BUSINESS / EDUCATION EVENTS NEXT WEEK

HUA HIN, THAILAND

Two events are set to take place next week which will be of interest to many of the expat and resident community in the area, with a presentation by the people behind the new international school being built near Black Mountain on Monday, and the first ever networking event by the British Chamber Of Commerce Thailand (BCCT) being held next Friday.

Dealing with the second of these first, the BCCT event (see ad on page 5) is billed as the Western Seaboard Networking Evening, and is being held on Friday 5th September at the Sheraton Hua Hin Resort & Spa from 6.30 to 9.30pm; the resort is located north of Hua Hin on the eastern side of Phetkasem Road. There is a fee of 200 baht which includes snacks and drinks, and bookings can be made to attend on the BCCT website at members.bccthai.com. There is also an associated friendly golf tournament at Springfield Royal Golf and Country Club on Saturday 6th September, green fee only 1000 baht plus caddie – please contact Michael Van Amelsvoort on 081 837 7877 to book your place.

The presentation for the new international school will take place on Monday 1st September at the Intercontinental Hua Hin Resort, south of the town centre on the east side of Phetkasem Road, from 6.30pm, and is free for any interested parties to attend. Building has already commenced on the site and the school is expected to partially open in 2015, but full information will be available at the presentation and over the coming months. It is certainly another exciting development for the area and further illustrates the potential this region has for residents, expats, businesses, tourists and families alike.

■ A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

This week it is..... Double whammy

A double blow or setback.

A whammy was originally an evil influence or hex. It originated in the USA in the 1940s and is associated with a variety of sports. The first reference to it in print found is in the Syracuse Herald Journal, October 1939:

"Nobody would have suspected that the baseball gods had put the whammy on Myers and Ernie when the ninth opened."

'Double whammy' emerged not long afterwards, as seen here in the Oakland Tribune, August 1941, in an interview with the eccentric boxing manager Wirt Ross:

"Shore there's only one way to beat Joe Louis ... No man can lick 'im, it takes a syndicate and that's what I got. I've been taking a course in hypnotism from the famous Professor Hoffmeister of Pennsylvania. When I gave my big police dog the evil eye like this he liked to collapse, went out and nearly got himself killed by the neighbour's pet poodle pooch. Professor Hoffmeister says I don't get the double whammy to put on human beings until Lesson 9."

Ross was well-known for his tall tales and flowery language. It is quite possible that he coined the term in that interview.

'Double whammy' is often associated with Al Capp's Li'l Abner cartoon strip, which featured the phrase several times. In that it referred to as an intense stare which had a withering effect on its victims; for example, this piece from Li'l Abner July 1951:

"Evil-Eye Fleegle is th' name, an' th' 'whammy' is my game. Mudder Nature endowed me wit' eyes which can putrefy citizens t' th' spot!. There is th' 'single whammy'! That, friend, is th' full, pure power o' one o' my evil eyes! It's dynamite, friend, an' I do not t'row it around lightly! ... And, lastly - th' 'double whammy' - namely, th' full power o' both eyes - which I hopes I never hafta use."

The phrase came to be used widely, in the UK at least, during the Conservative Party's 1992 election campaign. The Tories used a poster to undermine the Labour Party. It contained the text "Labour's Double Whammy" and, on the boxing gloves, "1. More Taxes" and "2. Higher Prices". The poster proved to be a highly effective part of the campaign for the Conservatives - who won the subsequent election.

THE FINANCIAL BENEFITS OF BEING AN EXPAT.

Every week in this article Helen Couldrey, a financial consultant with the deVere Group, and also a qualified English lawyer, will give you tips and ideas of how to take advantage financially of being an expat. Helen has clients in Bangkok, Hua Hin and Cha-Am who she helps to maximise the financial benefits of living overseas.

LETTERS TO SHAREHOLDERS. - AN ODE TO WARREN BUFFET

This August 30th is Warren Buffet's birthday, so what better time to pay an ode to one of the best investors of all time.

Buffet, born in 1930, Nebraska USA, is renowned for his investing and business acumen. As I write this the current going price for a share in his company, Berkshire Hathaway, is $205,000, which is the same price as a family home in some parts of America. This is quite a difference from the original $7 price in 1962! With share prices stepping over the $200,000 mark, the company is valued at about $322 billion which, astonishingly, is about the GDP of a country the size of Denmark!

In addition to founding one of the largest US companies ever, Buffet is also well known for his frugal attitude when his own spending style is concerned. Despite his riches, he is noted for trying to maintain a relatively simple lifestyle and his philanthropist side shone through when he pledged to dedicate around 99% of his personal wealth to needy causes.

As a result of his experience and success, (not to mentioned his infamous style of straight talking), Mr Buffet has provided useful nuggets of financial advice over the years, whether through articles, speeches or his letters to shareholders. Here are a few snippets that I have found particularly thought provoking.

