HAPPY DAYS

MOTHER'S DAY AND H.M. THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

■ HUA HIN, THAILAND

Most of our readers will know that today, 12th August, is a special day in Thailand, as it is firstly Her Majesty Queen Sirikit's birthday, and since 1976 it has also been designated as Mother's Day in Thailand, with Her Majesty viewed as the Mother of all Thai people.

The Queen turns 84 this year and you can be sure that there will be crowds of people all over Thailand celebrating, not least in Hua Hin, which houses the Royal Family's palace, Klai Kang Won, which Their Majesties frequently visit. It is not known if they will be in Hua Hin on this occasion, but this will not matter to local Thais, who are likely to show their appreciation of Her Majesty outside the palace and elsewhere in the town.

August 12th is a public holiday so all government offices, schools and most banks will be closed, and Hua Hin is likely to see heavier traffic than usual as Bangkokians and others head to the town for the long weekend.

Prior to 1976 Mothers Day in Thailand was on 15th April, but the date was changed to reflect both the love of the people for Her Majesty and to fall into line with the most auspicious date of His Majesty the King's birthday, 5th December, which is celebrated as Father's Day.

Whether you are a mother or not, we hope you have a happy day and that everyone honours their own mother in some way, whether it is a quiet moment of reflection and memories for those no longer with us, a long distance call or treating her to something special.

Happy Birthday Her Majesty, and Happy Mother's Day to all the Mums!

CAPRICORN Dec 22 - Jan 19
Remember: Sometimes you just have to step back, take a deep breath, give yourself a shake, and blow off the top of your head with Dad's old shotgun.

AQUARIUS Jan 20 – Feb 18
You'll find yourself up the creek without a paddle this week, but take heart: Paddles are available for purchase at any decent sporting-goods store.

PISCES Feb 19 – Mar 20
Smile! Somebody out there loves you. On second thought, don't smile.

ARIES Mar 21 – Apr 20
This week, try not to worry about things over which you have no control. For an ineffectual slob such as yourself, this means just about everything.

TAURUS Apr 21 – May 21
You might think you're the coolest person around, but don't forget about Beth Mills of Austin, TX. She has a hedgehog.

GEMINI May 22 – June 21
Remember: Three can keep a secret if two are dead. That said, you know what you have to do.

CANCER Jun 22 – Jul 22
You will achieve a certain kind of fame when you discover several more steps to add to your 12-step program.

LEO Jul 23 – Aug 22
Because of its dualistic nature, Gemini believes there are two kinds of people in this world: you and those who won't die in a coke-fueled gunfight this Sunday.

VIRGO Aug 23 – Sep 22
You'll fail to pull yourself up by your bootstraps this week when your boots become tangled in the traffic helicopter's landing skids.

LIBRA Sep 23 – Oct 23
The combination of Mars and Venus in your sun sign indicates that love is in your future whether you can afford it or not.

SCORPIO Oct 24 – Nov 21
Scorpio is the most generous, magnanimous, and noble of all the Zodiacal signs, but that's still no reason for the board to grant you parole.

SAGITTARIUS Nov 22 – Dec 21
You've always been a lightning rod for controversy, but it gets worse when you become an actual lightning rod.

■ A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

This week it is..... Caesar Salad

The name of a salad typically consisting of cos lettuce, garlic, croutons and anchovies, dressed with olive oil, lemon juice and parmesan cheese.

Caesar Salad' doesn't really qualify to be in this section as it isn't a phrase as such, merely the name of a dish. It's worth including however, if only to clarify its origin, which is often misrepresented.

The salad, despite the Mediterranean nature of its ingredients, is nothing to do with Caesar. Well, that's not quite true. I should say that it has nothing to do with any Roman emperor named Julius, Augustus or the like. It is widely reported that the dish was invented in the 1920s by the American restauranteur Caesar Cardini, although this is disputed by some of Cardini's family and others. Cardini's brother Alex is prominent amongst the rival claims. He says he, an ex-pilot of WWI, invented the dish and called it 'Aviator's Salad' and that the 'Caesar Salad' name was taken from 'Caesar's', which was the name of the restaurant it was first served in.

