under my eyes and the knob won't get rid of them."
The doctor looked at her closely and said, "Those aren't bags, those are your breasts."
She said, "Well, I guess that explains the goatee!!

■ WAR - WHAT IS IT GOOD FOR?

This coming Monday - July 28th - marks the 100th anniversary of the start of World War 1. So called because it was the first 'global' war.

You've probably found it hard to avoid media coverage of this landmark anniversary, with articles, photos, and TV programmes about the Great War wherever you look. Some may find it all becoming a bit tedious, and I must admit to not avidly reading or watching much of it myself. Not out of any lack of respect for those who fought and died. Far from it. Many of us, even now a hundred years on, don't have to search far back in our family trees to find the names of grandparents, great grandparents, and other family members who believed that they were giving their lives for their country.

It's just that the whole thing is beginning to feel more like a celebration than a rememberance, but one which was punctuated just last week by a stark reminder that the world really doesn't seem to have moved on much during the intervening years.

Alongside all the no doubt well meaning initiatives - certainly in the UK anyway - to ensure that our young people learn about the Great War - comes a sickening attack on an airliner full of innocent people. Then of course there are other ongoing conflicts, with Gaza and Israel occupying most front pages most of the time.

Surely these are the real time events, along with 7/11 and other atrocities, which will leave lasting impressions on todays' young people, rather than what happened 100 years ago?

Moving on to August 6th comes another stark reminder of war, with the 69th anniversary of the dropping of an atom bomb on Hiroshima. (By the way, isn't it strange how that event is always referred to as 'the dropping of the atom bomb' rather than 'the atomic destruction' of Hiroshima? Almost as if it were simply an experiment - which I suppose it was. But isn't it time someone acknowledged that they had a pretty good idea what would happen?)

Against all the odds though Hiroshima moves on, and spreads the word of peace via its' trees. Which brings us to our word of the week, or rather two words, which happen to be in Japanese. (OK - you can't blame me for not trying!)

'Hibaku Jumoko' means 'survivor tree'. Despite the atom bomb, in the following Spring some of Hiroshimas' trees began to grow again out of the devastation.

Of those survivors about 170 trees, which grow within a 2 kilometre radius of the bombs' epicentre, are now classed as Hibaku Jumoko, and saplings produced from them are sent around the world to any town or city which wants to display a real living testament to survival and hope for the future.

PREMIER LEAGUE PREDICTOR

AWOL has set up a new football prediction game for the English Premier League; to play you need to be registered and logged in to the AWOL website at www.awolonline.net. You will find a link to the game on that page as well.

Both registration and the game are free - every week at least 15 minutes before the matches begin, enter your predicted score for each match and then click 'Save'. For every exact prediction you will get 5 points, for the correct outcome, 2 points, with various other bonus points available.

Each week we will print a table showing the leading players as we do with the Fantasy League.

PRIZE SPONSORSHIP

If any local business is interested in sponsoring either the Prediction or Fantasy Leagues (or both) in the form of prizes to be awarded at the end of the season, please contact us on either 081 649 8361 or sales@awolonline.net, and you can get your business featured on this page every week.

FANTASY PREMIER LEAGUE

The new AWOL Challenge Fantasy Premier League is now up and running - anyone who was entered last season will automatically be reentered for the new season when they log in to the game again, but for new recruits, you will need to do the following:

1. Register and log in to the official Premier League game at fantasy.premierleague.com;
2. Set up your team (name, details, pick an initial squad - this can be changed as many times as you want before the game starts);
3. Go to the AWOL website (awolonline.net) and click on 'Fantasy Football - Click To Play' which will automatically add your team to the AWOL Challenge;
4. Have fun playing against the growing number of budding Fergies!

There are extensive rules and help on the official site and any new managers would be well advised to read through them.

Every week we will print a table of the leading managers in the AWOL Challenge.

FOOTBALL GOSSIP

Manchester United manager Louis van Gaal is preparing to offer Ajax £17m for 24-year-old Netherlands defensive midfielder Daley Blind. Daily Express

United are also reported to be closing in on a move for Borussia Dortmund centre-back Mats Hummels, 25, for £16m. Daily Mail

Tottenham have been told they will have to pay £25m for France and Real Sociedad midfielder Antoine Griezmann, with Chelsea and Monaco also tracking the 23-year-old. Daily Telegraph

With their Champions League foreign players' quota in mind, Manchester City are set to offload midfielder Javi Garcia, 27 after striker Alvaro Negredo, 28, broke his foot. Daily Mirror

Portuguese midfielder Tiago Mendes, 33, has rejected a possible return to Chelsea this summer in favour of re-signing with Spanish champions Atletico Madrid for another two years. Talksport

PSG will side-step Fifa's Financial Fair Play rules by offering 26-year-old winger Angel Di Maria, a target for Manchester United, a one-year loan move from Real Madrid. Daily Express

Leicester want Trabzonspor's former Chelsea winger Florent Malouda, 34, as they look to strengthen their squad for the Premier League. Daily Mirror

Liverpool have accepted a £14m offer from Sunderland for striker Fabio Borini but the 23-year-old is set to reject the move and fight for his place at Anfield. Newcastle Chronicle

LOSING HIS BOTTLE

VAN GAAL SLATES FERGUSON'S WINE CELLAR

■ MANCHESTER, ENGLAND

MANCHESTER United's new boss Louis van Gaal has slammed the quality of the booze left behind by Sir Alex Ferguson.

On his first day in the job, former Holland boss van Gaal inspected the magnums, jennies and jeroboams assembled by Ferguson over 27 years, and declared them woefully substandard.

Van Gaal said: "There's a few big-name labels here that simply aren't pulling their weight.

"I don't care if it's a Chateauneuf-du-Pape or a Slovenian retsina, if its mouthfeel isn't velvety it's going straight down the sink."

The Butthead lookalike went on to announce that the days of three-for-a-tenner deals from Morrisons were over, also declaring a moratorium on any wine that used exclamation marks in the tasting notes or had a cartoon animal on the label.

Above: Van Gaal (left) has repeatedly refarted suggestions that he resembles Butthead (right)...heh heh they misspelt refuted heh heh

Van Gaal's comments will fuel suspicions that Ferguson allowed the quality of United's wines to decline in his final seasons in charge.

Rumours have also abounded that the long-serving coach secretly emptied several prize bottles of rioja before his departure, replacing them with his own blood, which has a slightly lower alcohol content.

Man United fan Tom Logan said: "I want us to buy loads of English wines even though they cost a fortune and look embarrassing when you put them next to proper European stuff."

Van Gaal also dismissed the merits of the single bottle left behind by David Moyes, a bottle of cava put on ice in August last year and never opened.