- THE GOLDEN RULE OF INVESTING
  "Rule No. 1: never lose money; rule No. 2: don't forget rule No. 1"

- TIME IS ONLY GOOD FOR SOME
  "Time is the friend of the wonderful business, the enemy of the mediocre."

CHA-AM AND HUA HIN
Retirement Planning - Education Fee Planning
Regular Savings - Tax Saving
Lump Sum Investments

helen.couldrey@devere-group.com

deVere GROUP

- THE COMPANY IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE PRICE
  "It's far better to buy a wonderful company at a fair price than a fair company at a wonderful price."

- BAD THINGS AREN'T OBVIOUS WHEN TIMES ARE GOOD
  "After all, you only find out who is swimming naked when the tide goes out."

- IDIOT-PROOF YOUR INVESTMENTS
  "I try to buy stock in businesses that are so wonderful that an idiot can run them. Because sooner or later, one will."

- ON WALL STREET ADVICE
  "Wall Street is the only place that people ride to in a Rolls-Royce to get advice from those who take the subway."

- PRICE AND VALUE ARE DIFFERENT THINGS
  "Long ago, Ben Graham taught me that 'Price is what you pay; value is what you get.' Whether we're talking about socks or stocks, I like buying quality merchandise when it is marked down."

And when one of the richest people in the world gives out advice, it's definitely worth listening to.
Happy birthday, Warren.

Just keep telling yourself it's all going to be all right until you finally get it through your head once and for all that you can't trust anything you say.

GEMINI May 22 – June 21
Although it's true you can successfully hide certain things in plain sight without anyone noticing, it turns out not to be true of a whole Girl Scout troop's worth of corpses.

CANCER Jun 22 – Jul 22

You tend to think of yourself as a big neurotic mess, but don't sell yourself short. You're also a big psychotic mess on top of it all.

LEO Jul 23 – Aug 22
The stars don't believe they actually have to say this, but just because you find a recipe that makes pancakes for 1,500 people doesn't mean you actually have to make that many.

VIRGO Aug 23 – Sep 22
You will die alone, unmourned, and unloved, but because you do it on live television, you'll still manage to be considered a success.

LIBRA Sep 23 – Oct 23
Your problem, if you're honest with yourself, isn't that you love too much. It's that you make love to people's mailboxes too frequently.

SCORPIO Oct 24 – Nov 21
Don't worry: You're more than just a collection of annoying, loosely bundled neuroses. There are some tightly wound and dangerous psychoses in there, too.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22 – Dec 21
It's true that your heart is mature beyond your years, which is nice, except in the case of your rapidly aging mistrial and aortic valves.

■ THE NEW 2014 FORD (thanks to Grahame)

Renault and Ford have joined forces to create the perfect small car for women. Mixing the Renault 'Clio' and the Ford 'Taurus' they have designed the 'Clitaurus'.

It comes in pink, and the average male car thief won't be able to find it - let alone turn it on - even if someone tells him where it is and how to do it. Rumour has it though, it can be a real bitch to start in the morning!

Some have reported that on cold winter mornings, when you really need it, you can't get it to turn over.

New models are initially fun to own, but very costly to maintain, and horribly expensive to get rid of.

Used models may initially appear to have curb appeal and a low price, but eventually have an increased appetite for fuel, and the curb weight typically increases with age. Manufacturers are baffled as to how the size of the boot increases, but say that the paint may just make it LOOK bigger.

This model is not expected to reach collector status. Most owners may find it is best to lease one, and replace when it becomes troublesome.

■ SCOTTISH INDEPENDENCE

The Queen is in Glasgow where she bumped into Alex Salmond.

HM: "How nice to see you Mr Salmond".

AS: "Nice to see you Ma'am. Now, what are we going to call Scotland when we win Independence? How about calling it a Kingdom, and then I'll be a King"?

HM: "No, we don't like that idea Mr Salmond".

AS: "Empire, and I'll be Emperor"?

HM: "No. I don't think so Mr Salmond".

AS: "OK, so how about calling it a Principality, and then I'll be a Prince"?

HM: "No, Mr Salmond. May I suggest that we call it a Country?

■ FISHING TRIP

A doctor in Dublin wanted to get off work and go fishing, so he approached his assistant .

"Murphy, I am going fishing tomorrow and don't want to close the clinic. I want you to take care of the clinic and take care of all me patients".

"Yes, sir!" answers Murphy.

The doctor goes fishing and returns the following day and asks: "So, Murphy, how was your day?"

Murphy told him that he took care of three patients. "The first one had a headache so he did, I gave him Paracetamol."

"Bravo Murphy lad, and the second one?" asks the doctor.