What isn't disputed is that Caesar Cardini, either by virtue of his name or of the name of his restaurant, is the Caesar that the dish is now widely believed to be named for.

The earliest known reference to the foodstuff in print is in the American columnist Dorothy Kilgallen's Voice of Broadway column in The News-Herald, August 1946: The big food rage in Hollywood - the Caesar salad - will be introduced to New Yorkers by Gilmore's Steak House. It's an intricate concoction that takes ages to prepare and contains (zowie!) lots of garlic, raw or slightly coddled eggs, croutons, romaine, anchovies, parmeasan cheese, olive oil, vinegar and plenty of black pepper.

Here's a list of some other dishes that were named after people:

Battenberg cake – named after one of the Battenberg family. The family gave up their German titles during World War I to become Mountbatten.

Béchamel sauce - the Marquis de Béchamel, steward to Louis XIV.

Beef Stroganoff - the Russian nobleman Count Stroganov.

Beef Wellington - Arthur Wellesley, 1st Duke of Wellington.

Nacho - Ignacio 'Nacho' Anaya, Mexican chef.

Frangipane - the 16th-century Italian Marquis Muzio Frangipani.

Garibaldi biscuits - Giuseppe Garibaldi, Italian patriot.

Earl Grey tea - Charles Grey, 2nd Earl Grey, British Prime Minister.

Pavlova -Anna Pavlova, Russian ballerina.

Pizza Margherita - Queen Margherita of Savoy, who was presented with this pizza in the colours of the Italian flag.

Peach Melba/Melba toast - Dame Nellie Melba, Australian soprano.

Sandwiches - John Montagu, 4th Earl of Sandwich.

Victoria Sponge - Queen Victoria.

SUICIDE

My friend called me today and said he was going to kill himself by jumping off of a cliff that overlooked a body of water unless I stopped specifying the names of geological formations for him.
I said back, "That's a bluff".

TROUBLED MARRIAGE

My wife and I have been married a long time. And like many long-term marriages, ours had lost its spark.
But lately things had gotten really bad. I don't know what started it - a minor insult, a careless remark, years of buried frustrations, the general malaise that creeps into a marriage when priority is given to kids and careers. Whatever it was, things were bad. We had not made love in months, nor gone on a date. We barely talk anymore. I was desperate but didn't know what to say or what to do. I was afraid we were near the end.
So yesterday when she got home from work, I asked her to join me on the sofa.
"You know how we always said that we were not just husband and wife, but we're best friends?"
"Yes."
"And how we said that best friends part of us should always be able to talk, even if the husband and wife part of us were struggling?"
"Yes."
I could see her face soften a bit.
"Well, I just really need to talk to my best friend right now."
Her lip quivered a bit and she drew a deep breath. "Okay, let's talk."
I sighed. "Thanks... My wife is being SUCH a bitch these days."

FIRST CONDOM

"I recall my first time with a condom, I was 16 or so. I went in to buy a packet of condoms at the pharmacy. There was this beautiful woman assistant behind the counter, and she could see that I was new at it. She handed me the package and asked if I knew how to wear one. I honestly answered, 'No, this is my first time.'
So she unwrapped the package, took one out and slipped it over her thumb. She cautioned me to make sure it was on tight and secure. I apparently still looked confused. So, she looked all around the store to see if it was empty. It was empty.
'Just a minute,' she said, and walked to the door, and locked it. Taking my hand, she led me into the back room, unbuttoned her blouse and removed it. She unhooked her bra and laid it aside. 'Do these excite you?' she asked.
Well, I was so dumb-struck that all I could do was nod my head. She then said it was time to slip the condom on. As I was slipping it on, she dropped her skirt, removed her panties and lay down on a desk.
'Well, come on', she said, 'We don't have much time.' So I climbed on her. It was so wonderful, that unfortunately, I could no longer hold back and KAPOWWWWWWW, I was done within a few moments.
She looked at me with a bit of a frown. 'Did you put that condom on?' she asked.
I said, 'I sure did,' and held up my thumb to show her.
She fainted.

HIPSTERS

I had the joy of meeting a couple of hipsters today, and they yelled at me for making fun of them.
Apparently the politically correct term is "conjoined twins".

