● HUA HIN

There is an undoubted initial attraction to the idea of improving transport links to the Hua Hin and Cha Am areas, and specifically the proposed expansion of the airport to allow for more international and domestic flights. This is exactly what the local division of the Thai Hotels Association have been pushing for this week, as they urged the government to speed up a revamp of the existing airport, to strengthen tourism competitiveness in the area and facilitate airlines, especially budget carriers wishing to add direct flights from major cities in Southeast Asia, China and South Asia to Hua Hin.

Naturally it would be a huge boost to the area in terms of tourism, but the fear of many people is that it would change the towns so drastically that it would destroy the very appeal that people travel here for. There are particular concerns from some over an increase in the number of Chinese visitors, after a variety of newspaper stories highlighted how the behaviour of some Chinese tourists has upset local people in other parts of Thailand.

The airport has been sadly underused for many years, and it clearly is a resource that should be fully utilised, but the authorities do need to ensure that any expansion does not lead to an already stretched local infrastructure collapsing, or that the town loses it's charms for those that already visit on a regular basis; it is a tricky balancing act, and it has been a frequent concern of residents that Hua Hin and Cha Am may fall into the same trap as Pattaya did when it rapidly expanded.

Perhaps a sensible approach might be to increase the numbers of domestic flights, and allow a limited number of international flights, giving the towns time to gradually adapt to more tourists while still retaining the unique aspects that make them so appealing to visitors.

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

Remember: Those who can't do, teach. And those who can't teach just keep repeating the same tired maxim over and over again.

AQUARIUS JAN 20 – FEB 18

It's true that God created you in His likeness. Unfortunately for you, God was feeling particularly crappy about Himself that day.

PISCES FEB 19 – MAR 20

They say you have the grace of a dancer and the agility of a world-class gymnast. After that, though, it's usually just a bunch of mean-spirited laughter.

ARIES MAR 21 - APR 20

A combination of hubris, treachery, and everyday low prices will soon mark the end of your reign as Mattress King.

TAURUS APR 21 – MAY 21

Smuggling cocaine across the border is a delicate art. Next time try stashing it inside a stuffed animal instead of a live one.

GEMINI MAY 22 – JUNE 21

You didn't get into plumbing for the fame, the fortune, or the women. But one severely backed-up toilet will soon change all of that.

CANCER JUN 22 – JUL 22

Action and adventure await you this Thursday, though not before hours of pointless exposition and predictable plot twists.

LEO JUL 23 – AUG 22

Your financial situation takes a turn for the worse this week when that damn quarter slips loose and falls behind the sofa cushion.

VIRGO AUG 23 – SEP 22

It's difficult to know who to trust in life. Then again, the guy with the horns and the hooves should have been a no-brainer.

LIBRA SEP 23 – OCT 23

A man's home is his castle. This week prepare to have your castle stormed by a marauding horde of phone bills.

SCORPIO OCT 24 – NOV 21

Thanks to a series of unfortunate turns, you'll soon become to only man ever to compete in the Olympics, the Paralympics, and the Special Olympics.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 – DEC 21

● A section for all you budding etymologists where each week the origin of a word or phrase is investigated.

THIS WEEK IT IS....ZIG-ZAG

A series of short straight lines, set at angles to one another and connected to form a continuous line. Often forming a regular pattern, but not necessarily so. Also, the action of moving along such a course.

This term seems to have come into English from Continental Europe - The Netherlands, France, or possibly Germany. The origin is unknown. The reduplication is suggestive of alternation, as with other phrases of that sort, e.g. tick-tock and see-saw.

In 1706, the Dutch author Roelof Roukema published Naam-boek der beroemde genees- en heelmeesters van alle eeuwen [Book of Medicine and Healers]. This contains the line:

"eenige in de voorstad van St. Germain zig zag bewegen"

which loosely translates into English as:

"some in the suburb of St. Germain move zig zag"

The German word 'zickzack' dates from around the same time and is known (in Sperander) from 1727. That usage referred to the fortifications of castles, the walls of which were sometimes built in zig-zag form.