"The second one had indigestion and I gave him Gaviscon, so I did sir" says Murphy.

"Bravo, bravo! You're good at this and what about the third one?" asks the doctor.

"Sir, I was sitting here and suddenly the door flies open and a young gorgeous woman bursts in so she does. Like a bolt outta the blue, she tears off her clothes, taking off everything including her bra and her knickers and lies down on the table, spreading her legs and shouts: 'HELP ME for the love of St Patrick! For five years I have not seen any man!'"

"Thunderin' lard Jesus Murphy, what did you do?" asks the doctor.

"I put drops in her eyes."

■ SUCK IT UP!

A word of caution for any expats who are planning on returning to the UK in the near future. You may want to ask family or friends to snap up a new powerful vacuum cleaner for you pending your arrival back home. Because you will be returning to a land where - from September 1st - vacuum cleaners of over 1600 watts will no longer be manufactured or imported.

One of the great things about life in Thailand is that carpets are surplus to requirements. Unless you really have a thing about them it is much more practical to go with tiled, or even teak wood flooring. A quick sweep with a cheap broom, and a few swipes with a string mop are all that is needed to keep floors clean.

Indeed wood and laminate floorings have taken off big style in recent years in the UK, but good hardwood is too expensive here for most people, and laminate doesn't wear well when subjected to frequent washing. In addition to which some of us who live in first floor flats (or apartments) aren't allowed hard flooring due to the noise factor. Which is fine by me - in this climate carpets are more cosy, and as luck would have it I had to replace my vacuum cleaner last month anyway - with a new super charged model.

So why the pendng ban on high powered cleaners? Yet another European Union directive, which aims to reduce the consumption of power and thereby help to save the planet.

In a political climate which is already turning against EU membership this one really takes the biscuit. We can tolerate straight cucumbers and recycling bins. We can even live with the excess food packaging which helps to fill our recycling bins. But taking away our super suction Hepa filtered dust busters could be the final straw. No doubt domestic goddesses all over the UK will vote for UKIP, (the UK Independence Party, who's only policy so far is to get us out of Europe.)

It all brought back a distant memory of life - and cleaning rituals - in Thailand. At the turn of the Millenium a Dutch couple who owned the Pattana Guest House tipped me off about a stock of roller mop buckets on sale in HuaHin Shopping Mall. This was indeed good news. The string mops are fine, but my ladies who cleaned used ordinary buckets for the job, and had to wring out the mops by hand all the time. A roller bucket would surely make life a little easier, especially on their hands.

So off I went to the Mall. With hindsight I should have realised the error of my ways when the lady on the checkout asked me what the strange looking item was for. But undeterred I bore it home, and proceeded to give a training session on its' use.

To be fair to her, MamaSan did make the right noises and conceded that it was indeed a great invention. She even tried to persuade the other girls to use it - or at least I think she did. But in the end it proved to be a technological step too far. Clearly the old manual wringing out ways were the best, and I should have invested in supplies of staff hand cream instead.

If this weeks word sounds painful, it's because it probably was. 'Castrato' was the term for a male singer who was castrated before puberty so that he kept a soprano or alto voice. Nowadays budding singing stars only have to sacrifice themselves to the judges on TV talent shows.

LIVERPOOL REPLACE MENTALLY UNSTABLE FORWARD WITH MENTALLY UNSTABLE FORWARD

■ LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND

Liverpool football club have replaced mentally unstable Luis Suarez with equally deranged Mario Balotelli, according to reports this week.

With the signing of the 'interesting' Italian completed on Tuesday, fans have been reassured that the mere mention of the name of the club's main centre-forward will forever have them wondering 'Oh God what has he done now'.

A club spokesperson explained, "Whether it's biting their opponents or setting off fireworks inside their house, the role of a Liverpool forward is about more than just scoring goals."

"Our fans want to know that their leading marksman could implode at any moment. They expect it. I think that's why Andy Carrol didn't work out – because getting drunk and fighting just doesn't cut it at the top level these days."

Left: 'Mad' Mario Balotelli shows off his new Liverpool shirt with his lucky number on it.

"We considered Radamel Falcao, obviously, but apparently the wildest thing he ever did was fill a Panini sticker album with stickers of himself. That would never make the back pages, and our fans simply won't accept that. Mario is our man and we can't wait to see what he does first."

"We might not be able to guarantee the on-pitch performances of Luis Suarez, but we can guarantee an adequate replacement in terms of column inches."

Fans have reacted with excitement at the news, with season ticket holder Simon Williams explaining that Balotelli is exactly what Liverpool needs.

He told us, "I heard his medical involved not only a full physical examination, but an inspection and lengthy demonstration of his collection of throwing knives."

"Plus, I'm a part-time fireman so I could do with the overtime he'll undoubtedly bring me. I think I love him already."