ORANGE BEASTIES

Now that the Olympic Games is well under way let's leave them to it, and take a look at a brand new spectator sport which is sweeping the planet. I call it 'Zombie Invasion', and it costs nothing to watch. You don't even have to go far to see it.

I discovered it by chance last week, while taking a ciggie break outside the Interchange on one of those concrete benches that are supposed to be vandal proof, and are only suitable for sitting on when they reach a certain temperature and it isn't raining.

A participant in the new sport began to walk around in a stilted manner in straight lines. Stopping every few paces to gaze down at his iPhone before making an abrupt change of direction. His route took him in and out of the Interchange, all the while clasping the iPhone steady in both hands without speaking to it.

You too will now be able to watch these zombie like creatures in Thailand as they play Pokemon Go. But of course true to form Pokemon Go is already causing accidents near you, so go equipped with a first aid kit. While last weekends' alcohol 'ban' might have reduced the potential for incidents of Pokemon inflicted injury, you can bet it won't last.

Unfortunately here in Hull at the moment there aren't too many public spaces where a concrete bench on which to sit and zombie watch can be found. This is due to the ongoing city centre face lift in preparation for next years City of Culture status, which involves all those new paving slabs imported from China, and has now caused a national shortage of orange barriers.

It seems that only the best re-enforced orange barriers are good enough to prevent the local population falling into holes in the roads, and with Hull currently deploying over 3,100 of them the orange barrier factory hasn't been able to keep up with demand. It has been suggested that when all the work is finished the barriers should be used to construct a giant orange Jenga as a lasting memorial to the great upheaval of the streets, but we have enough follies already. Putting them on E Bay instead would probably reduce our Council Tax bills for years to come. Or at least help pay for the proposed glass elevator on the north tower of the Humber Bridge, a project which is still at the arguments over car parking space stage.

Perhaps a more realistic argument against the scenic elevator is that the Humber Bridge isn't sufficiently well known to warrant the cost.

On August 12th 1851 Isaac Merritt Singer was granted a patent that would change garment making forever - the lockstitch sewing machine. His New York company sold the first machines for 100 dollars - 3,125 dollars in todays money - and within four years had expanded to Scotland, to become Americas' very first international company.

Last but not least we join together in wishing Her Majesty Queen Sirikit a very Happy Birthday, and don't forget folks that August 12th is also Mothers Day in Thailand.

FANTASY PREMIER LEAGUE

Due to the incompetence of the people running the official Premier League Fantasy Football website, we have been unable to log into our original account to set up a new league for this season, and have been forced to set up a new account and a new league. This means that anyone who was in previous AWOL Challenge leagues will not automatically be re-entered this season. We have sent invites to teams that were in last season and that we had email addresses for, but there are some teams that we do not have these details for, and it is impossible to search the Fantasy website to find them, so if you were in previously and have not received an invitation, please rejoin the AWOL Challenge league using the instructions below. These instructions also apply to anyone wishing to join the league.

THE PING PONG HOAX

THERE IS NO BALL, TABLE TENNIS PLAYERS ADMIT

■ BRAZIL

INTERNATIONAL table tennis players have confessed that there have been no balls involved at the sport's top level for 30 years.

With the Olympics underway in Rio, officials are holding emergency meetings to decide whether table tennis events can continue as planned now it is essentially fictional.

Team GB table tennis competitor Mary Fisher said: "It was an accident at first.

"The balls move so fast that they're difficult to see, and when the final at the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics concluded and both players realised the ball had been under the table for the final ten minutes, they were too embarrassed to say.

"After that, we pretty much decided balls were an outmoded part of the sport we needed to leave behind in favour of an intricate choreography of bat-waving.

"Really we've got more in common with contemporary dance than sport, but sport gets slightly more funding."

Fan Norman Steele said: "If anything it actually increases my respect for the players due to their sublime artistry in weaving a decade-spanning web of deception.

"Then I remember it's ping-pong."

Meanwhile in Thailand, a group of exotic dancers are petitioning the International Olympics Committee to allow their 'sport', which does involve balls, to be the replacement for table tennis. IOC members are expected to indulge in a fact finding mission to Bangkok to help them make their decision.