Zic-zac/zick-zack soon began to be written as zig-zag. The first record we have of that is in Johnathan Swift's prose poem My Lady's Lamentation, 1728:

How proudly he talks
Of zigzags and walks

It didn't take long for the term to begin to be used in a figurative sense, that is, in reference to any continual changes; for example, in William Cowper's Conversation, 1781:

"Though such continual zig-zags in a book, Such drunken reelings, have an awkward look."

Got some great jokes?

● NERVOUS
A young man goes into a sports shop and asked for "A pack of condoms please"
"Sorry, this is a sports shop." was the answer.
The next day he did it again; then on the third day the same again.
Then on the fourth day he goes in again, and asks for a pack of condoms again.
"What do you really want?", the cashier asks.
After plucking up his courage and taking a deep breath, he says, "Can I have an Arsenal home shirt please?"

● TIP
I stopped a guy in the street and said, "Can you help me? I'm looking for a rubbish tip."

He said, "Arsenal to win the Premier League."

● NEWTON
Newton's Third Law of Women:

For every male action, there is a female overreaction.

● AFTERSHAVE
I've just bought a new aftershave called 'Breadcrumbs'..
The birds absolutely love it

● ACCIDENT
A lorry carrying 25 tons of Vicks Vapour Rub has overturned on the M6, near Birmingham, spilling it's load onto the carriageway.

The Police have said that there will be no congestion for at least twelve hours.

● SURGEONS
Three of the best surgeons were playing golf together and discussing surgeries they had performed. One of them said, "I'm the best surgeon in the world. In one operation, a concert pianist lost seven fingers in an accident. I reattached them and eight months later he performed brilliantly at a sold out concert at Carnegie Hall."
The second surgeon said. "That's nothing. A young man lost an arm and both legs in an accident. I reattached them and two years later he won a Gold Medal in a track and field event in the Olympics."
The third surgeon said, "You guys are amateurs. Several years ago a crazy man rode a horse head-on into a train traveling eighty miles an hour. All I had left to work with was the man's hair and the horse's ass. I was able to put them together and now, he's the President of the United States!"

● NEVER CAN SAY GOODBYE

May 26th 1973, and the Beatles compilation '1967 - 1970' was at number 1 in the albums chart. Forty four years on and their Sergeant Pepper's album is being remixed prior to it's re-release this year, while the Rolling Stones latest album 'Blue and Lonesome' was out in good time for last Christmas.

Both bands have had careers lasting well over fifty years, and although the remaining Beatles no longer tour (let's face it McCartneys' voice isn't what it was, and Ringo's son Zak carries on the family tradition by drumming for The Who) both are still very much in the business, despite having been on their pensions for years.

If these guys had left school at 15 - the minimum age back then - and worked until 65, they would have more than done their bit. But it seems that aging rockers are now often touring and/or releasing new albums more than ever before. This year alone Deep Purple, the Pretenders, Slade, the Sweet, ELO, Blue Oyster Cult, Hawkwind, Procul Harum, Blondie and Steve Harley and Cockney Rebel are among those touring the UK. Blondie with a new album, while the remaining BeeGee Barry Gibb also has a new album.

Most of these bands appeared in the early 1970's. Some in the 60's, none later than 1979, and there are more. Fleetwood Mac toured the UK in 2015, with Rod Stewart following in 2016, just as his knighthood was announced. Manfred Mann and it's offshoot the Blues Band, either with or without Paul Jones, are still regulars on the road. The same can be said for Hawkwind, even though only one of the founder members - Dave Brock - remains. Brock is now 76 and has seen 39 band members come and go, but claims that he only sacked two of them, including Lemmy.

Fleetwood Mac celebrate their 50th anniversary this year and have announced (another) farewell tour for 2018, together with the release of an album by Lindsey Buckingham and Christine McVie due out next month. A knighthood has also been awarded to Ray Davies, of the Kinks, another pensioner with a new album in the works.

So what drives these musicians to just keep on going, sometimes to rock until they drop? After all they can't all need the money, and yet Bowie was completing his final album almost literally on his death bed, while Status Quo's Rick Parfitt didn't seem to take health warnings seriously enough and paid the price. Back when they all began their music was revolutionary. Seen by most people as a flash in the pan that would never last, apart from maybe Elvis and Cliff who were primarily solo artists, and of course we were used to those becoming famous and staying the course. Like Sinatra and Vera Lynne. But those new noisy bands would soon fade away, and their members certainly didn't expect to ever see the inside of Buckingham Palace. Some were much more likely to see the inside of a police cell in those early days.

Perhaps Christine McVie summed it up in her recent announcement about the 'farewell' of Fleetwood Mac - that the band have always felt drawn back together by an invisible umbilical cord. But let's not forget the influence of radio. In the early 60's broadcasting of all that new pop stuff was strictly rationed by the BBC, and the only alternative was the rather crackly Radio Luxembourg. Then, seeing a gap in the market, pirate radio stations stepped in. One of them, Radio Caroline, began broadcasting in 1964, but in 1967 was declared illegal. Caroline refused to give in, and later operated via the internet and digital radio stations until finally, last week, it was granted a licence to make terrestrial broadcasts to Suffolk and parts of Essex.

Our Poet Laureate Bob Dylan was right. The times have certainly a'changed.

AWOL CLASSIFIEDS HAVE CHANGED!

After an extensive review of our Classified advertising pricing and display, we have changed our pricing and display, with effect from 19th May.

Below you will find all the details of how to place a classified advert with us, and how much it will cost.

Please note that we are no longer offering free classified adverts; however, we are reducing the cost of our former 'Premium' adverts considerably, and applying these prices across the board. We are also introducing 'Featured' ads, which have extra prominence with a box around them and the option of shading behind the text.

PRICING

We now offer four pricing options that apply to any category of advert.

1. Single advert (25 words or less) for 13 issues 300 baht
2. Basic Subscription allowing up to 12 Single ads for 13 issues each. 1200 baht
3. Extra Subscription allowing up to 36 Single ads for 13 issues each. 2700 baht
4. Extra Plus Subscription allowing up to 72 Single ads of 13 issues each. 3600 baht

Adverts of longer than 25 words will either require purchasing further Single ads in the case of option 1, or using more of the ads in the subscription pack. The same applies to wishing to run an advert for longer than 13 weeks/issues, and this is where the subscription packs work out as great value, as the Basic pack would allow for three ads to run for one year, or six ads to run for six months, for example.

A further note on the subscription packs is that AWOL has no objection to businesses or people joining together to use a single pack between them, similar to the AWOL Bazaar.

FEATURED ADS

Any advert can be made a Featured ad by either paying an additional fee, in the case of Single ads, of two additional ads, or by using up two additional ads in a subscription pack. So for a Single ad that costs 300 baht, to make this Featured will cost an additional 600 baht, making a total of 900 baht. This additional fee or use of pack ads remains the same regardless of the number of words in the ad. Examples of Featured ads can be seen in the ads following this updated information. These are existing 'Premium' ads that we have upgraded.

PLACING YOUR AD(S)

This remains largely unchanged from before; the options are outlined in the shaded box below.

PAYMENT

No ads will be published in the paper or on the AWOL Classifieds website until payment is received. All the payment options are detailed below, as well as on our website at www.awolonline.net/classifieds/pricing.

BUSINESS

BUY, SELL, RENT OR LEASE – THIS IS THE PLACE TO DO IT WITH EASE!

PLACING A CLASSIFIED WITH AWOL

All ads run for a minimum of thirteen weeks/issues. Maximum 25 words for any Single ad; longer ads possible by purchasing/using more ads.

Prices: Single ad - 300 baht; Subscriptions: Basic (12 ads) - 1200 baht; Extra (36 ads) - 2700 baht; Extra Plus (72 ads) - 3600 baht.

Option 1: register or log in at www.awolonline.net/classifieds and place your advert there;
Option 2: email to classifieds@awolonline.net;
Option 3: Facebook users can join our Group 'AWOL Classifieds' and place ads there for free;
Option 4: write the details clearly in BLOCK capitals on paper and mail or drop it in to our office (address on page 2) .

No adverts published (except Facebook) without prior payment. Deadline for inclusion in that week's issue is Tuesday 6pm. Please notify us on classifieds@awolonline.net or by calling 081 649 8361 if you want an ad removed before it's due date. No refunds given for removed ads.

Payment: Cash at our office; Bank transfer/deposit (online or ATM/ADM) - A/C no. 489-0-04184-2 (KTB Bank), or credit/debit cards via Paypal, or Paypal transfer; Paypal email info@awolonline.net

MATCH REPORT: HUA HIN CITY 2 – 1 PATHUM THANI

We were without Ali G and Pongpat at the start – two very influential players this season. Relegation battles are never pretty to watch, and this was no exception. However, Hua Hin dug deep, and took away 3 valuable points from this relegation struggle. We are now just over a week away from the opening of the transfer window, where we hope to make a significant impact. We might not make a Champions League place, but we certainly hope to be at the right end of the table,

The first 15 minutes was a game with goalless draw written all over it. Eventually, Hua Hin took command, and Jirasuk sealed with a wonder goal. We'll never know if it was an intended shot, and should be a contender for goal of the season, or whether it was a badly hit cross. We know what Jirasuk will claim though. At the end of the day, who cares? We've had our share of bad luck/referees this season. If lady luck has decided to give us a cheeky smile, let's accept it with open arms.

Pathum Thani did not even threaten Wichan's goal in the first half. All of the chances fell to Hua Hin.

Pathum Thani came out after the break determined to make a game of it until Ali G made an appearance in about the 60th minute. He made many menacing runs, and was eventually rewarded with a headed goal.

At 2 goals down, Pathum Thani were gifted a very soft goal from nothing. There was no danger, but the Hua Hin team, including Wichan seemed to step aside to give the visitors a free shot on goal, which they gratefully accepted. Game on.

The visitors could smell their 2nd point of the season, and went for broke. However, they left themselves wide open at the back. Unfortunately, Hua Hin missed chance after chance on the counter attack because they suddenly thought they were better than a team rooted at the bottom of t4. Instead of scoring the simple tap in, they went for the spectacular, which they weren't good enough to execute – very disappointing. We were pleased to hear that final whistle, and secure 3 points.

For probably the first time this season, a decent sized crowd gathered in or close to Zone C to clap the players off. Today was such a happy occasion – hopefully this marks a return to the good old days.

FEATURED GAME

SATURDAY 27TH MAY 2017
THE FA CUP - FINAL
Arsenal v Chelsea 23:30

Will this be Arsene Wenger's last hurrah? Or will it be an embarrassing confirmation of how far his Arsenal side are behind the champions Chelsea? Given the eventual 18 point gap between them, we suspect it will be the latter, despite the best efforts of Alexis Sanchez, and we can see this as a cruise to the double for the Blues. Arsenal are shorn of Koscielny in defence, which will prove crucial we think, and Petr Cech could be in for a busy afternoon. Chelsea are simply stronger all over the park, and whether Wenger remains in charge or not, Arsenal desperately need significant signings in the summer if they are to challenge the top four again, something that will not be easy as they are not in the Champions League, and will have to suffer Thurday night games.

SICK AS A PARROT

JOHN TERRY'S CHELSEA FAREWELL 'A BIT OVER THE TOP', SAYS NORTH KOREA

● UK

JOHN Terry's Chelsea farewell was a bit too much pomp and ceremony, according to North Korea.

After watching Terry's 26th-minute substitution and subsequent guard of honour, North Korea's president Kim Jong Un declared it all a bit excessive.

The dictator said: "Everyone should give themselves a pat on the back every now and again but you've got to draw the line somewhere.

"That guy's ego is way out of control, and the people around him obviously feel pressured into kissing his arse.

"It's a reminder that sometimes we all need to show a bit of humility."

Others who found Terry's exit a bit grandiose include Apollo Creed from Rocky, stadium rock band Motley Crue and rapper Kanye West.

West said: "It's not like he's the greatest rapper in the history of the world. He's not even the best centre half of the last 10 years, quite frankly.

Left: Local hospitals were apparently inundated with patients suffering from extreme nausea after John Terry left the pitch on Sunday

"That guy seems a bit cocky to me, and bear in mind I say that as Kanye West."

US President Donald Trump also threw his hat into the ring by stating, "That Terry guy is quite incredible. Incredible. And believe me, he's a great guy, but that exit on Sunday was wa-a-a-y over the top; that kind of thing, well, should be only reserved for truly remarkable people. Like me. I am the most remarkable man ever. EVER. And that's real news, not fake news."
